NEW YORK CITY DAMAGED BY HURRICANE; COAST OF CONNECTICUT EVACUATED

SIGNS TOPPLED, GLASS SMASHED, TRAFFIC TIED UP IN MANHATTAN

Storm Heads Toward Providence, Boston —130-Mile Winds at Center — Subway Stations Flooded.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—The eye of the destructive tropical hurricane called Donna passed across Long Island this afternoon, struck the Connecticut coast and headed northward on a course toward Providence, R.I., and Boston.

Gov. Abraham Ribicoff ordered the entire Connecticut shoreline evacuated and used state troopers and National Guardsmen to enforce his edict.

Winds of 80 miles an hour lashed the New York metropolitan area, topping signs, smashing windows and snarling traffic.

Winds in the center of the hurricane were clocked at 130 m.p.h. Gales and heavy seas ranged for 300 miles about the vortex of the storm.

The Boston Weather Bureau warned that the hurricane may be the most dangerous ever to strike New England. Record tides were in prospect.

Exodus to High Ground.

Along the shores of Long Island and up the sound past Connecticut, thousands streamed to higher ground, taking refuge in schools and churches.

The New Haven railroad suspended all Boston-New York service because of the danger of track flooding.

School opened for New York City's 1,400,000 pupils. But by mid-morning, authorities were urging those attending afternoon sessions only because of overcrowding to stay home. Those on morning schedule were kept in school until the storm abated. Teachers foraged for lunches for the children in nearby groceries.

High water closed several New York subway stations. The West Side highway, along Manhattan's Hudson river, was under water. Other main city thoroughfares were also flooded.

Takes Erratic Path.

The storm pounded into the metropolitan area after wreaking death and destruction on an erratic path that took it across Puerto Rico, the Florida keys, back across Florida and the eastern edge of North Carolina and Virginia.

The storm had accounted for 134 deaths before striking the metropolitan area, 120 of them in Caribbean islands.

Donna whipped winds of 115 miles an hour in North Carolina's coastal area, hitting Morehead City, Wilmington's beaches, New Bern and Washington, and then swung to sea again in the Elizabeth City area.

Associated Press photographer Rudy Faircloth described the damage to the Morehead City-Beaufort area as "resembling an earthquake."

"The wreckage is the worst

Kennedy Meets Texas Pastors Tonight to Answer Questions

Hopes to Dispense With Religious Issue Once and for All—Could Prove Momentous Occasion.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

WITH THE KENNEDY CAMPAIGN IN TEXAS, Sept. 12—Senator John F. Kennedy set out today to crisscross Texas in his campaign for the presidency. The climax comes in Houston tonight when he appears before the Greater Houston Ministerial Association to speak briefly and then answer questions on his religion.

Those close to him believe that this could be perhaps the most momentous confrontation of the entire campaign. The hope is that the Democratic nominee will be able to achieve what he has previously undertaken and failed to do—that is to dispense once and for all with the religious issue.

There was concern in the Kennedy camp also about the nature of the questions that would be put to him, since the entire affair is in the hands of the association made of Protestant ministers of every demonination in the greater Houston area. However, Kennedy has on many occasions demonstrated his ability to deal with tough and even abusive questions.

Before he appears before the ministers, Kennedy will make four speeches today in filling a gruelling schedule in a drive for the 24 Texas electorial votes. One speech, in the Alamo square in San Antonio, has been billed as a 'major address." at 7:40 p.m. he speaks in the Houston Coliseum and then goes from there to the ballroom of the Rice Hotel to confront the ministers.

On his arrival at El Paso last

VEILED PROPHET PARADE ROUTE TO BE SHORTENED

The Veiled Prophet parade Oct. 5 will travel a shorter route this year than last, and will end 30 minutes earlier, it was announced today.

The procession will start at Kingshighway and Lindell boulevards at 7:30 p.m. Last year it started at the same hour, but further west, at Lindell and DeBaliviere avenue. This year's timetable calls for the parade to pass each intersection along the route about 30 minutes earlier than last year.

The parade, led by the Veiled Prophet for the seventy-seventh time, will proceed east on Lindell and Olive to Twelfth boulevard, north to Washington avenue, east to Broadway, south to Olive, west to Twelfth, south to Chestnut and west to Fourteenth.

The annual Veiled Prophet ball, at which a new queen will be named, will be held the night before at Kiel Auditorium.

STORM DAMAGES ST. LOUIS-OWNED HOMES IN FLORIDA

Homes at Naples, Fla., owned by St. Louisans were damaged extensively by the destructive hurricane Donna, reports received here today indicated.

Frank Blumeyer, vice president of General Insurors, Inc., said his Naples housekeeper, Mrs. Winnie Bomer, reported that the Blumeyer home on Gordon drive, facing the Gulf of Mexico, was destroyed Blumeyer declined to estimate the damage. He added that his insurance covers wind damage, but not destruction by waves. Mrs. Bomer lives in the city of Naples and was not at the home when the hurricane struck.

Other homes on Gordon drive are owned by Alvin Griesedieck Sr., chairman of the board of the Falstaff Corp., and Richar G. and Alex Kerckhoff, officers of Pevely Dairy Co. Griesedieck was informed by an associate at Naples that the front section of his home was destroyed and other houses on the beach were heavily damaged.

Blumeyer and R. G. KKerckhoff planned to fly to Florida tonight to obtain first-hand information of the damage.

HAYDEN TO MAKE INQUIRY IN AID'S HOLDING 2 JOBS

Bernard Doerr Reported Tending Market Stand When He Should Be at Work.

License Collector Joseph T. Hayden said today he would investigate reports that Bernard J. Doerr, a $375-a-month auditor in his office, sold produce at a Soulard Market stand on days when he was supposed to be working for the city.

"I'm plenty mad about this and I'm going to make sure that Doerr puts in full time on his job," Hayden declared.

He said he would not fire Doerr, whom he described as one of the best workers in the office.

Doerr is among 17 persons whom the Board of Election Commissioners has recommended be prosecuted "with the effort to obtain maximum penalty" in connection with alleged irregularities at the primary election last Aug. 2.

Doerr, a Democratic challenger, was ordered away from a Sixth Ward polling place by Election Board members after he allegedly left the place to electioneer instead of staying inside as required by law.

Chief Deputy License Collector Leo Morrell said Doerr admitted "helping out" in daytime hours at the market at Seventh and Soulard strets, but denied receiving any compensation for this work.

Morrell quoted the auditor as saying the proprietor of the stand was a boyhood friend and that he had spent time at the stand for many years.

Doerr could not be reached today at the St. Francis Hotel, 604 Chestnut street, from which he is registered to vote.

He denied to Hayden that he actually lived at a St. Louis county address, explaining this was "his wife's home" and that he went there only to visit and "watch television."

Morrell said Doerr justified his spending daytime hours at the produce stand by saying he frequently had to work evenings to keep appointments with merchants in connection with license audits.

Doerr is scheduled to appear Thursday as a witness before the circuit court grand jury in connection with the alleged primary irregularities.

Gorilla Maims Man Who Thought The Ape Was His Best Friend

LONDON, Sept. 12 (UPI) — The huge gorilla held a strange fascination for Archie Filmer, 59-year-old hotel porter. He went to London zoo every Sunday to see the seven-foot, 400-pound ape named Guy.

From the low safety fence, six feet from Guy's cage, Filmer would smile at the animal. He told fellow workers:

"Guy smiles back at me. I can tell. He's one of my few real friends."

But Filmer wanted to pet his friend. Yesterday he leaped over the three-foot fence, stuck his left hand through the bars and petted Guy.

The gorilla at first ignored him, but when Filmer continued to stroke the sleek coat Guy suddenly roared and grabbed the man's hand.

Filmer screamed, "I'm your friend!" but Guy held on. Filmer then started punching him. When Guy finally let go, four of Filmer's fingers were all but torn off.

"It wasn't really his fault," Filmer said. "I still think the world of him. I'll be back."

NIXON TAKES OFF ON CAMPAIGN WITH BLESSING OF EISENHOWER

G.O.P. Candidate to Speak in 15 States in 6 Days — He Will Be in St. Louis Thursday Morning.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ON TOUR WITH NIXON, Sept. 12—Vice President Richard M. Nixon took off on his presidential campaign today with the blessing of President Eisenhower.

Take-off ceremonies for a transcontinental jet flight were marred by the hurricane which drenched the Washington and Baltimore area all night.

Nixon, accompanied by his wife, Pat, will speak in 15 states and fly 9000 miles in the next six days. He will speak today in Indianapolis, Dallas and San Francisco. He will speak in St. Louis Thursday morning.

At Indianapolis, where he started his vice presidential campaign in 1956, the Republican nominee was welcomed at the airport by a delegation headed by Republican Gov. Harold Handley and including Senator Homer Capehart, former Senator William E. Jenner and House minority leader Charles A. Halleck.

Crowd in Indianapolis.

A noonday crowd jammed Monument circle, traditional political rallying spot for Republicans and Democrats.

Nixon summarized the issue he would emphasize in the campaign. As at Baltimore earlier, he said it was:

"Which candidate is the best qualified by experience and background to keep peace without surrender."

He denied Senator John F. Kennedy's and the Democratic platform charge that this country is second best militarily, economically and scientifically. He asserted that this country was first in these categories and would remain so. He warned, however, against complacency.

The diplomatic issue, he said, is that this country must always be ready to sit down to negotiate for disarmament, but must take nothing on faith. Disarmament must always be accompanied by inspection, he emphasized.

"We must be firm with the Soviets," he continued, "but we must not be belligerent." He defended President Eisenhower action in Paris in not replying to Soviet Premier Khrushchev in kind.

Again referring to Kennedy indirectly, he said it would have been wrong to "apologize" to Khrushchev. There was applause when he said: "No President ever apologize for attempting to defend the security of the United States."

This morning President Eisenhower motored over from Washington to Friendship airport in Maryland to give Nixon a send-off in a hastily decorated hall in the airport.

'An Old War Horse.'

Speaking as the retiring head of the Republican party, Mr. Eisenhower said he had at first demurred about participating in the start of a campaign because new faces should take over the show. He admitted that was wrong because as "an old war horse" he wanted to be a part of it. He recalled he had started his 1952 campaign in a rainstorm in Abilene, Kan., and that it had proved a good omen.

He noted that Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, the vice-presidential candidate, had pledged to build on the Administration record but would never be satisfied that enough had been accomplished. He described them as men of demonstrated capacity—the finest team Americans could choose to fight for peace and the road to peace.

Republican National Chairman Thruston Morton was the master of ceremonies. Speakers in addition to the President were Nixon and Lodge. Officials present included Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, Secretary of the Interior Fred Eaton, Attorney General William Rogers and Senate minority leader Everett M. Dirksen.

A brief cheer went up when Mrs. Nixon arrived. She was followed a minute later by the President, Nixon, Lodge and White House Secretary James C. Hagerty.

Nixon promised to carry his

LUMUMBA JAILED BY ARMY, THEN FREED; KASAVUBU NAMES NEW GOVERNMENT

PREMIER LEADS CAVALCADE OF VICTORY ABOUT LEOPOLDVILLE

Shouts to Crowd That Attempt to Arrest Him Has Failed—Tries Again to Get to Radio.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, Sept. 12 (AP)—Premier Patrice Lumumba was taken into custody by the army late today, but three hours later he was released.

Arrested under a warrant late in the afternoon, Lumumba reappeared on downtown streets at 6:30 p.m. He penetrated the cordon around the Leopoldville radio station, now under United Nations control, and demanded that he be allowed to speak.

Ghana troops with machine guns said they had orders to fire if he tried to get into the station.

(United Press International reported that Lumumba was circulating thruogh Leopoldville in a cavalcade of jeeps with their sirens wailing. With hands claseped over his head like a prize fighter's victory sign, he kept repeating that he was Lumumba and that the attempt to arrest him had failed.)

Ileo Named as Premier.

President Joseph Kasavubu had named a new government to replace Lumumba's tottering, Communist-backed regime. Kasavubu's choice to run the country was Senate president, Joseph Ileo, a moderate.

The new chain of events started after Kasavubu issued a warrant for Lumumba's arrest and gave it to the army to serve.

About 200 Congolese soldiers surrounded the Premier's residence overlooking the Congo river and Lumumba surrendered without a struggle.

"I do not want any bloodshed. I will come with you," Lumumba told the soldiers.

Lumumba was taken to Camp Leopold II, an army garrison, and was followed theer soon afterward by his wife and two children.

Lumumba has been Premier since the Belgians gave The Congo its independence 10 weeks ago. Kasavubu, as President, nominally outranks him and has the right to nominate a Premier. But Lumumba in the last two weeks had been trying to supersede Kasavubu; each declared the other fired at one stage.

The action followed a conference between Kasavubu and the U.N. special representative in The Congo, Rajeshwar Dayal of India.

The announcement of Lumumba's arrest was made by his chief of security, Charles Muzungo. Lumumba's Algerian press chief, Serge Michel, learned of it at the same time.

Lumumba, 34 years old, is a former postal clerk once imprisoned for embezzlement whose regime has been sliding toward the Communist bloc. His repeated threats to invite in Soviet troops were never executed, but he obtained Soviet bloc planes, trucks and technicians to help fight his Congolese foes.

Action in Parliament.

While rival Congolese delegations sped to New York to lay their conflicting views before the U.N. Security Council, the two chambers of the Congolese Parliament joined earlier today in an attempt to discredit Lumumba's former foreign minister, Justin Bomboko, who represents Kasavubu.

The Bomboko delegation "is not recognized by the Parliament, has no legal status and cannot be received by the Security Council or speak on behalf of The Congo," said a cable to the Security Council approved by a majority of the Senate and House.

Bomboko headed to New York yesterday aboard a Belgian jet from Brazzaville, the capital of the old Frence Congo, across the Congo river from Leopoldville.

Delay in Taking Off.

A Lumumba delegation was prevented by Brazzaville authorities from boarding a plane there, but took off in a Czech plane late last night from the closed Leopoldville airport by special permission of the U.N. command.

The U.N. command also lifted the order silencing the Leopoldville radio, which Lumumba tried

CONGO DEBATE IN U.N. PUT OFF INDEFINITELY

U.S. Proposal Is Agreed On in Order to Let Situation Clarify Itself.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 12 (UPI) — The Security Council, on the motion of the United States, indefinitely adjourned today its crisis session on The Congo pending clarification of the confusion in the country.

By DONALD GRANT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 12—The United Nations Security Council resumed its debate on the situation in The Congo this afternoon although neither of two rival Congolese delegations were on hand for the meeting.

Justin Bomboka, foreign minister held over in the new cabinet formtd Saturday by President Joseph Kasavubu, was leading a four-man delegation of the new regime by plane from London. He said he hoped to address the Council tonight.

Thomas Kanza, representing Premier Patrice Lumumba, and four assistants reached Paris this afternoon and were expected to continue to New York tonight aboard an Air France plane.

Winds Slow Flight

Strong winds from the tropical hurricanes which struck New York made it doubtful, however, that either plane would be able to land in New York.

This afternoon's debate was expected to be devoted to a procedural wrangle over which delegation would be seated.

Meanwhile, communications kept pouring into U.N. headquarters from The Congo. The latest, from Kasavubu to U.N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold, asked the U.N. to erorganize and train the Congolese national army. The proposal was transmitted as one part of a four-point program.

The other three proposals included:

1. Speedy formation of police units.

2. U.N. assistance in reactivating the judicial system of The Congo.

3. U.N. transportation to Leopoldville and protection for the Women Make Public School Bus Carry Non-Public School Pupils

One Mother, 7 Children Board It in Florissant Demonstration.

A group of Florissant women seeking tax-supported bus transportation for their children who attend non-public schools today halted a public school bus in a demonstration in support of their demands.

Seven parochial school students boarded a bus bound for McCluer Junior High School when it made a scheduled stop at St. Catherine and St. Eugene avenues in Florissant to pick up four McCluer pupils.

About 10 mothers and 35 children, identified as students at nearby parochial schools, appeared at the intersection shortly before the bus arrived.

Some of the mothers carried placards saying: "We Pay Taxes for Busses," "We Need Busses, Too," "Safety For All Children," "The Right to Ride" and "Taxation Without Transportation."

Mother Gets Off.

One mother, Mrs. Clara Underwood, 1430 St. Catherine, boarded the bus with her five children and two other youngsters. She got off, however, at the request of Florissant Police Chief Thomas Walsh. The children remained on the bus and were taken to McCluer. Their mothers arrived later and took them on to the parochial schools they attend.

Alvin Thies, manager of bus transportation for the Fergusson-Florissant school district, told Chief Walsh to allow any children to board the bus, but to keep all adults off.

Thies, Chief Walsh, two other police officers and Elmer Meyer, vice president of the Fergusson-Florissant Board of Education, were on hand with the mothers, apparently having learned in advance of the demonstration.

Thies made it clear the bus would go only to McCluer, and would not stop at any other schools en route.

The children and their mothers assembled at the home of Mrs. Frank Polt, 1745 St. Catherine. Mrs. Polt said the children attend seven parochial schools in the Florissant area, but declined to identify the schools. All are one to two miles from the youngsters' homes, she said.

Mrs. Polt said the purpose of the demonstration was to draw attention to the women's contention that children who do not attend public schools are entitled to tax-supported bus trans-

OLD CLAN FEUD SUFFERS BLOW — PAIR ENGAGED

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The engagement of Miss Jane Campbell-Davys, 22 years old, to Ranald MacDonald, 26-year-old chief and captain of clan Ranald, was announced today.

She is the daughter of Ivor Elystan Campbell-Davys, former master of Askomel in the heart of the Campbell country of Scotland. Her fiance is her hereditary enemy.

The feud goes back to 1692 when the Campbells surprised and massacred a party of MacDonalds at Glencoe. Killings by members of the rival clans stopped a long time ago but the atmosphere between the two families has remained strained.

At her home outside London Miss Campbell-Davys said:

"From childhood I was brought up to be fully aware of the hatred that has separated our clans. I never dreamed that one day I should marry a MacDonald."

He father said: "The engagement has made me very happy."

RELIGION SHOULD NOT BE ELECTION FACTOR, SAY 100 CHURCH LEADERS

Protestants, Jews and Catholics Issue Statement Opposing Church Affliation as Issue.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—A statement signed by 100 Protestant, Jewish and Catholic leaders opposes any attempts to make religious affiliation the basis of the voter's choice in the presidential campaign.

The group, including 55 Protestants, 29 Roman Catholics, one Greek Orthodox and 15 Jews, called the statement "an attempt to extract a higher ethic regarding religion and politics that would be applicable to the practical considerations of the current presidential campaign."

A Protestant group led by the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale issued a statement last week which said a Roman Catholic President would be "under extrame pressure by the hierarchy of his church." However, the Rev. Dr. Peale, a supporter of Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon, later said public agitation of religion as an issue in the campaign would be "in the long run harmful to our country."

Nixon is a Quaker. His opponent, Senator John F. Kennedy, is a Roman Catholic.

Bishop Lichtenberger on List.

Yesterday's statement bore such signatures as the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichenberger, former St. Louisan, presiding bishop, Protestant Episcopal Church; Methodist Bishops G. Bromley Oxnam of Scarsdale, N.Y., William C. Martin of Dallas, and Lloyd C. Wicke of New York; Archbishop Iakovos of the Greek Orthodox Church; Cardinal Richard Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston.

Also, Reinhold Niebuhr of Union Theological Seminary, New York; Rabbi William F. Rosenbloom, former president of the Synagogue Council of America; Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of the Union of Hebrew Congregations, and Rabbi Bernard Bamberger, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

Guidelines for Action.

The group listed these principles as "guidelines for action in the 1960 election":

"(1) The exclusion of members of any family of faith from public office on the basis of religious affiliation violates the fundamental conditions of a free democratic society, as expressed in the spirit and letter of our Constitution. . . .

"(2) The religious faith of a public officer is relevant to the conduct of his office. . . . Inquiry regarding this relevancy is an exercise of responsible citizenship, if conducted in such a way as not to violate the constitutional prohibition against any religious test for public office.

"(3) No citizen in public office dare be false either to his conscience or to his oath of office. . . . If he cannot reconcile the responsibilities entailed by his oath with his conscience, then he must resign. . . .

"(4) The fact that a major religious group has so far never furnished the nation with a candidate who won election to a particular public office does not obligate the voters to elect a candidate of that faith to that office solely to demonstrate our devotion to democracy. . . .

"(5) No religious organization should seek to influence and dominate public officials for its own institutional advantage. . . .

Full Religious Liberty.

"(6) Every person of every faith must be accorded full religious liberty, and no person should be coerced into accepting any religious belief or practice. . . .

"(7) A candidate's faith, and his affirmations of it, as they bear upon his repsonsibilities in public office, should be viewed in their best light rather than their worst. . . .

"(8) The public officer, after his election, is obligated to make his appointments to subordinate positions on a non-discriminatory basis, using competence and record rather than religious affiliation as the criteria of selection. . . .

"(9) If for reasons of his own he (the Pfesident) feels that participation in a particular religious ceremony is not in order, it would be contrary to the civic character of the American presidency for him to feel obligated to accept the invitation. . . .

"(10) He (the President) will recognize that the values in historic faiths other than his own must be brought to bear upon the problems of the day. . . ."

Another religious group issued a statement yesterday deploring the injection of religion into the presidential campaign. The statement, by the American Jewish Congress, said that among other things the injection of this issue could lead to the development of religious political parties in the United States.

campaign to every state. Every one of them, he said, is a battleground. He said he would present his views to Republicans, Democrats and independents.

Appears on TV

Nixon unofficially opened his campaign late yesterday with a half-hour appearance on the NBC television show "Meet the Press."

As expected, he was asked how he planned to keep the Roman Catholic religion of his Democratic presidential rival, Senator Kenedy, out of the campaign.

Nixon, looking a bit thinner after his 11 days in the hospital for treatment of an infected knee, appeared to welcome the question, replying that it could be done "by not talking about it."

He said he believed there should be a "cut-off date" for ending discussion of this issue and he hoped Kennedy would have the same feeling.

(Kennedy, campaigning in California, commented that he wished the debate over religion could be ended "right now.")

Nixon asserted that he had no doubt about Senator Kennedy's loyalty to his country and believed that the Massachusetts Senator would put the Constitution above everything else.

Nixon said, with feeling, that that it would be tragic, and repeated the word tragic, not only at home but also abroad if the election were decided primarily or substantially by the religious issue. He went on to say that the free world is fighting the Communist ideology that is opposed to all religions and that the United States must be united, not divided, on this issue.

He observed that he had a problem in discussing the questions, pointing out that even when he had sought to take the issue out of the campaign, former President Harry S. Truman and Gov. J. Lindsay Almond of Virginia had charged he was raising it in an underhanded way.

Reference to Peale.

He said he had not discussed the issue recently with the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale or any other Protestant churchman who had made a statement that Kennedy, as president, would be under pressure from the Roman Catholic hierarchy. He said he had received letters from some Protestant churchmen and had replied that he would like to see the issue eliminated from the campaign.

Replying to other questions he gave these views:

Nuclear Tests—Underground nuclear tests should be resumed, once it is clearly established that the present negotiations with the Soviet Union have no chance of succeeding.

The United States, he said, should go down to the end of the road to see if an agreement could be reached because the whole world is waiting to see if there could be a breakthrough on disarmament with effective inspection.

Cuba—In retrospect it is difficult to say what should or could have been done to prevent the Fidel Castro situation in Cuba, but with what President Eisenhower initiated and Congress approved on economic aid to Latin America there is hope that we will not have another Cuba in some other part of the southern hemisphere. Such a program five years ago might have averted the present Cuban trouble, he said.

Aid To Education—Nixon is still opposed to direct federal payment of teachers in elementary and high schools and favors federal funds only for school construction. Federal Government payments, he said, would lead to federal standards for teachers and eventual control of what is taught.

To hasten the desegregation of schools, he would step up litigation to enforce the Supreme Court decisions, try to get local people together on a voluntary basis to work out plans. He would also make frequent public appearances in all parts of the country to urge integration of the schools.

Social Security—He believes that the Social Security program, initiated by the Democrats, is a major achievement and a credit to those who sponsored it. There comes a point, he said, at which caution must be exercised in extending it. He was not asked for his views on using the Social Security machinery for medical aid for the elderly.

Defense — The Republican platform and his agreement with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on increasing defense expenditures do not mean he favors "unlimited" outlays or giving a blank check to the military services. Although there should be no compromise on the security of the country these views do not mean that he would not cut down some of the requests of the Defense Department.

Agriculture—Nixon welcomed the support of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, although they disagree on some parts of the farm price support program. One of these points is the control of tobacco output, which is a very special case and the control program is supported by the growers. It does not increase prices, presents no storage problem and does not cost the Government a great deal, he said.

Divided Government.—President Eisenhower has done well with a Democratic Congress in the last six years and Nixon should do "reasonably well" with a Democratic Senate and a Republican House. KHRUSHCHEV'S SHIP PASSING ENGLISH COAST

U.S.-Bound Communist Chief Sends Greetings to Macmillan and De Gaulle.

LONDON, Sept. 12 (UPI) — The ship carrying Soviet Premier Khrushchev and other Communist leaders to the United Nations General Assembly in New York was reported sailing through the English channel today.

Tass news agency said in dispatches from the ship, the Baltika, that the course brought the ship into the channel last evening.

"Everyone is working," Tass reported. "Nikita Khrushchev, as usual, read current information, listens to broadcasts on Soviet events and major developments abroad."

The turbo-electric ship had traveled more than 850 miles since leaving Kaliningrad Friday

The Moscow radio meanwhile stepped up its propaganda effort to picture the Communist bloc as the champion of peace at the forthcoming Assembly session.

It accused the United States and Canadian governments of trying to create a war hysteria with its Operation Sky Shield Saturday morning and forthcoming NATO maneuvers in the North Atlantic.

Without mentioning Khrushchev's own recent rocket rattling speeches, Moscow said the West was trying to "drown the U.N. discussion of disarmament with the thunder of guns."

Khrushchev sent off messages to British Prime Minister Macmillan and President De Gaulle of France as he passed their shores.

The message to Macmillan said:

"I take this opportunity to extend to you and the entire people of Great Britain best wishes of well being and peace and happiness."

Macmillan replied:

"I can assure you that Her Majestiy's government share your hopes for a successful outcome of the Fifteenth General Assembly of the United Nations. Like you, they are sincerely anxious to see real progress made over disarmament."

Tass said Khrushchev is being bombarded by radio messages from the United States asking him to make public appearances, including some television dates, while he is in New York. The dispatch did not name any of the message senders.

U.S. to Put Visiting Red Leaders In Three Travel Privilege Groups

Neutralists Unrestricted, Satellite Officials Limited to Same Extent They Limit Americans.

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—The United States will divide the heads of government attending the United Nations General Assembly into three groups, based on travel restrictions, Francis O. Wilcox, assistant secretary of state for United Nations affairs, said yesterday.

Neutralists will be unrestricted and Soviet satellite government officials will be limited to the same extent to which their governments limit United States diplomats. Premier Khrushchev, Minister of State Janos Kadar of Hungary and Premier Mehmet Shehu of Albania will be limited to Manhattan.

If Khrushchev wants to make a request to go beyond the confines of Manhattan, the request will get State Department consideration, Wilcox said. He spoke on the Columbia Broadcasting System program "Face the Nation."

Allowed Free Travel.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, President Josip (Tito) Broz of Yugoslavia, and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana will be among the neutralists free to travel in the United States.

The assistant secretary said one of the reasons for the restriction on Khrushchev was the feeling of the public that allowing the premier to enter the country was "sufficient hospitality."

In a note to the Soviet mission at the United Nations Saturday, the State Department had explained the restriction as necessary because of security problems arising out of Khrushchev's hostile public statements, the destruction of a United States plane over international waters and detention of two United States flyers.

The State Department did not limit the movements of four other top Communists coming from Russia's European satellites: Poland's Wladyslav Gomulka, Czechoslovakia's Antonin Novotny, Romania's Ghorghe Gherghiu-Dej and Bulgaria's Todor Zhivkov.

Kadar is restricted because of his prominent role during the suppression of the Hungarian anti-Communist rebellion of 1956 might expose him to reprisals by Hungarian refugees.

Gen. Shehu is confined to Manhattan because the United States does not recognize his government.

Expects Demonstrations.

Wilcox said that although he would not be surprised to see anti-Communist demonstrations against some of the delegates, the State Department urges United States citizens "to respect the United Nations and the task which delegations to the United Nations have to fulfill."

Wilcox said the United States would seek "drastic action" against the Castro regime in the Organization of American States if a Communist base was established in Cuba.

Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem.), Montana, said restriction of Khrushchev to Manhattan during his U.N. visit "may well act against us throughout the world" from a propaganda standpoint.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said in London today the State Department was "perfectly silly" in restricting Khrushchev to Manhattan.

"Khrushchev's already been all around the United States," she said. "How can we now tell him he's restricted to Manhattan Island?"

U. N. to Bar Public From Seeing Reds in Action.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 12 (UPI)—The public will be barred from seeing Soviet Premier Khrushchev and a number of other national leaders in action at the General Assembly this fall.

The U. N. security force, responsible for protecting the assemblage of Communist and other brass expected for the session, is taking unprecedented precautions.

Special credentials with passport-like photographs and signatures will be required for members of the press and other persons having business at U. N. headquarters.

The 70-man security force under Col. Francis M. Begley usually operates without sidearms, but while Khrushchev is at U. N. headquarters some of the guards will be armed.

Anti-Communist organizations already have announced plans to picket U. N. headquarters building while the Soviet leader is here.

Refugees from Russia and satellite nations plan to unveil a three-story high picture of the Soviet leader across the street on the day the General Assembly opens Sept. 20.

Demonstrations against Khrushchev and Cuban leader Fidel Castro were held yesterday outside the headquarters of the Soviet U.N. delegation on Park ave, outside the U.N. building and the outside offices of the Cuban consulate general on Madison avenue.

KILLS DEPUTY IN BOOTHEEL BAR, WOUNDS SHERIFF

Assailant of New Madrid Officers Is Object of Intense Manhunt by State Patrol.

MARSTON, Mo., Sept. 12 (AP)—An unidentified man shot and killed Chief Deputy Sheriff Cletis Phillips and seriously wounded Sheriff W. L. (Cowboy) Ramsey today as the two New Madrid county law enforcement officers tried to arrest him.

The Highway Patrol organized a manhunt for the assailant, said to be armed with a shotgun and a pistol.

The patrol said Ramsey was "too badly shot up" to give an account of the shooting.

Phillips, about 45 years old, was killed by a blast in the head from a shotgun. Ramsey was wounded in the head and left shoulder.

The patrol said the shooting occurred in a tavern in Point Pleasant, near here.

Ramsey flagged down a pick-up truck and was taken to the Missouri Delta Memorial Hospital in Sikeston where his condition was described as serious.

Marston is about eight miles north of Portageville in flat farming country in Missouri's Bootheel.

AFRICAN STUDENT AIRLIFT BEGINS; STARTED DISPUTE

NAIROBI, Kenya, Sept. 11 (AP)—Negro students began flying to America yesterday in an airlift whose financing was surrounded by political controversy in the United States.

The first planeloads of 144 students left from Nairobi airport. Some of the remaining 130 students will leave today and the rest next week. All will study in United States universities under scholarships.

The $100,000 for the airlift was provided by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. foundation, named after the brother of the United States Democratic presidential nominee, Senator John F. Kennedy. Republicans charged the Senator agreed to underwrite the airlift as a political gesture. Kennedy said he had agreed on the condition that he receive no publicity and only after the United States State Department has refused the money.

VATICAN STAND MAKES RELIGION CAMPAIGN ISSUE, BAPTIST SAYS

Dr. Price Declares Many U.S. Catholics Are Embarrassed by Enactments of Hierarchy.

Religion is a major issue in this year's presidential campaign because of the Roman Catholic Church's claim, through the Vatican and its hierarchy, to temporal and political authority, a Baptist clergyman declared here yesterday.

In a sermon delivered at Third Baptist Church, the Rev. Dr. Sterling Lorenz Price said many American Roman Catholics were embarrassed by enactments of the hierarchy of the church.

The Rev. Dr. Price, Third Baptist pastor, said the concern over possible Papal control in this country would be eased if American Roman Catholics would base their interpretation of temporal and political power on the American Catholic Bishops instead of Papal decree or dogma or action of the College of Cardinals.

Questions for Candidate.

Without addressing Senator John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee and a Catholic, by name, the Rev. Dr. Price directed a number of questions to "Mr. Candidate."

"Mr. Candidate, does it embarrass you when the present Pope, John XXIII, in May of this year gave a very clever reply and subtle rebuke to you for your statement about putting the constitution of the United States above the Roman Catholic hierarchy?" he asked.

"The L'Osservatore Romano, the official Vatican newspaper, quotes Pope John XXIII as having said this: 'The church has the right and duty to guide, direct and correct. . . a Catholic can never depart from the teachings and directives of the church, in every sector of his activities he must be motivated by the laws and instructions of the hierarchy . . . the problem of collaboration with those who do not recognize religious principles might arise in a political field. It is then up to the ecclesiastical authorities, and not to the arbitrary decisions of individual Catholics, to judge the moral licitness of such collaboration.'

"While many Protestants applaud your answer, it is rather evident from this official statement from the present Pope that neither you nor any other Catholic has the right to his own opinions and must be guided by the principles handed to him by the Vatican," the Rev. Dr. Price said.

Absolute Authority.

The Rev. Dr. Price said the fact that in many countries the head of state was required by law to be a Catholic was due to the intrusion of the Catholic church into the temporal and political power of these countries because it claimed absolute authority in those fields.

Declaring that Protestant churches and practitioners were persecuted in some Catholic countries and subjected to damage and injuries in others, the Baptist pastor made it clear that he did not believe such discrimination came from any individual Catholics in America, but from the leadership of the hierarchy of the Catholic Church.

Noting that Kennedy had stated his opposition to federal aid to parochial schools, the Rev. Dr. Price asked if "Mr. Candidate" was not embarrassed at finding himself among the "bigots" who oppose such aid.

"If the American Roman Catholic will pull away from his church hierarchy's restrictions proclaiming full authority of the faithful in the civic sphere, then we may see the day when a Roman Catholic can run (for office) without having the 'albatross' of religion as a political burden around his neck," he said.

"In a day that cries out for a togetherness in spirit and a unity of purpose, let American Roman Catholics dedicate themselves to the historic American principle of religious liberty for all groups, and American Protestants will strike hands with them at the ballot boxes of America."

GRAND JURY DECLINES TO INDICT DAVISON

A St. Louis county grand jury voted today not to indict Glennon Joseph Davison of Kirkwood, who was charged with first-degree murder in the death of his mother.

However, the jury recommended that county authorities take action to commit Davison to a mental institution.

In an interim report delivered to Circuit Judge Robert G. J. Hoester, the jury said it had conducted "extensive hearings into the matter, heard 13 witnesses, and medical reports."

After full consideration of the case, the grand jury decided there was insufficient evidence on which to return an indictment for murder, the report stated.

Davison, 28 years old, was arrested in Miami, Fla., on July 23, after the body of his mother, Mrs. Conway Davison, was found in her home at 132 East Monroe street, Kirkwood, on July 13. She had been shot four times.

Although refusing to indict Davison, the grand jury reported it received extensive medical evidence and testimony to the effect that he is mentally ill and should be confined in a mental institution.

County Prosecuting Attorney Norman H. Anderson said he will request authorities of Glenwood Sanitarium in Webster Groves, where Davison is confined, to file an information under the state mental illness law as a first step in the procedure for committing him permanently.

Davison was sent to the sanitarium after his return from Miami to undergo a five-day psychiatric examination. He had previously received psychiatric treatment.

COUNTERFEIT CHARGES AGAINST SENATH MAN

Truman Small, operator of a small lumber company at Senath, Mo., has been arrested at Kennett, Mo., on charges of conspiracy to counterfeit money and possession of counterfeit $20 bills, Garry W. Stigall, special agent of the United States Secret Service, said here today.

Small was associated with three other men in counterfeiting activities, Stigall said. He listed them as Small's brothers, Kenneth Small and William Small, and Loren B. Hamby.

Kenneth and William Small were arrested Aug. 3 in Los Angeles when making a delivery of $8000 in $20 bills, Stigall said. He added that both have pleaded guilty to counterfeiting charges but have not been sentenced yet. Hamby was arrested here Aug. 26 and is awaiting trial. Truman Small is free under $25,000 bond, Stigall said.

POLICE CAR AND AUTO COLLIDE, PATROLMAN HURT

A police car responding to a call and an automobile collided today at Twelfth boulevard and Franklin avenue. Patrolman Herbert A. Riiff, 6563 Mitchell avenue, driver of the police car, suffered a bruised right leg. Mack Kirkpatrick, 1400 North Ninth street, driver of the second car, was uninjured.

Riiff, driving east on Franklin in response to a call at Eighth and Olive street, said the police car's red light was on and the siren sounding. Kirkpatrick, going south in Twelfth, said he did not hear the siren.

The accident at Eighth and Olive occurred when Robert Bell, 62 years old, Kansas City, was knocked down by a truck and suffered serious back injuries. He was taken to City Hospital. Bell stepped from the curb to walk behind the truck, which was parked. The driver, Earl B. Riley, Mehlville, reversed the truck preparatory to leaving the parking place and struck Bell.

TUBERCULIN PATCH TEST TO BE RESUMED IN SCHOOLS

The tuberculin patch test program for the 1960-61 school year was announced today by the Tuberculosis and Health Society of St. Louis.

A method of detecting the presence of the tuberculosis germ, the test makes use of a specially treated adhesive tape which is applied to the bodies of school children. If a "positive" reaction occurs, it does not necessarily mean the child has an active case, but, that he has been exposed to someone who does have an active case. It thus helps to reveal new active cases in the community.

The society will open the program at the Salem Lutheran School where the 250,000th patch test was administered last September. The program is conducted in public, private and parochial schools throughout the St. Louis area.

MSD STRIKERS SEEKING STATE MEDIATION AID

Union Official Says Dispute Is Stalemated — Sewer District Rejects Proposal.

The State Mediation Board will be asked to intervene in the strike by Institutional and Public Employes Local 410 against the Metropolitan Sewer District, a union official said today.

Joseph L. Ames, secretary-treasurer of the local, went to Jefferson City to file the request after the sewer district refused to be a partner in seeking the mediation board's assistance.

However, Danield C. Rogers of Fayette, chairman of the State Mediation Board, said there was some doubt whether the board would have jurisdiction in the strike.

Ames said the dispute appeared to be stalemated. The district "hasn't budged an inch, and we've budged as far as we can," he said.

At a meeting yesterday with MSD personnel director Joseph R. Wolf, Ames suggested that both the district and the union join in a request for aid to the State Mediation Board. Wolf turned down the suggestion.

The issues in dispute, Wolf told a reporter today, are legal points which could not be decided by the mediation board. More important, he said, the MSD civil service commission "has no right whatsoever to delegate any legislative powers vested in the district" to any other entity.

Wolf said he gained the impression at yesterday's meeting that the union's main interest was in achieving a system of payroll deduction of union dues. The district has maintained it may not have the legal authority to make such deductions since, as a governmental subdivision, it is not permitted by law to recognize unions.

Ames denied that the dues checkoff issue was the only one remaining. The union proposed to submit four issues in dispute to mediation, he said. The others are on-the-job discussion of grievances, payment of unskilled laborers on a bi-weekly rather than an hours-worked basis, and pay for employes required to stand by subject to an emergency call for work.

Rogers told a reporter that, should the board be asked to step into the dispute, he would have to confer with Gov. James T. Blair and Attorney General John M. Dalton before deciding whether to accept.

The board, he said, has never engaged in mediation in a labor dispute involving a governmental subdivision because "we've always felt the King-Thompson Law is not broad and specific enough to enable us to render that kind of service."

On the face of it, Rogers said, he doubted the board would have jurisdiction in the sewer dispute.

About 135 unskilled laborers and truck drivers are involved in the strike, which began last Friday. The strike has forced the district to abandon its program of cleaning inlets, sewers, creeks and ditches.

Wolf said the extent of disruption of service caused by the strike may not be known for a few days.

PENNSY STRIKE ENDS; NO TRAINS TILL TOMORROW

Service to Be Restored in Progressive Steps — Union Leader Delighted With Pact.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12 (AP)—A settlement worked out early today after nearly 15 hours of negotiations ended the 12-day-old strike that had stopped the Pennsylvania Rail Road for the first time in 114 years.

Leaders of the 20,000 strikers, members of two non-operating unions, said they were "delighted" with the agreement, ending a dispute over work rules and job security that began in mid-1957. Wages were not an issue.

Pennsy spokesmen said the settlement was satisfactory.

Six hours after the agreement both the Transport Workers Union and System Federation union announced that their locals had ratified it. Formal signing was set for later today.

No trains will operate today on America's biggest railroad with 10,000 miles of track in 13 states and the District of Columbia. The system extends as far west as St. Louis.

The Pennsy said service will be partly restored by tomorrow morning. It emphasized that restoration must proceed "in progressive steps to assure complete safety and reliability of operation."

Responsible for Safety.

The TWU represents 15,000 members, and the System Federation 5000 members. Their members are care inspectors, oilers, pipefitters, car cleaners, steamfitters and laborers. Primarily, they are responsible for the safety of equipment and for maintenance of property. Many TWU members, principally in the shops at Altoona, Pa., build and repair freight cars.

Prime movers in the eventual agreement were Philadelphia's Mayor Richardson Dilworth and Francis O'Neill Jr., chairman of the Federal (Railway) Mediation Board.

O'Neill brought both sides together before noon Sunday and kept them bargaining continuously, except for lunch and dinner, until the settlement shortly before 3 a.m.

Michael J. Quill, TWU president who had blamed the Pennsy for the deadlock, said he was delighted with the agreement.

The agreement totals more than 30 points, all touching on job security and work rules.

The Pennsy normally operates 722 passenger trains and 870 freights daily.

Loss of $30,000,000.

It placed the total revenue lost at about $2,500,000 each day—or about $30,000,000 altogether.

However, it did not have much of a payroll—having laid off 52,000 workers as soon as the strike began one minute past midnight Sept. 1.

The railroad, too, was protected by insurance taken out several years ago by the major carriers. This paid most of its fixed expenses, reckoned at about $600,000 daily.

The strikers lost about $4,000,000 in wages.

Pennsy Picket Lines in St. Louis Are Withdrawn.

In St. Louis, picket lines were withdrawn at 7 a.m. today. All employes of the railroad are expected to be back to work by 8 a.m. Wednesday.

About 900 men were affected by the strike here, 400 of them members of the striking unions.

Leonard Airriess, international representative here for the Transport Workers Union, said the biggest gain achieved through the strike was a show of solidarity by all railroad unions.

"We received the support of every other railroad union, operating and non-operating alike," Airriess said. "This is a factor the railroads are going to have to reckon with in the future."

Grand Jury Starts Inquiry Into Alleged Vote Violations

14 Subpenaed — Appearance of Doerr, Auditor for Hayden, Put Off Until Thursday.

The circuit court grand jury today opened its investigation into alleged irregularities in the Aug. 2 primary election. Fourteen witnesses, subpenaed last week, were on hand.

Joseph M. Keating, 6241 Kinsey place, was sworn in as jury foreman by Circuit Judge James F. Nangle. He succeeded Leo F. Havey, who resigned last week.

Havey, a union officer and Democratic leader, withdrew because of a newspaper editorial which he said was unfair.

Mrs. Fern C. Mantle, 6523 Murdoch avenue, an alternate juror, was named a regular member to succeed Keating, and Mrs. Berenice Baker, a secretary at Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was named to succeed Mrs. Mantle as alternate.

Judge Nangle told the jurors heh ad "every confidence that they will do a splendid job."

Assistant Circuit Attorney Robert D. Kingsland said one witness subpenaed for today, Bernard J. Doerr, had been rescheduled to appear before the jury next Thursday. Doerr, an Joseph T. Hayden, is under investigation by Hayden for working at a oSulard market vegetable stand on office time.

The other witnesses will be questioned on complaints about polling place workers illegally operating voting machines for voters, submission of inaccurate lists of voters and other alleged irregularities.

The grand jury inquiry is on recommendation of the Board of Election Commissioners, which heard a large number of witnesses in connection with the complaints.

Witnesses present today included Lena Pam and Walter Berry, election board canvassers in the Third Precinct of the Sixth Ward; James E. Cook, executive secretary of the Pine Street Y.M.C.A.; Joseph Smith, resident manager of the Pine Hotel, 824 Pine street.

Arthur Mohrhard, a clerk at Laclede Hotel, 520 Chestnut street; David Muchnich, owner of St. Francis Hotel, 604 Chestnut street; Thomas F. Berry, who, with Doerr, was a worker in the Sixth Ward's Second Precinct.

William H. Redding and Willette Guy, election clerks in the Third Precinct, Sixth Ward.

Also present were Harry Leitz, chief clerk of the Election Board; Donald Smith and Walter Trantina, special deputy election commissioners, and Daniel Cregan and Richard Panosch, special recanvassers.

BROTHERS STRUCK BY AUTO, ONE IS INJURED SERIOUSLY

William Tayes, 6 years old, suffered a broken right leg and his brother, Vincent, 8, suffered minor injuries today when they were struck by an automobile in the 5000 block of Maffitt avenue, police reported.

The younger boy was in serious condition at Homer G. Phillips Hospital. His brother was treated and released. Driver of the car, George Brown, 2930 Belt avenue, was traveling east when the accident occurred, police said.

The boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tayes Sr., 4625 Kennerly avenue, were running south from an alley when they were struck, witnesses told police.

CRYSTAL PALACE TO GIVE BENEFIT PERFORMANCE

A benefit performance for the St. Louis chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society will be given Wednesday at the Crystal Palace, 4240 Olive street, Mrs. Al Raben, vice president of the chapter's women's division, announced today.

The play being presented this week is "New Directions," a two-act play starring Isolde Robins and Del Close. Performances will be at 8:30 and 10:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the show will go to the society, which supports scientific research into the disease and provides service to persons afflicted with it.

AREA REMEDIES 40% OF BUILDING CODE VIOLATIONS

City Reinspects Near North Side Section to Check on Steps Toward Compliance.

Forty per cent of the building code violations uncovered in a crash building inspection program conducted on the near north side have been remedied, Director of Public Safety Joseph P. Sestric said today.

Sestric said 2519 of the 6294 violations found in the area have been corrected. The area is bounded by Easton and Franklin avenues on the south, Grand boulevard on the west, Cass avenue on the north and Jefferson avenue on the east. It contains 1416 buildings.

The crash inspection program was completed at the end of June. Since then reinspections have been made to see whether steps toward compliance with the building code are being taken. On the reinspections, 303 more violations were uncovered.

The program of concentrated inspections began last March as a result of a series of fires in which many children were killed.

Sestric said that in the adjoining area, Sheridan South, 9 per cent of the 2691 violations found have been remedied.

The concentrated inspections of the 677 buildings in the Sheridan South area started after the Sheridan North inspections, accounting for the lower rate of corrections, Sestric explained.

Sheridan South is bounded by Delmar boulevard on the south, Garrison avvenue on the east, Page boulevard on the north and Grand on the west.

Permits issued so far for repair work in the two areas show that construction having a value of $348,794 is being done, Sestric reported.

WOMAN KILLED AS CAR UPSETS ON HIGHWAY 66

Miss Alice Cecelia Walls, 18 years old, of Cahokia, was killed yesterday when the automobile in which she was a passenger overturned on U.S. Highway 66, about three-and-a-half miles west of St. Clair, Mo.

Miss Walls was in an eastbound car driven by Joseph F. George, 18, also of Cahokia. The State Highway Patrol said George's car swerved into the grass island separating the traffic lanes, went out of control and upset.

He apparently was forced to swerve to his left because traffic in front of him slowed suddenly, the Highway Patrol reported.

George was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Washington, Mo., suffering from cuts and bruises. He lives at 105 St. Paul drive. Miss Walls lived at 714 St. Nicholas drive.

Thirty-three steers were killed or later destroyed by officials as a result of a collision early yesterday of a cattle truck and an automobile on Missouri Highway 140, near New Halls Ferry road, St. Louis county.

The eastbound truck, driven by Francis Hardin of West Plains, Mo., overturned after being struck almost head-on by a car driven by Jessie Watts of Gary, Ind. Hardin was not injured and Watts was taken to St. Louis County Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises.

The Highway Patrol said Watts's car apparently swerved across the center line. The truck was carrying 81 steers. The animals that were not killed or destroyed because of injuries were loaded into other trucks. Animal Protective Association workers assisted the Highway Patrol in the task.

POPE JOHN EXPRESSES HOPE FOR CHRISTIAN UNITY

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 1 (AP)—Pope John XXIII expressed hope yesterday that the Roman Catholic church's forthcoming ecumenical council will lead to Christian unity. Addressing a congregation at Castel Gandolfo's parish church, the pontiff asked:

"Will our Christian brothers who bear the name of Christ truly return to the Catholic church?

"We must do everything so that they review their errors and our deportment so that it can be said that the house of the Father is only one.

"We know that the apostolic Roman Catholic church will open the door saying, 'we live in peace and in seeking the Lord, if you wish to come with sentiments of brotherhood'."

CAB DRIVERS REJECT FARE BOOST PROPOSAL

Union taxicab drivers yesterday rejected a contract proposal that included a fare increase of 5 cents a mile.

The proposal was voted down by a majority of the 489 drivers attending a meeting of Teamsters Local 405, Philip Reichardt, business agent, reported. Negotiations will be resumed on a new contract for the 700 drivers of Yellow, Laclede and Black & White taxicabs.

Reichardt said the drivers, some of whom own their cabs, felt that the question of rates is a matter for the franchise owners, rather than of individual operators. The proposal offered the drivers a higher rate of compensation, Reichardt said.

Machinist Leader Accuses FBI Of Smearing Unions in Inquiries

Agencies administering the labor reform act of 1959 "are more concerned with smearing the labor movement than they are with finding facts," Al Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists, said in a statement issued today.

Referring to the labor squad of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the investigating division of the United States Labor Department, Hayes said:

"They have conducted their investigations as though we were criminals, as though we were Communists, guilty of espionage and treason."

The Machinists Union, which is holding its national convention here, and the United Auto Workers in particular "are being singled out for investigation because anti-labor forces would like to prove that even the best unions have a lot of corruption," Hayes said.

Plato Papps, general counsel of the International Association of Machinists, reported to the convention on the "investigative techniques used by the Labor Department investigators, since enactment of the so-called labor reform act."

"Whenever a complaint is filed with the Secretary of Labor under this act, whether the complaint is anonymous or not, there is a presumption of criminality," Papps said. "You are assumed to be guilty," he added.

"The extent to which the investigatory powers of the FBI and the Department of Labor are used to embarrass our membership throughout the country is disturbing to me," Papps said.

Papps said that Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell stated shortly after enactment of the law that there would be no "witch hunts."

"If I ever saw a witch hunt, it is one that goes on based on an empty complaint under which no one is made aware of the charges," Papps said.

"When the agent identifies himself to your friends and neighbors as an FBI agent or an agent investigating for the Department of Labor, then that is a witch hunt because he never had the courage to go to you in the first place and confront you with that complaint and give you an opportunity to reply," Papps said.

He added that he is compiling "a detailed record of FBI and Labor Department investigative techniques for presentation to the next Congress."

Both presidential candidates will speak at the convention this week. Senator John F. Kennedy will speak Wednesday at 8 a.m. Vice President Richard M. Nixon will speak Thursday at 8 a.m.

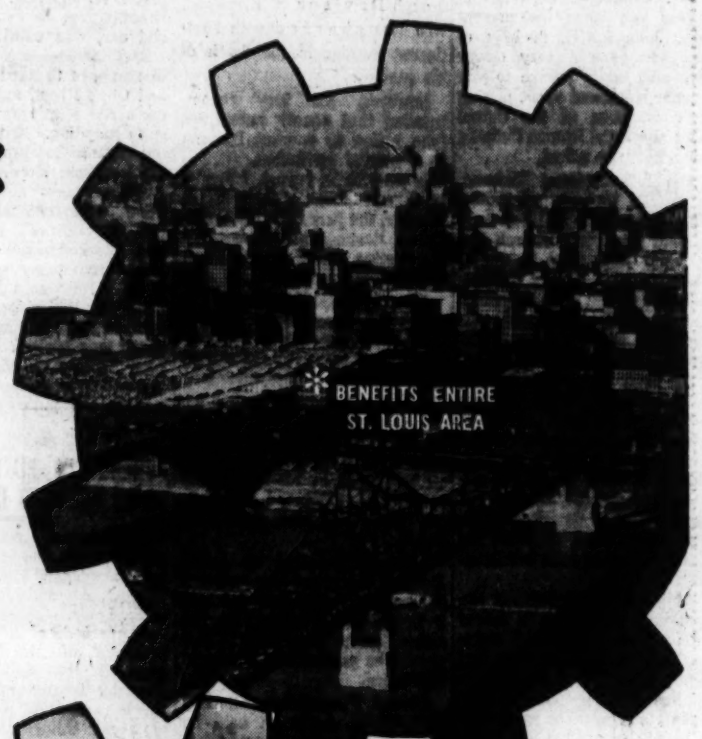
WHAT'S RIGHT* WITH UNIONS



Let's talk about facts which never make the headlines . . .

Justice on the Job — Contracts for District No. 9 of the International Association of Machinists contain iron-clad grievance and seniority provisions which guarantee members fair treatment on the job. This results in a happy and more productive employee.

High Wages — District No. 9, IAM members enjoy better than average wages. Higher wages mean more dollars of spendable income for the many goods and services of this area's industry and business.

Liberal Working Conditions — District No. 9, IAM members have liberal paid holidays, paid vacations, and miscellaneous provisions to enjoy life . . . jury duty pay to perform their duty as citizens. Because of paid holidays and vacations, members have contributed to the development and expansion of an entire industry devoted to leisure products. Again, because of this Union-won leisure time, the American worker is the most productive and satisfied employee in the entire world.

Health and Pension Programs — A healthy community results in a happier and more efficient community. The Health and Insurance Program of District No. 9, IAM paid almost $2 million dollars last year in benefits to members and their dependents. The community benefits from this program with healthier, more efficient citizen-workers, plus the monetary advantages. If it were not for this program, medical and funeral expenses would have come from the members' pay. Since the Welfare Plan was initiated, $11,915,884 in benefits have been paid; this is the amount that would not have been available for other goods and services if District No. 9, IAM did not have a Welfare Program.

The productive years of a man's life before retirement are spent earning a living for his family. When he reaches retirement age, his Employer and children no longer need his work or support. District No. 9, IAM Pension Plan in addition to social security benefits gives the retired member enough funds to enjoy his retirement without financial worries.

The Union with a Heart — That is the title given to the Machinists' Union because of its many charitable activities. District No. 9 and its affiliated local lodges are proud of the part they play in helping others. By joining hands with this area's industry and civic leaders, the Larry Connors Testimonial Dinner recently raised over $80,000 for the City of Hope Medical Center. This is one of many charitable endeavors of District No. 9.

Democracy in Action — That's the Machinist Union, too! Victor Riesel, syndicated columnist of "Inside Labor," a column often critical of labor, stated in reference to the Machinists' Union . . . "This is a clean, crusading union; no scandal ever touched it. It rejected bids from pro-communist unions for a merger, and its record on strikes is good."

The Machinists' Union welcomes this praise, and as the members know, the Union is run by, and for the members.

District No. 9 members and their families . . .
Residents of the Greater St. Louis Area . . .
Business interests in the St. Louis Area . . .

All can be proud of the good labor climate created by the Machinists' Union as well as other labor Unions in this Area.

By continually working for the betterment of Union Members, District No. 9 of the Machinists' Union is working for the welfare of everybody —

- Security for members' families . . .
- More spendable income for the St. Louis Area
- More productivity for employers
- A better labor climate to help bring more industry to the Area.

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sept. 12 (AP)—Three young men told reporters today they used homemade diving kits to escape from Red Chinese territory to the Quemoy islands. They said they reached Nationalist-held Tatan (Big Tan) islet on Aug. 22 after 20 hours in the water from Communist-held Kulangsu island, 6½ miles away.

Congo

to seize yesterday with two truckloads of Congolese troops.

This morning, however, the Leopoldville radio went back on the air. U.N. Ghana guards remained in place and U.N. officials set up a watch to prevent broadcast of any inflammatory statements to The Congo's 14,000,000 people.

Ileo told a press conference at Kasavubu's villa that he has consulted with political leaders, members of Parliament and ministers throughout The Congo and "all expressed determination to save the country." Among them, he said, are Katanga and Kasai secessionists who have accepted invitations to confer with him in Leopoldville.

"Mr. Lumumba is also invited," Ileo said. "We must preserve national unity."

But Ileo appeared to be on shaky ground.

A majority of the members of the Senate clearly opposed Kasavubu's firing of Lumumba. And one of the ministers Ileo himself named to his disputed government, Alphonse Songolo, issued a statement saying he was never consulted and that his allegiance is to "the legal government of The Congo."

Toward the end of what was one of the most trying days in Lumumba's career, Congolese army commander Gen. Victor Lundula led some 80 soldiers to the Leopoldville Airport yesterday where he offered them to the service of the local U.N. commander, a Sudanese colonel.

The men, wearing helmets with camouflage nets, laid down their arms and received brooms instead to sweep the airport hangars.

Lundula, who had the rank of sergeant two months ago, took them into the airport shortly after he had watched the Premier's helpless rage before the cordon of U.N. troops barring access to the radio station.

U.N. officials appeared baffled by the general's act. During the last three days various reports had Lundula switching sides several times in the conflict between Lumumba and Kasavubu.

Lundula was named to his post by Kasavubu.

U.N. officials reported today that peace was returning rapidly to the southeastern areas of Kasai province, and the border of secessionist Katanga province.

The U.N. Command announced a truce in the bloody civil strife between Lumumba soldiers and hostile Baluba tribesmen, aided by partisans of Kasai secession. Agreement has apparently been reached with elements of the Congolese army there which have been roaming the countryside killing, burning and plundering.

A 14-officer U.N. team was sent to the area yesterday to supervise the truce.

Bristling with defiance, Lumumba marched on the Leopoldville radio station yesterday with 20 armed Congolese soldiers and withdrew only after an Englishman serving as a lieutenant with a U.N. Ghana army unit warned:

"I will fire if you don't leave."

Lumumba balked at first but changed his mined after his press adviser, Serge Michel, shouted, "Excellency, don't risk your life."

The Congolese soldiers were disarmed and the Ghanians ringed the radio studio with guns peeping from foxholes.

The drama was unfolded before scores of reporters and Europeans who stood on the broad Boulevard Albert to watch.

"You are laughing now," shouted a civilian Congolese official to reporters, "but one day we will kill you all with our bare hands."

Storm Damage

I've seen from any hurricane," said Faircloth, who has covered many storms along the Carolinas.

He reported that about 80 per cent of a causeway connecting bridges in Morehead City and Beaufort was damaged. The mile stretch of the road was eroded and covered with debris. A railroad track paralleling the road was washed out. Buildings along the road were devastated.

Boats in Highway.

"An engine was washed off the tracks, boats are in the highway and the railroad bed was washed out," Faircloth related. "The cracks in the road look like an earthquake had hit."

The storm buffeted the Hampton Roads area of Virginia from midnight until after 8 a.m., causing havoc similar to that in North Carolina.

The coastlines of Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey were next to feel the effects.

Scores of commercial airline flights were canceled at New York's Idlewild and LaGuardia airports.

As the storm approached, the Grumman and Republic aircraft factories on Long Island sent their employes home. Many schools shut down.

The Boston weather bureau estimated that Buzzards bay in Massachusetts and Narragansett bay in Rhode Island might get tides 14 feet above normal.

It said the storm was due to hit the Buzzards bay area at a time when tides already would be at flood.

The Weather Bureau predicted a tidal flood would cover downtown Providence (R.I.) streets to a depth of perhaps seven feet of sea water.

The New York state police at Riverhead, N.Y., reported that 35-foot waves and winds of more than 100 miles an hour were battering the Air Force's Texas tower radar post in the Atlantic 70 miles south of Westhampton Beach, L.I. Airmen had been removed to safety.

Donna, lashing out in the same fashion that carried it from the Caribbean to the Florida peninsula and then northward along the Atlantic coast, struck the North Carolina mainland shortly before midnight last night.

Civil defense officials in the Norfolk-Newport News area said more than 200 persons had left low lying areas to seek refuge in public school buildings. All available police, fire, power and telephone personnel were standing ready.

Ships Go to Sea.

The Navy at Norfolk said 82 planes had been evacuated from coastal installations and larger ships had either headed out to sea or gained safe anchorage in Chesapeake Bay.

The hurricane shook coastal Virginia with a one-two punch, leading with northeast winds up to 67 miles an hour and following up with northwest winds up to 68 miles an hour.

The big storm, which buffeted the Hampton Roads area from midnight until after 8 a.m., blew down power and telephone lines, blew roofs off houses, overturned house trailers, smashed plate glass windows in scores of stores, uprooted trees, and flooded low-lying areas.

A commercial tug capsized just off a naval base pier at Norfolk. Its five-man crew swam to safety.

Two Navy jet fighters, out of fuel on a flight to avoid the hurricane, crashed in the Catskill foothills near Hamden, N.Y. Their pilots parachuted to safety.

Donna raked the Florida keys Friday, isolating some 45,000 persons except for boat and air transportation, cutting off fresh water supplies and leaving heavy property damage.

Swinging northward, the storm touched the mainland at Marathon, Fla., where 20 persons were given emergency treatment, and then followed a giant semicircle through the peninsula before it gained the open waters of the Atlantic between Daytona Beach and St. Augustine.

En route, it churned up the isolated Everglades national park, hit Fort Myers head-on, passed through the mid-peninsula east of Sarasota and Tampa and northeast of Orlando and brushed west of the populous Miami-Fort Lauderdale area.

More than seven inches of rain fell on Miami and wind gusts of nearly 100 miles an hour slammed the resort area.

Moving out to sea, Donna picked up speed and intensity. The hurricane brushed past South Carolina, causing heavy damage in Charleston and elsewhere along the coast. Nineteen injuries were reported in Charleston alone.

FLORIDA DAMAGE PUT IN BILLIONS

MIAMI, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Hurricane Donna, neither the strongest nor most deadly hurricane recorded, will have a place in weather history as the most destructive.

"Hurricane Donna is the worst storm from the standpoint of property damage that ever hit Florida," said Gordon Dunn, chief of the Miami weather bureau.

Its final cost, aside from human misery, injury and death, may be in the billions of dollars. The actual storm destruction itself is only a part of the damage. It costs, for instance, about $1,000,000 to prepare a city the size of Miami for such a hurricane. There also is the problem of looting after a storm has passed.

The Florida highway patrol last night arrested 14 Hondurans who were caught looting smashed houses on Plantation Key. They were believed to have followed the storm in an LST type craft.

The vast influx of population in coastal Florida since the last hurricane a decade ago put thousands of new homes in the storm's path. The Red Cross, in a preliminary "first day" estimate last night, said it appeared at least 655 homes were destroyed and 12,507 others damaged in Florida.

The Florida citrus industry, just getting back to normal after disastrous freezes of three years ago, was hard hit. The grapefruit crop was nearing maturity when the winds hit and was badly damaged. Oranges, still green and hard, were not hurt quite so badly.

Sheriff John Spottswood at Key West said the damage might reach $40,000,000 in the keys alone. In addition to that cost, the Air Force is flying 40 C-130 planes to Homestead, Fla., with 910,000 pounds of bridge-building equipment and 117 bridge-building men to repair the highway to Key West. The Army and Navy are collaborating in furnishing 2000 gallons of water daily by truck and barge to the keys because the hurricane knocked out the water pipeline from the mainland.

School Bus

portation. She said the women want their children taken to the school of their choice, not just the nearest public school.

She said some of their neighbors who send their children to Lutheran schools share their views. However, no Lutheran school children were at the bus stop this morning.

The demonstration delayed the bus only a few minutes.

Mrs. Polt said no further demonstrations were planned.

Some of the women who participated in the demonstration are members of Citizens for Educational Freedom, a nonsectarian organization which seeks some form of tax relief for persons who send their children to non-public schools.

James P. Bick, 43 Deerfield lane, Creve Coeur, president of the Citizens for Educational Freedom, said the group did not organize the demonstration, but added:

"We indorse and support any such activity by responsible citizens who are protesting violations of their civil liberties in education.

"These mothers and millions of other American citizens are denied bus transportation for their children simply because they send their children to fully-accredited independent schools.

"They do this in compliance with compulsory education laws. These citizens are being denied equal protection under the laws. Their participation in their educational tax benefits is conditioned on attendance at public schools. This is in defiance of the First, Fifth and Fourteenth amendments to the United States Constitution.

"Some people maintain that these parents have a choice of schools, but this is not a free choice. It is a conditioned one with a penalty attached to it, and this is not freedom, but suppression of freedom. What kind of a freedom is it when your so-called choice is one which the majority thinks you should make?"

SUNSET HILLS WILL VOTE ON ANNEXATION TOMORROW

Sunset Hills will vote tomorrow on annexation of a 100-acre tract east of the Meramec river which is bordered by the municipality on three sides. A simple majority is necessary for approval. Voting will be from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. at only one precinct, at Bettendorf's Market, Highway 66 and Lindbergh boulevard.

Des Peres also will have a special election tomorrow, on establishment of a $200,000 revolving fund for street improvements, a question on which a two-thirds majority is necessary for approval. Mayor J. F. Souders has said that no increase in taxes would be necessary to finance revenue bonds for the fund. Voting will be from 6 a.m. until sunset, which will be at 7:15 p.m., at St. Paul's Lutheran School for the first ward, and the City Hall for the second.

AIR FORCE DEVELOPS MEANS OF ENDING JET VAPOR TRAILS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Air Force said yesterday it had discovered how to eliminate contrails, the telltale vapor trail of jet airplanes at high altitudes.

Frequently jet aircraft too high to be seen can be detected by their long trails across the sky. The Air Research and Development Command said its engineers have eliminated contrails by developing a means of reducing the size of the water vapor particles.

The water vapor from the burning jet fuel is mixed with tiny dust-like particles in the engine exhaust, the Air Force said. The resulting vapor trail is made up of droplets too tiny to be seen.

ELIZABETH (N.J.) JOURNAL GIVES BACKING TO KENNEDY

ELIZABETH, N.J., Sept. 12 (AP)—The Daily Journal today indorsed Senator John Kennedy's bid for the presidency.

In an editorial the afternoon newspaper said this about the Democratic nominee: "The next President of the United States must reassert this country's dominance in world leadership. One candidate appears to have broader capacity for the responsibilities and obligations entailed in that recovery of prestige. He is Senator Kennedy."

The Journal supported President Dwight D. Eisenhower in the 1952 and 1956 elections.

ARGENTINA GETS NEW POLICE HEAD AFTER SCANDAL

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 12 (AP) — Retired navy Capt. Ernesto Recaredo Vazquez took over today as Argentina's new chief of police after an investigation of corruption charges among high officers.

President Arturo Frondizi appointed the new chief after removing from the police command R. Adm. Ezequiel Niceto Vega, a trusted friend who was married to Frondizi's sister-in-law. Vega was forced out from the head of the 50,000-man force and put under arrest for 15 days.

Carlos Borzone, a retired navy captain, was fired as deputy chief and jailed for two months. Four other high police officials were dismissed by Frondizi.

Reports of the investigations did not go into specific cases but some said prisoners won freedom with alleged bribes as high as $11,975.

SOVIET ENVOY TO GREECE GETS BIG CYPRUS WELCOME

PLATRES, Cyprus, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Soviet ambassador to Greece, Mikhail Sergeiev, came here yesterday for the opening of the mountain resort's annual festival and got an enthusiastic welcome from the crowd of several thousand. His reception rivaled that given to the president, Archbishop Makarios, while other foreign diplomats received only polite applause.

After the opening ceremony, Sergeiev was surrounded by Cypriots who wanted to shake his hand and talk. He arrived in Cyprus 10 days ago to arrange establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

'HOODLUM PRIEST' MAKERS ARE SUED FOR $150,000

Suit for $150,000 damages was filed in circuit court today by Irving Shiffrin, a public relations man, against the producers of the motion picture, "Hoodlum Priest," now in production here.

The petition states that Shiffrin interested Don Murray in the possibilities of a motion picture based on the life of the Rev. Charles Dismas Clark S.J., with the result that Murray and Walter Wood formed a company financed by United Artists to make the movie. Shiffrin said he expected remuneration from the producers but has received none. He asks $50,000 for the failure to compensate him.

An additional $100,000 is requested by the plaintiff for alleged disparaging remarks made about him by Wood and Murray. The suit states that Shiffrin is living at the George Washington Hotel and that Wood and Murray, who plays the part of Father Clark in the picture, are at Hotel Chase.

Sets Record But Fails.

DOVER, England, Sept. 12 (UPI) — A 21-year-old English girl set a women's record for channel-swimming endurance in an unsuccessful attempt to cross the English Channel Saturday. Rosemary George was in the water 21 hours and 10 minutes and at one time came within 400 yards of the French coast. She was swept back by changing tides and finally left the water after midnight.

PALESTINE ECONOMIC CORP. PRESIDENT TO SPEAK HERE

Joseph Meyerhoff, president of Palestine Economic Corp., will speak on opportunities for private investment in Israel at a luncheon at noon Tuesday at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

The Palestine Economic Corp. is the largest and oldest United States investment company devoted to fostering private enterprise in Israel. Last year, it made investments totaling $3,200,000. This year, more than $3,700,000 has been earmarked for investment.

The corporation's projects include a 16-inch Red Sea-Mediterranean oil pipeline, a deep water seaport at Ashdod and construction of apartment houses and factories. Meyerhoff, a Baltimore developer and builder, also is chairman of the Maryland State Planning Commission and is a national chairman of the United Jewish Appeal. Chairmen for the luncheon will be Melvin Dubinsky, Abe Tober and Morris Shenker.

Kennedy

night Kennedy was greeted by a big crowd at the airport.

Kennedy appeared to disappoint his airport listeners when he spoke for only about five minutes. Many had been waiting for an hour or an hour and a half to hear him.

His vice-presidential running mate, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, had arrived an hour and a half before and was speaking as Kennedy's private plane rolled up to within a hundred feet of the throng. Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn will accompany Kennedy on his two-day tour of Texas which ends tomorrow at Texarkana just before he takes off for an overnight stop in St. Louis.

At breakfast in the El Cortez Hotel in El Paso, where he had spent the night, Kennedy appeared to be trying to make up for his abruptness with the airport crowd by warmly thanking all those who had arranged his El Paso welcome.

"The Democratic party is the only national party," Kennedy said after Johnson had introduced him. "It is the party of Massachusetts and Texas, the party of the ranchers and the industrial workers. It is a multi-interest party.

"I was happy to come into Texas, through El Paso, the pass of the north. From here we look to the South. We must revive the Good Neighbor policy of Franklin Roosevelt. Early in the new Democratic administration it will be the obligation of the President to stretch his hand out once again to the people of Latin-America where our real security lies."

Later Kennedy spoke to a crowd gathered in the plaza opposite the hotel before taking off for his first stop, Lubbock, and an airport speech there.

Johnson, who has been campaigning just as vigorously as Kennedy, brings up the question of religion in almost every speech he makes. He tells his audiences that Americans came to this country to escape religious persecution and that religious prejudice has no place in American politics.

At every press conference Johnson holds, the question is brought up. Nearly 15 per cent of the vice-presidential candidate's mail from within Texas is reported to denounce him as a traitor for running with Kennedy, a Catholic.

Johnson has been expressing the view privately that Texas today is 50-50 as between Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican nominee, but he and his aids were delighted with the size of the crowd that turned out in this strongly local Democratic part of the state. They said they had expected a few hundred and with very little organization several thousands made the trip to the airport to welcome the candidate.

They expressed the belief that if in the western part of the state a big Demoractic margin can be rolled up, the growing Republicanism of Dallas and other industrial centers can be offset.

Kennedy heard Nixon on "Meet the Press" say that he hoped, as does the Democratic candidate, that religion can be eliminated from the campaign. On the plane en route from San Diego, where he stopped yesterday afternoon, Kennedy issued this statement:

"I wish we could cut off debate on this subject right now. I think we'd all be better off. How can we possibly improve on the Constitution?"

In his response to press conference questions on religion Kennedy has stressed the provision in the Constitution against any religious test for public office. That was his stand when he asked in Los Angeles about the new organization formed by the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom.

The two-hour Sunday stop in San Diego was the result of pressure from Democratic leaders who were furious when Kennedy canceled a Saturday motorcade and rally that had been planned long in advance. He told them he needed complete rest for his voice over the weekend.

Several times hoarseness resulting from strain on his throat has threatened to force him to stop speaking. Once during the primary campaign in West Virginia and again during the bobtail session of Congress he lost his voice completely.

In San Diego, where defense cutbacks have resulted in an unemployment rate of 7½ per cent, he told a big crowd in the ballroom of the U.S. Grant Hotel that defense spending for bombers and missiles would have to be accelerated. The skills of unemployed workers in the area would be made use of for the national security, he asserted.

A surprisingly large turnout for a beautiful Sunday afternoon greeted him at the airport and in the square across from the hotel.

Kennedy Appoints Special Aid on Disarmament.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12 (AP) —Senator John F. Kennedy yesterday appointed Benjamin V. Cohen, who played such an active role in the early days of the New Deal, as his special assistant on international disarmament.

Kennedy said perhaps arms control can be started with a bar on nuclear testing. Cohen helped draft the first securities act for Franklin D. Roosevelt and has held a number of other Government jobs. In 1952 he was United States representative on the United Nations Disarmament Commission.

"The world's hopes for peace," Kennedy said, "rest on the effort for effective arms control—we cannot disappoint those hopes. We must exert all our efforts, our will and our courage to take the first halting steps toward arms control—perhaps in the form of a ban on nuclear testing."

$2297 IN GEMS, GOODS STOLEN IN HOME ROBBERY

Loot valued at $2297 was reported stolen today from the home of Mrs. Katherine Carrara, 5401 Winona avenue.

Mrs. Carrara, a widow and tavern operator, discovered the loss when she returned home this morning following an absence over the weekend. About 20 items were missing, including jewelry, tableware, eight cases of liquor and a glass chandelier valued at $300. Entrance to the ranch-type home was gained by forcing a door.

Gilbert Schuerman, an assembler, was knocked down, kicked and robbed of $12 early yesterday by two men near his home, 3945 Russell boulevard.

Schuerman said the men got out of an automobile and one threatened him with a knife. After stealing his wallet the men demanded a watch. When he said he didn't have a watch, the men knocked the victim down, kicked him and fled in the automobile. Schuerman was treated at City Hospital for bruises. The robbers were Negroes.

Richard Hartzeburge, operator of a cleaning establishment at 4648 Shenandoah avenue, reported to police he was robbed of $231 by a man who was waiting in the shop when he returned from a delivery trip Saturday night. Hartzeburger said the man seized him and ordered him to sit down, then stole the cash and fled out a rear door.

Henderson McMillan, 1050 Hamilton boulevard, reported he was shoved into a hallway in the 1100 block of North Grand boulevard Saturday night by a man who slapped him and fled with $28.

Mrs. Zeffa Baldwin, 3348 Manhattan avenue, was robbed of $1 yesterday by a youth, who accosted her on the street near her home yesterday morning. The youth, who got out of a car, fled on foot. A witness furnished the license number of the car, which was traced to an owner in Maplewood. The 16-year-ld son of the family admitted taking the automobile without permission. His companion, a 19-year-old Maplewood youth, is being sought.

Purses were stolen from two other women over the weekend. Mrs. Helen Rothenberg, 2862 Ohio avenue, was robbed of $2 by a youth in the 2900 block of Texas avenue Saturday night. A purse which contained no money was stolen yesterday from Mrs. Lula Purdy, 4168 Westminster place, by two youths in the 400 block of North Newstead avenue.

Theft of $43, a radio, typewriter and nine small office machines, valued at $3000, from George D. Barnard Co., a wholesale stationery firm at 3863 Laclede avenue, was reported today to police.

The burglary was dicovered this morning by George Ford, company superintendent. Taken were transcribing, adding, dictating, billing and autograph keynoter machines, two calculators and two comptometers.

Police said, in addition an undetermined amount also was taken from two vending machines and an automatic coin changer. Entry was gained by breaking the glass on a 36-inch-square skylight, police said. The burglars left by the rear door, police said.

Theft of $150 to $300 from the Ryan Equipment Co., 3350 Morganford road, was discovered today when employes reported to work. Burglars who entered the office through a side window used a hammer and crowbar to force the door of a small safe.

LAST OF JAMES H. LUCAS HOUSES TO BE RAZED SOON

The last of the row of houses built in 1870 by James H. Lucas will be razed soon by the St. Louis Land Clearance Authority as part of the Mill Creek Valley redevelopment project, it was learned today.

The old residence at 2316 Pine street was part of a group of houses which stretched from 2308 to 2330 Pine. The building was rented in 1880 by Thomas Jefferson Whitman, then city chief engineer and water commissioner, Dr. William G. Swekosky, a dentist whose hobby is the study of old buildings, said.

Dr. Swekosky said Whitman's brother, poet Walt Whitman, also lived in the house that year. Many well-known persons in St. Louis history were tenants in the Lucas row of houses, he added.

PROPOSES PANEL OF EXPERTS TO EVALUATE DRUGS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (UPI) —A Harvard medical professor told Senate investigators that a panel of "honest, impartial" experts should evaluate all new drugs before they are released to the public.

Dr. Maxwell Finland, who is also a chief physician at Boston City Hospital, said that if the drug industry does not support such a study voluntarily, then the Government should organize and finance it.

"Under such auspices," he said, "the indorsement of inferior products that are not in the best interests of the public is much less likely to occur. . ."

Dr. Finland recalled that the council on drugs of the American Medical Association used to test new medicines, but then became "sissy or scared" and gave it up.

He said the need for such testing was clearly demonstrated by the more than 100 antibiotic combinations now on the market which, he said, do little but encourage "shot-gun therapy" by doctors.

Patients, he said, generally should be treated with one effective antibiotic rather than multiple antibiotics which might include some inferior properties.

"Since none of the available combinations has clearly shown any advantage over the proper use of the more effective constituent alone," he said, "the patient is unnecessarily exposed to the risk of toxic reactions to the other component of the mixture."

Dr. Finland spoke out against the use of chloromycetin for such ailments as the common cold, undiagnosed fever, gout, eczema and iron deficiency anemia where he said the drug has no place.

He said the council on drugs of the American Medical Association has warned doctors about some of the "serious blood disorders which have been attributed to this antibiotic" and cautioned against its use for minor ills.

He said that Parke, Davis & Co. advised repeatedly against chloromycetin being prescribed indiscriminately, especially for prolonged treatment without adequate blood studies.

Even so, Dr. Finland said, recent reports of the A.M.A. indicate the drug is still being used incorrectly by some doctors.

FUGITIVE SEIZED, TRIED TO ELUDE DETECTIVES

Russell Lee Martin, who escaped from the Missouri State Prison farm at Jefferson City last Thursday, was arrested by St. Louis police today.

Acting on information, officers found Martin with his half-sister, Miss Ruth Graham, in her third-floor room at 4045A McPherson avenue. When police knocked on the door, Martin went out a window and started down a fire escape. When he saw dectectives waiting for him, he surrendered. He told police he arrived here last Friday on a freight train.

TRUCK GOES OVER BLUFF, EAST SIDE DRIVER HURT

Alphonse Gudelauckas, a truck driver living at 401 North Hesperia street, Collinsville, suffered serious injuries today when his truck went over a 75-foot bluff on Falling Springs road a short distance south of East St. Louis.

He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, unable to tell how he happened to leave the road. He went 50 feet off the left-hand side before tumbling over for a straight drop to another road. He was driving alone, and no other vehicle was involved, police reported.

The driver had taken a load of dirt from the East St. Louis Stone Co. quarry.

EAST ST. LOUISAN TO KENNEDY STAFF

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Senator John F. Kennedy today appointed John T. R. Godlewski, East St. Louis attorney and former general attorney for the Federal Civil Rights Commission, as director of the nationalities division of the Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson organization.

Appointment of Godlewski, a former Republican, was announced by Byron R. (Whizzer) White, national chairman of the citizens group, at a news conference here.

Godlewski, 637 Vogel place, East St. Louis, described himself as a "disillusioned and disappointed" long-time Republican who would "henceforth devote myself whole-heartedly to electing Senator Kennedy to the presidency."

Until recently, Godlewski was a member of the G.O.P. Advisory Committee on Nationalities. He was on the board of governors of the Illinois State Federation of Young Republican Clubs from 1953 to 1955 and was assistant secretary of the 1956 Republican national convention.

He was appointed to his post with the Civil Rights Commission by President Eisenhower in 1958. He quit last March in protest against what he described as discrimination within the committee against Negro staff members.

The purpose of the Nationalities Division will be to enlist for the Democratic candidates, Senator Kennedy and his running-mate, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the support of independent voters of foreign descent whose ties with established political organizations may be in doubt.

Godlewski, 42 years old, is a native of East St. Louis. He was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1940 and from the St. Louis University Law School in 1949. He taught political science at Washington University, St. Louis, in 1947, and logic at St. Louis University in 1948.

Detroit University President.

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Rev. Laurence V. Britt was appointed president of the University of Detroit yesterday to succeed the Very Rev. Celestin J. Steiner, effective Oct. 30. Father Steiner, who has been president of the university since 1949, was appointed chancellor.

United Nations

anti-Lumumba leaders Moise Tshombe of Katanga and Albert Kalonji of Kasai. Kasavubu said he had invited them to the capital for a national conference.

The proposal relating to the army obviously struck close to the central factor in determining whether the Kasavubu-Joseph Ileo government or the Lumumba government was going to predominate finally in The Congo. The U.N. was paying at least some units of the army, and attempting to supervise a truce in the warfare between the central government and the dissident provinces. Kasavubu and his prime minister designate, Ileo, were co-operating with the U.N.

So far as it could be determined here, the Soviet Union was still backing Lumumba.

But the Soviet Union's "technicians" in The Congo were competing with some 16,000 U.N. troops and several hundred civilian specialists.

On the surface, it would appear as if the U.N. and Kasavubu would be able to convert the Congolese army into a force which would support the Kasavubu-Ileo government. With army support, such a government — it was argued — will be able to dispose of the Lumumba opposition.

Outcome Unpredictable.

This view, however, may under-rate the political skill of Lumumba and the power and adroitness of the Soviet Union in backing him. One informed here today said he would take even money on a bet either that Kasavubu would come out on top or that Lumumba would.

Under the circumstances, the Security Council is expected to listen to any and all delegates claiming to represent The Congo government, and will go on from there.

An official report of two attempts yesterday by Lumumba to take over the Leopoldville radio was received here from Rajeshwar Dayal, special representative of Hammarskjold, in The Congo. He described the incident as "an attempt . . . by Mr. Lumumba to seize the Leopoldville radio studio by force."

Commander's Report.

Dayal included a report by the commander of the Ghana brigade repulsing the attempt, which said in part:

"Mr. Lumumba, accompanied by a personal civilian guard and a section of about eight to 10 armed Congolese army personnel . . . arrived at the radio studio. Mr. Lumumba forced his way in, despite the warnings of the Ghana guard which was on duty. On entering the studio, a member of Mr. Lumumba's personal bodyguard drew a pistol at the Ghana non-commissioned officer in charge of the guard.

"The non-commissioned officer with commendable presence of mind immediately disarmed the bodyguard and the Congolese army personnel, with the help of the guard, and ousted the entire party from the radio studio. After protesting loudly, Mr. Lumumba left the studio with his entourage."

There were later incidents, involving larger Congolese army units, the official report states. Finally, Lumumba said he would not order the seizure of the radio studio by force, "but feared the Congolese army and the populace would attempt to do so because of their strong feelings on the subject of the closure of the studio."

U.S. and Russia Opposed.

The Russians continue to issue threats of all-out backing for Lumumba. The United States continues to give the U.N. and Hammarskjold its unconditional support—which by implication means backing the Kasavubu-Ileo government in The Congo.

The exchange of notes between the Soviet Union and Hammarskjold, made public over the weekend, indicates that the Soviet Union has re-stated its intention of supporting Lumumba—and Hammarskjold has been firm in opposing any outside interference in the affairs of The Congo.

The Secretary General's request that all aid to The Congo be channelled through the U.N., in order to isolate that country —and, as much as possible, Africa—from the great-nation power struggle, still stands before the Security Council.

Hammarskjold also has asked the Council for increased financial support for the U.N. operation in The Congo.

Better Meals Build Better Families

Start your personal campaign to serve better meals with breakfast. A little advance planning, perhaps getting up a few minutes earlier, can turn the morning rush into a pleasant period which will start the day on a happy relaxed note. Family breakfasts encourage good eating habits and happy family life. Offer a choice of fruit juices and ready-to-eat cereals; when the weather is a little cooler, serve instant or quick cooking hot cereals for a change. Accompanying story gives other suggestions for avoiding breakfast monotony.

These waffles carry a bonus of breakfast nutrition—they are made with whole wheat flakes. Diet conscious members of the family can top the waffles with cottage cheese and unsweetened applesauce; if calories are no problem, top with bacon and sirup or scrambled eggs and jam.

Have trouble getting your family to eat breakfast? Tempt them with old favorites in new dress. Try hot cinnamon-maple-flavored cling peaches with bacon or pork sausage and waffles (the frozen ones will heat in a jiffy).

Well-Balanced Menus, Happy Atmosphere Both Important Factors

By DOROTHY BRAINERD
Post-Dispatch Food Editor.

Within the next two weeks you will be reading a great deal about the importance of good food to your family. Emphasis upon the theme, "Better Meals Make Better Families," is timed to coincide with the opening of school, the return of most wage earners from their summer vacations and the settling down to normal busy schedules.

Just what is a "better meal?" It is one that is nutritionally well-balanced, of course; but it is far more than that. It is also one which is attractive in appearance and pleasing to the taste.

Your family will be much less interested in eating a good breakfast if you lecture them about their need for protein and vitamins than if you say nothing and tempt them with fresh fruit, bacon and eggs, and a warm, fragrant bread right out of the oven.

In fact, children (and husbands) may build up a sort of mental resistance to certain foods if they are told too often that they are "good for you." It's up to the menu maker to plan wisely and then not overplay her hand with too much talk about nutrition.

However, a meal could meet all of the nutritional requirements, pass the tests of eye appeal and taste appeal, and still fail in one of its most important functions.

Meals should be happy times; brief periods of the day set aside from all worry, tension or argument, reserved for family fun and discussion. This is not mere theory; psychologists say that the anticipation and enjoyment of good food has a beneficial effect upon family life. According to the experts, since human infants and young children cannot provide for themselves, the idea of food becomes intertwined with love and security.

This psychological aspect makes it almost as important to plan an attractive setting and serene atmosphere as to plan a balanced menu. Do give some thought to the tablesetting. It needn't be elaborate, of course, for simple family meals but table linens (even paper napkins) can be colorful; a few fresh flowers or a small plant in the center of the table will go a long way toward creating a pleasant, relaxed mood. Make it a "house rule" never to discuss anything unpleasant at a meal.

Better meals do build better families, not only physically but in the deeper meaning of the phrase. Now is the time to resolve to make a conscious effort to make every meal you serve a "better" meal; the food sections of this newspaper will be devoted, this week and next, to helping you keep that resolution.

It is encouraging to note that Americans are eating far better meals than they did in the past. We can buy food with confidence, knowing that it is the safest, cleanest and most wholesome food in the world. Modern refrigeration and transportation have ended our seasonal eating habits and provided balanced diets the year-around.

The American diet has changed drastically in the past 30 years. Today we are eating 25 per cent more meat, fish and poultry, 50 per cent more citrus fruits and tomatoes, 12 per cent more dairy products and eggs.

The modern homemaker, provided with a vast variety of processed foods, can prepare the daily meals for her family in a fraction of the time it took her just a few years ago.

These processed foods are especially helpful for breakfast, when time is at a premium. The first meal of the day is the logical one with which to start the "better meals" program. Far too many families, adults and children alike, start the day fortified with excuses rather than food. No doubt you have heard all the standard excuses—too rushed, not hungry, trying to diet. Not a one of them is a valid reason for skipping such an important meal.

Too rushed? The few minutes of extra sleep aren't worth the letdown feeling that is bound to come before noon. Non-breakfasters (and that includes the juice-and-black-coffee drinkers) tire easily and become mentally lazy before lunch.

Dieting? Modern, safe reducing diets cut the day's total calories but don't eliminate an entire meal.

Not Hungry? That's entirely a matter of habit.

If breakfast planning is the problem, stop to consider that there are approximately 20 fruits and juices suitable for breakfast, some three dozen cereals, a dozen ways to fix eggs, any number of breakfast meats and breads that can be combined in countless ways.

Never let the breakfast get dull—keep giving your family surprises along the way. Serve grape juice, pineapple juice, tomato juice as an alternate to orange juice.

Choose a variety of breakfast breads—doughnuts, coffee cake, English muffins, homemade fruit breads.

Sausage is a favorite for breakfast; bacon adds interest to the breakfast eggs as well as to French toast and pancakes. Creamed chipped beef provides a delicious change of pace; chicken livers with herbed scrambled eggs are gourmet fare.

To save time, use instant or quickcooking hot cereals that require a minimum of preparation time, or serve ready-to eat cereals.

Set the table the night before; bring milk and fruit juice from the refrigerator, chilled and ready to serve.

Do serve an interesting bread, coffee cake, warm rolls, or toast. The breads may be made ahead of time, then wrap meal-size portions in transparent plastic wrap and freeze. Warm in the oven while coffee brews.

If you must coax appetites in the morning, give an unusual twist to the basic pattern (citrus fruit, cereal or bread, eggs or meat, butter or margarine and milk).

For instance, a platter of broiled orange French toast surrounded with vitamin C-packed fresh orange cartwheels is one way to spark interest in this important meal.

Bread is dipped in a combination of fresh orange juice, beaten eggs and melted butter. It's toasted in the broiler so that all servings can be made at once and in short order. Served with Lemon Butter Squares and a big glass of milk, it's a breakfast in itself.

Broiled Orange French Toast.

Two eggs, slightly beaten.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons sugar.
Three-fourths cup fresh orange juice.
Four tablespoons melted butter or margarine.
Six slices bread.

Combine ingredients in order given. Dip bread in mixture. Put on broiler rack or on oiled cookie sheet.

Place pan so that bread is two inches below broiler unit. Broil three to four minutes or until brown, turn and broil on other side.

Lemon Butter Squares:

One fourth pound butter or margarine.
Two tablespoons grated lemon peel.
One-half cup sugar.
Slice butter or margarine in serving size pats. Combine lemon peel with sugar. Toss butter in mixture. Serve with broiled French toast, toast, pancakes, waffles. Use leftover sugar mixture for beverages.

For a real time-saving menu, use precooked link sausage, heat waffles in the toaster and glaze and heat canned cling peach halves in an electric skillet (heating the pork sausage first.) This way nothing will burn and breakfast can be ready in jig-time with nerves still intact.

Heating the peaches brings out their innate goodness, glazing them with cinnamon sirup makes them delicious with waffles or pancakes.

One No. 2½ can cling peach halves.
One-fourth cup butter or margarine.
One cup maple sirup.
Three-fourths teaspoon cinna-

Now is the time to use fresh plums to bake a delicious Plum Coffee Cake. This cake made with nonfat dry milk is rich, moist and tender with a crunchy crumb topping delicately spiced with cinnamon and covered with firm, juicy plums.

MENU OF THE WEEK
Chilled Tomato Juice
Toasted Egg Cups
Skinless Link Sausage
Plum Coffee Cake
Cocoa Coffee

Plum Coffee Cake.

One and one-half cups sifted, all-purpose flour.
Two teaspoons baking powder.
Three-fourths teaspoon salt.
One-fourth cup sugar.
One-half cup dry nonfat milk.
One egg, slightly beaten.
Three-fourths cup water.
One-fourth cup melted shortening.
Six fresh purple plums, halved.

Crumb Topping:

One-half cup sifted all-purpose flour.
One-half cup sugar.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
One-fourth cup butter or margarine.

Turn on oven and set at 400 degrees (hot). Sift flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and nonfat dry milk together into a one and one-half quart bowl.

Add a mixture of egg, water and melted shortening and beat until smooth. Pour into a greased eight-inch square pan.

Place plum halves on top of batter, skin side down. Mix crumb topping mixture in a one-quart bowl. Cut butter into crumb mixture with fork or pastry blender. Sprinkle crumb mixture on top of plum halves and batter.

Bake 30-35 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve warm.

Lamb Patties, Fiesta Style

Ground lamb can be served in many interesting ways. Wrapping each pattie in a bacon slice is a nice touch; the combination of flavors puts these patties into the epicurean class.

Fiesta Lamb Patties

One pound ground lamb.
Eight slices bacon.
One cup crushed corn flakes.
One cup cooked or canned tomatoes.
One egg.
One small onion, minced.
One teaspoon salt.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Combine lamb, corn flakes, tomatoes, egg and seasonings. Shape into patties three-fourth to one inch thick. Wrap slice of bacon around each patty and fasten with a wooden pick.

Place patties on broiler rack and insert broiler rack and pan so the top surface of the meat is two to three inches from the heat.

When the patties are nicely browned (10 to 12 minutes) turn and continue broiling until the other side is brown, about eight minutes.

Partial Preparation Night Before Speeds Breakfast

A breakfast menu can be prepared the night before, sealed in foil to preserve the food's natural flavors and juices, and stored overnight in the refrigerator. You can do the preparation just ahead of the supper dishes if you like, then clean up all china and utensils.

Just a bit of advance effort the day before produces a feast in the morning. All you have to do is take the food from the refrigerator and place it in a heated oven. While the coffee is dripping and the food is heating, you can be dressing for the day.

Here are some samples of what's possible:

Eggs Benedict With Deviled Ham.
Fried Apples
Toasted English Muffins
Coffee Tea Milk

This one only takes 15 minutes in the morning; you can't do better than that.

Eggs Benedict With Deviled Ham.

Eight English muffins.
Two cans deviled ham.
Eight eggs, poached.

Breakfast Preparation.

Night before:

Split four English muffins; toast cut side under broiler. Spread each half with deviled ham.

Place muffin halves together; wrap in square of aluminum foil, using doubled fold over top and at each end; refrigerate.

Fried apples may be prepared night before; cooled: placed in foil-lined baking pan; covered with square of aluminum foil; refrigerated.

Morning:

Pre-heat oven to 375 degrees. Open foil package of English muffins, separate into halves again; place in oven along with fried apples; bake 15 minutes. While muffins and apples are heating in oven, poach eggs and toast remaining English muffins.

Top each deviled ham muffin with poached egg; serve with fried apples and buttered English muffins.

Yield: Four servings.

Here's another tempting menu, done the easy way:

Fruit Cup or Juice
Scrambled Eggs and Bacon
Blueberry Kuchen
Coffee Tea Milk

This one takes a little longer, but a hot bread for breakfast is worth while.

Blueberry Kuchen

Two packages blueberry muffin mix.

Prepare batter as directed on package. Pour batter into lightly greased nine-inch square cake pan.

Breakfast Preparation

Night before:

Prepare Blueberry Kuchen as directed; pour into nine-inch square cake pan; cover with square of aluminum foil; refrigerate.

Morning:

Pre-heat oven to 400 degrees. Remove foil covering from pan; place in oven; bake 35 minutes. While Blueberry Kuchen is baking, prepare scrambled eggs and bacon.

Defrost Meat

It is best to defrost thin steaks and chops before cooking. Meat which has been defrosted should be cooked as soon as possible.

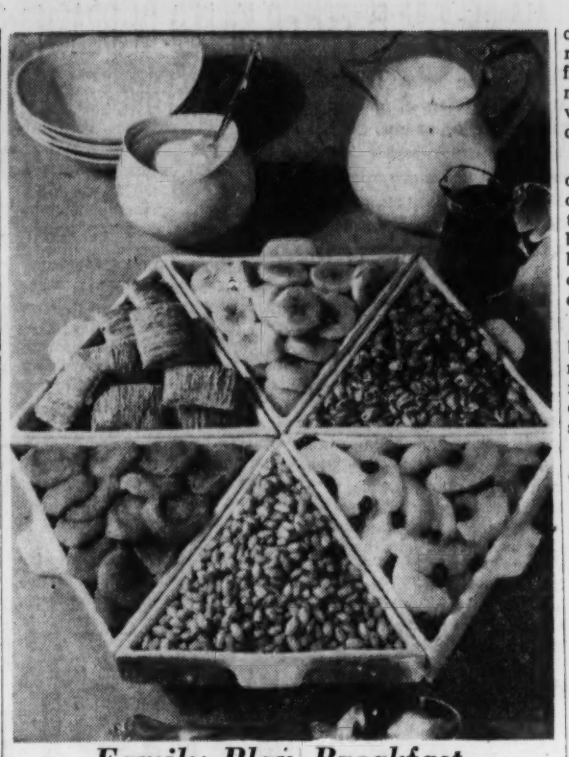
HI!



Family Plan Breakfast

mon.

Toasted frozen waffles.

Cooked pork sausage or bacon.

Drain peaches; melt butter and add peach halves. Drizzle with maple sirup and cinnamon and cook and baste until peaches are hot and glazed. Serve with baked waffles and cooked pork sausage or bacon. Use the remaining sirup to serve over the waffles.

Yield: one and one-fourth cups sirup (five to six servings).

Pancakes with butter and sirup are all-American favorites for breakfast. Serve them with whole oranges, link sausages, sauteed apple rings, hot chocolate, tea or coffee.

One cup milk.

One egg.

One tablespoon melted or liquid shortening.

One cup buttermilk pancake mix.

Place milk, egg and shortening in shaker or glass jar. (If melted shortening is used, add after pancake mix). Add pancake mix and shake vigorously 10 to 15 times, or until batter is fairly smooth.

For each pancake, pour about one-fourth cup batter onto hot lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Serve with butter and sirup.

Variations.

Blueberry Pancakes: Add one-half cup fresh or drained frozen or canned blueberries to above batter. Bake; serve with melted butter and brown sugar.

Ham Surprises: Add one-half cup coarsely chopped cooked ham to pancake batter. Bake and serve with butter and sirup.

Apricot Specials: Bake pancakes as above. Serve with apricot-maple sauce made by simmering one and one-half cups maple sirup for a few minutes, then adding two tablespoons butter and one-half cup apricot nectar.

Banana Pancakes: For each pancake, place four or five banana slices on griddle; pour pancake batter as above over clusters and bake. Serve topped with cinnamon sugar.

Bacon and eggs, familiar breakfast fare, become something special when they are served as part of this delicious breakfast dish which isn't hard to prepare and doesn't take much time.

Bacon-Hawaiian Toast.

Eight slices bacon.

Four eggs.

One teaspoon salt.

Three-fourths teaspoon cinnamon.

Three tablespoon sugar.

One cup pineapple juice.

Eight slices bread.

Bacon drippings.

Four slices pineapple.

Beat eggs until light and fluffy. Add salt, cinnamon, sugar and pineapple juice and beat thoroughly. Soak bread well in this mixture.

Place bacon in a cold frying pan. Cook slowly, turning frequently. Drain fat as it accumulates so the bottom of the pan is only well greased.

Brown pineapple slices lightly in pan with bacon. Save drippings. Continue cooking until the bacon is a light golden brown and evenly crisped. Remove bacon and pineapple slices, return drippings to pan.

Fry bread in drippings until brown on both sides.

Yield: four servings.

Breakfasts suited to the special caloric and nutritional requirements of each member of the family can be accomplished by making one batch of waffles and varying the topping to suit individual needs.

The waffles themselves, crunchy with whole wheat flakes, carry a bonus of breakfast nutrition. The ingredient use of breakfast cereals makes contributions of protein, B vitamins, essential minerals and food energy.

The waffles served father with bacon strips, butter and sirup may have twice the calories of mother's eaten with cottage cheese and unsweetened applesauce.

Small fry and hungry adolescent boys can enjoy a high-calorie treat of scrambled eggs with strawberry jam along with their waffles. Complexion-conscious daughters can join their mothers with the cottage cheese and unsweetened applesauce topping.

Wheat Flake Waffles.

Two cups prepared pancake mix.

Two tablespoons sugar.

One and three-fourths cups milk.

One-half cup melted fat or cooking oil.

Two eggs.

Two cups whole wheat flakes.

Measure pancake mix and sugar into mixing bowl. Add milk, fat or oil and eggs. Stir just until dry particles are moistened. Carefully stir in whole wheat flakes.

Bake in hot waffle iron until brown and crisp.

Yield: two nine-inch square waffles.

Easy Seasoner

One tablespoon of instant minced onion is equivalent in flavor and seasoning to a medium-sized raw onion. Use this easy, pleasant seasoner to give full onion flavor to meat dishes, vegetables, soups and salads.

Salting Tip

Salt steaks and chops after they are browned. Salt has a tendency to draw out moisture, which slows the browning process.

Even the big boss loves a bargain. That's why he and so many others call Long Distance the smart way.

LONG DISTANCE station-to-station calls (to a distant number rather than to a particular person) save you more than one third.

You have three choices. You can: (1) pocket the savings, (2) make three calls for the price of two, or (3) talk longer for less.

Call this easy, economical way now. And call by number . . . it's twice as fast.

BOGUS BILL PRINTER GETS 4-YEAR TERM

Ralph M. Johnson, who printed bougs $10 bills for a counterfeiting ring, was sentenced today to four years in prison by United States District Judge Randolph H. Weber.

Johnson, the sixth and last member of the ring to be convicted, was found guilty by a jury last Aug. 3 of counterfaiting $50,000 in Federal Reserve notes.

The defendant, 34 years old, of 96 Sandau avenue, Shrewsbury, testified he was forced at pistol point to process photographic films of a genuine $10 bill. The man who threatened him was Norman S. Bennett, a former convict, Johnson said. Bennett and three other members of the ring were convicted in Louisiana, where some of the bogus bills were passed.

The ring, headed by Dallas S. Barr, was broken up in August 1959 by Secret Service agents who raided Barr's home in the 900 block of Glen road, Webster Groves. Barr pleaded guilty here last Feb. 12 and was sentenced to four years in prison.

About $10,000 in bogus bills was passed in an area between Chicago and New Orleans. None was passed here, federal agents said.

15 INJURED BY GRENADE TOSSED INTO ALGERIAN CAFE

ALGIERS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Fifteen persons were wounded yesterday by a grenade tossed into a crowded cafe on the Zeralda beach near Algiers. The blast was attributed to Algerian nationalist rebels.

Meanwhile, military sources said 13 tons of explosives were seized in Oran last week from the Yugoslav freighter Zabar, en route to Casablanca. Military authorities said the explosives contraband was destined for Algerian rebels.

S. AFRICA DEPORTS BISHOP WHO OPPOSED SEGREGATION

JOHANNESBURG, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Anglican bishop of Johannesburg, the Rt. Rev. Ambrose Reeves, was deported from South Africa by air today.

Reeves, a frequent outspoken critic of South African government racial segregation policies, had returned to Johannesburg Saturday after being in England five months. He had gone to England because he said he feared arrest.

PAIR HELD ON SUSPICION OF IMPERSONATING OFFICERS

Two young men were held today on suspicion of impersonating policemen in a Saturday night robbery in which they obtained $5 and a watch from Ardie Slayden, 1214 Gaty avenue, East St. Louis. They accosted him in a filling station at Spring avenue and Grandel Square.

The youths are George Perry, 5000 block of Maple avenue, and John Hawkins, 1600 block of Lovejoy lane. They were arrested less than two hours after the robbery in an automobile reported stolen Saturday afternoon.

Slayden was in his car. The men drove alongside him, he said, and identified themselves as policemen. He became suspicious and pulled into the filling station. They followed him and forced him and a companion into their car. After driving around for some time, Slayden and his friend were released.

8 KILLED IN CRASH OF AIR FORCE PLANE

DENVER, Sept. 12 (UPI) — An Air Force C-123 twin-engine cargo plane crashed and burned yesterday in mountain country west of Denver, killing all eight persons aboard.

A rescue party of Air Force personnel and Colorado state patrol officers reached the scene of the crash last night and radioed there were no survivors.

(None of the men aboard was from Missouri or Illinois.)

An Air Force spokesman said apparently no one tried to parachute from the plane before it plunged into a canyon at the 9600 foot level near 11,314-foot Berthoud Pass 55 miles west of Denver.

The C-123 belonged to the Tactical Air Command and was based at Pope Air Force Base, N.C.

Day's Complete New York Stock Transactions

HURRICANE HOLDS STOCKS TO SLOW PACE DROP

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Stocks were blown off course today by huurricane Donna.

The storm held trading down to a snail's pace as volume dropped to its slowest pace in nearly six weeks.

Prices generall were buffeted almost from the start, but absorbed their heaviest pounding in the final hour of trading.

The Associated Press reported that the market declined drearily as Hurricane Donna hampered transportation and communication in New York. Trading was light.

Key stocks were off from fractions to a point or so. A few higher priced or more speculative issues made wider swings. Texas instruments dropped half a dozen points.

The market had a mixed opening, then prices softened as turnover dwindled.

The tone was generally lower for steels, autos, rails, aircrafts, electronics, utilities and nonferrous metals.

Of 1,183 issues traded, 303 advanced and 660 declined. New highs for the year totaled 22 and new lows 39.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.30 to 216.70 with the industrials down 2.20, the rails down .80 to a new low for the year and the utilities down .40.

Based on the fall in the Associated Press average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange declined an estimated $1,800,000,000.

Volume was 2, 160,000 shares compared with 2,750,000 on Friday and was the smallest since Aug. 2 when 2,090,000 shares changed hands.

MIXED BOND PATTERN DON TREASURY REFUNDING

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Bond prices charted a mixed course in dull trading late today.

United States Government issues showed a mixed response to the Treasury's announcement late Friday of an advance refunding plan. Some over-the-counter dealers quoted the intermediate range bonds unchanged to 2-32 higher and the longer range securities 10-32 to 20-32 lower.

The Treasury refunding offer, designed to postpone the average maturity date of the Federal debt, calls for some 2½ per cent World War II bonds maturing between 1967 and 1969 to be exchanged for new 3½ per cent liens coming due in 20, 30 and 38 years.

The plan means that the supply of intermediate securities will dwindle while the supply of long-range bonds will increase, dealers said in explaining today's price shifts.

All sections of the corporate list were mixed.

Uruguay 4⅛s sagged 2½ to 85½. Australia 5¼s rose 1 to 101¼

Activity in the new financing markets will start to pull out of its summer slump this week.

More than $18,000,000 worth of new common stock will be offered. Several large bond issues also are on tap, including $25,000,000 of Virginia Electric & Power Co. bonds tomorrow and $16,000,000 of Utah Power & Light bonds on Wednesday.

The calendar of new municipal bond offerings lists $172,000,000 in new isues against $77,000,000 last week. Th blue list of advertised but unsold municipal issues has climbed to $351,000,000 from $331,000,000 a week ago.

LONDON QUIET, LOWER

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Stock Exchange was quiet and generally lower today.

Investor interest was dampened by the uncertain international scene and prices were sensitive to mild selling pressure.

Losses predominated in the industrial section. Oils were dull and golds easier.

British government bonds were firm on light buying.

LATEST NEWS FROM BUSINESS WORLD

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—A savings and loan industry official predicted today that intense competition in the 1960s will make reductions in business profit margins inevitable.

Norman Strunk of Chicago, executive vice president of the United States Savings and Loan League, said that while some economic seers view the 1960s as a decade of great expansion and prosperity he feels it might be described more accurately as the decade of competition and lower profits.

The savings and loan business, he said, faces not only the competition of commercial banks but also of mortgage bankers wanting to set up new mortgage companies and sell FHA loans to individuals.

Strunk, in an address to the annual convention of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, said home building is in a slump because, nationally, the housing shortage is a thing of the past.

U.S. Economy Today

THE NATIONAL STOCK EXCHANGE

By Sam Dawson

William H. Kester, Post-Dispatch Business Correspondent is on vacation. U. S. Economy Today, by Sam Dawson, Associated Press news analyst, will appear daily.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—A new stock exchange is on the drawing boards. It reverses a trend of recent years when several smaller exchanges combined on a regional basis.

The National Stock Exchange, which hopes to get going here by the end of the year to deal in shares at present unlisted elsewhere, will be the first entirely new one since the Securities and Exchange Commission was set up in 1934. It will make 13 now registered by that agency. There are four unregistered exchanges.

Sam Dawson

Start With Dozen Issues.

The new exchange will start small with probably only a dozen stocks listed. It will offer little threat to the business of the older exchanges. The New York Stock Exchange has stocks of 1141 companies listed and in 1959 did 84 per cent of all trading on the registered exchanges. The American Stock Exchange has about 800 listed, expects 100 new ones this year for the biggest year since the SEC took over. In 1959 it did 9.4 per cent of the national business.

Stocks listed on the newest exchange will come from among the 8000 or more now traded over the counter. And dealers in that flourishing business question whether the National Exchange will put much of a crimp in their trade.

Must Get SEC Approval.

Skeptics in Wall Street wonder why companies now unlisted on other exchanges would want to list on the new outfit, especially since its requirements are roughly the same as those of the American Stock Exchange. But officers of the newcomer say they have a sizable list of applicants and are accepting only a fraction of them.

Other small exchanges also note that companies often like to list on a small or local exchange before trying out the bigger boards. As on all the exchanges, stocks for listing must first be approved by the SEC.

Minimum requirements on the national exchange narrow the list to companies with assets of $1,000,000, with 150,000 common shares in the hands of 500 holders. The American Exchange requires at least 500 public owners (not counting those in management) of at least 100,000 outstanding shares. The New York Stock Exchange minimum is 1500 holders of 400,000 common shares of a company with net income of $1,000,000 and assets of $8,000,000.

All exchanges, including the newcomer, have committees that dig much deeper than that into the affairs of a corporation before listing its stock.

To Be Floor Trade.

Trading on the National Exchange will be on a floor now being prepared in the building of its sponsor, the Mercantile Exchange, which trades in commodities. The Mercantile's nationwide network of 81 tickers will carry the quotations. National Exchange officers expect the network will expand when stock quotations are added.

Most of the nation's big brokerage houses belong to the Mercantile Exchange and are eligible for a seat on the National Stock Exchange. Seats won't be sold to nonmembers of the Mercantile Exchange, where membership cost is now $9950.

A woman, Hilda Polsen, has just purchased a seat on the Mercantile, and thus is eligible, if she chooses, to get a seat on the National Stock Exchange, where she would be the nation's first woman floor trader.

Commissions charged on the new exchange will be roughly the same as on the other two in New York. These are complicated and vary with the amount of the transaction. But, as an example at random, a block of 100 shares of a $50 stock, costing $5000, commands a commission of $44 on the New York Stock Exchange. The American and National costs would be closely comparable.

Trading Hours Same.

Trading hours also will be the same, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and floor operations siimlar, with the familiar trading posts, member traders, stock specialists, and $2 brokers doing business for other exchange members.

All three exchanges in New York are strictly auction markets where stocks are traded on a bid and asked basis. The over-the-counter market, where the new stocks to be listed are now traded, is a dealers' market, where prices are set by the dealers after feeling out buyers and sellers.

FINISHED STEEL PRODUCTS SHIPMENTS FROM MILLS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—July shipments of finished steel products direct from mills climbed to 4,710,565 net tons this year from 4,131,267 net tons a year earlier when operations were affected by the general steel industry strike, the American Iron & Steel Institute reported.

For the first seven months of 1960, shipments fell to 47,569,952 net tons, down 9.1 per cent from the 52,333,600 shipped in the corresponding period last year.

CHARGE ON RUG SHAMPOOS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission charged three distributors of rug and upholstery shampoos today with making false claims about the cleaning qualities of their products. The complaints were filed against Bissell Inc., of Grand Rapids, Mich., Glamorene, Inc., of Clifton, N.J.; and E. R. Wagner Manufacturing Co. of Milwaukee and its subsidiary, Glamur Products, Inc., of Syracuse, N.Y.

The FTC charged the firms with falsely aovertising that their applicators and shampoos are as effective as professional rug cleaning and that the products clean merely by wiping on the shampoo and letting it dry.

C & O OFFER FOR B & O STOCK EXPIRES; BOARD MEETS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12 (AP)—Directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway met today to discuss the C&O campaign to acquire shares of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The C&O offer for B&O shares expires today. However, there has been speculation that the directors will extend the time limit in the campaign to acquire 80 per cent or more of the Baltimore shares.

A company spokesman said the acquisition of B&O shares was just one item on a lengthy agenda at today's meeting.

C&O president Walter Tuohy said Saturday 22 to 23 per cent of the outstanding Baltimore shares had been tendered to Chesapeake. The company stipulated in its original offer to B&O shareholders that Chesapeake reserved the right to withdraw the offer if fewer than 80 per cent of the Shares were tendered.

The New York Central system has made a rival offer aimed at a merger with Baltimore. The Central, whose offer expires Sept. 26, has not said now many shares have been tendered to it.

Central offers 1½ shares of Central stock and $9 in cash for each share of Baltimore common.

Chesapeake offered one share of C&O common for each 1¾ shares of Baltimore common and also offered one share of C&O for each share of Baltimore preferred.

C&O sought 80 per cent of the Baltimore shares, which would permit consolidated balance sheets. This would make Chesapeake not subject to taxes on dividends received from its Baltimore shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Only income per share as stated by corporations is given in following table. In some instances comparisons with preceding year may show wide swings (gains or losses) which may be due income or some extenuating or substantial influence or in case of nonrecurring benefits on preceding year increase in number of shares may distort per share figures. STEEL RATE UP FROM LABOR WEEK SLACK

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Steel production will increase somewhat this week as mills snap back from lower output caused last week by the Labor Day holiday.

The American Iron and Steel Institute predicted production would come to 1,503,000 tons, equal to 52.7 per cent of capacity, compared with actual production last week of 1,401,000 tons or 49.2 per cent.

A month ago weekly output came to 1,558,000 tons and a year ago, during the prolonged strike, production was only 356,000 tons a week.

Output by districts with percentage estimate for this week and actual production last week: northeast coast 56 53; Buffalo 59 55; Pittsburgh 44 38; Youngstown 42 36; Cleveland 52 45; Detroit 72 70; Chicago 60 58; Cincinnati 55 53; St. Louis 72 64; Southern 47 50; and Western 56 52.

LOCAL AREA STEEL RATE MOVED UP TO 66.1 PER CENT

Estimated steel production in the St. Louis area in the current week is scheduled at 66.1 per cent of weekly operating capacity, equal to 25,873 tons, compared with an actual percentage rate last week of 56.5 and tonnage of 22,130, the Federal Reserve Bank reported.

RETAIL SALES HELD STEADY IN AUGUST WITH JULY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Commerce Department said a preliminary survey indicates retail sales held steady last month at $18.1 billion.

The board said that after adjustments for seasonal trends and trading day differences, deliveries by both durable goods stores and dealers in soft goods were unchanged from July.

There was some pickup in automobile sales, the board said, but this was offset by declines in other major lines of trade.

The report was based on a survey of chains which operate about 39,000 stores across the nation.

TO EXPLAIN REFUNDING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Treasury expects its new advance refunding operation to puzzle a lot of people, so it will hold special explanatory meetings in New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

Top debt management officials will meet with all interested investors at the Federal Reserve Banks in the three cities at 3 p.m., local time Wednesday. They will discuss the refunding and answer questions.

Under Secretary Julian B. Baird will be in New York, Charls E. Walker in Chicago and J. Dewey Daane in San Francisco.

Walker and Daane are assistants to Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

DISCUSS LOANS IN U.S.

LUXEMBOURG, Sept. 12 (AP)—Three American financial representatives have discussed the launching on the American financial market soon of a long-term $30,000,000 European coal and steel community loan, well-informed sources said here.

Another loan of $12,000,000 spread over three to five years is also being considered.

The American delegates represented the First Boston Co., the Kuhn & Loeb Bank of New York and the Lazard Brothers Bank of New York.

ODD LOT TRANSACTIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange reported today these odd lot transactions by principal dealers for Sept. 9: Purchases of 290,892 shares; sales of 257,270 shares including 1691 shares sold short.

SOYBEANS LOWER ON CROP ESTIMATE

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Government's bearish September crop report caught soybean futures traders by surprise and prices slumped sharply today on the Board o f Trade.

In the early afternoon some contracts were down almost three cents a bushel with selling pressure showing no signs of easing.

The grains were mostly slightly lower in dull dealings. Brokers said they appeared to be unaffected by the September crop forecast.

The outlook for a soybean yield of 566,000,000 bushels, as seen by the Department of Agriculture, is far above most expectations in the trade. Some had thought the figure would be as low as 545 million bushels. Last month's estimate was 548,000,000.

Sheraton Quarter.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sheraton Corp. of America reported its profits for the quarter ended July 31 fell to $626,345, or 12 cents a share. Earnings in the corresponding 1959 period came to $945,421, or 19 cents a share. Gross sales edged up to $49,810,518 from $49,725,099. President Ernest Henderson attributed the decline in profits largely to the lower earnings of Thompson Industries, subsidiary which makes auto parts. Sheraton runs a chain of 55 hotels.

Mississippi Valley Stockyards.

Mississippi Valley Stockyards, Inc., reported as follows: Bulk of good to choice steers and butcher yearlings $22@ 24.50; better beef cows $14@15; top sausage bulls $18.50; most good to choice veals $21@27.

HOGS—Bulk of U.S. 1-3 grade 180-250 lbs. $16.35@16.50; uniform meat types to $16.65; heavy packing sows $13@13.50.

SHEEP—Most good to choice slaughter lambs $17@19; handpicked kinds up to $20.50; aged slaughter sheep $4 down.

Slightly Higher Temperatures

—Associated Press Wirephoto
Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

Slightly higher temperatures were forecast for the St. Louis area for tomorrow. Temperatures tonight will be lower, however, the Weather Bureau said. Fair skies were predicted.

Cool, dry weather prevailed over Missouri and Illinois during the weekend. High temperatures yesterday ranged from the mid 70s in northern Illinois to the mid 80s in southern Missouri. The only precipitation was a few showers in northern Illinois.

Hurricane Donna continued to move on a northeasterly course along the Atlantic coast this morning. The center of the storm was expected to pass over the Norfolk, Va., area this morning and to move toward eastern Long Island later today. Hurricane warnings were in effect as far north as Portsmouth, N.H.

Rainfall was heavy through the hurricane area, but amounts in many areas were not immediately available because of communication failure. More than 4½ inches fell on Cherry Point, N.C., in a six-hour period, and more than one inch drenched eastern Virginia.

Thundershowers developed along a cold front in the Lake Michigan area, but rainfall was generally light. Some thunderstorm activity was also observed in southwest Idaho and northern Nevada.

Reports Too Little Long-Range Planning on Atoms for Peace

By THOMAS W. OTTENAD
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 — A congressional subcommittee reported today there has been too little long-range planning as to how best to harness nuclear energy for peaceful purposes.

In a report that envisioned using the power of the atom for projects ranging from exploration of outer space to gigantic excavation work, it called for a joint effort by experts in government, university and industrial laboratories to outline areas for possible development.

The recommendations were made by the research and development subcommittee of the joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. The subcommittee held hearings last March, at which scientists outlined potential long-range applications of nuclear energy.

'Vital to Survival.'

Representative Melvin Price (Dem.), East St. Louis, who is chairman of the subcommittee, and Senator Clinton P. Anderson (Dem.), N.M., chairman of the full committee, in a joint statement, said it was "vital to the survival of our nation" to maintain supremacy in research and development of uses for atomic energy.

The report warned that development of even short-term practical uses of atomic energy is lagging behind basic research. Additional effort is needed to make certain that longer-range projects are undertaken, it added.

Asserting that in the past the conversion of research knowledge to practical use has too often been "haphazard," the subcommittee urged improved methods to encourage "a long view in technology."

As a first step, it recommended that outstanding scientists be asked to explore and describe promising areas for applied use of nuclear energy.

It said laboratories of the Atomic Energy Commission and private universities could play a particularly important role in this process. It urged emphasis on "imaginative development of new areas."

Annual Budget Problem.

The subcommittee said "perhaps the greatest problem" facing long-range projects resulted from the Government's year-to-year budgeting procedure. It said the projects need long-term assurance of adequate financing.

The subcommittee said its hearings showed that scientists already envision a number of far-reaching uses for nuclear energy. Work on some of the projects already is under way.

The report predicted that nuclear energy will become increasingly important for propelling space vehicles, particularly for interplanetary flight. Conventional propulsion systems, it said, will not be adequate for the extremely heavy payloads that will be involved.

The report said that there was general agreement that the present Rover program should be pushed as rapidly as possible. The Rover project seeks development of a heat-exchanger type of nuclear rocket.

Other types of nuclear propulsion systems for space vehicles were discussed in the report. Among them was the current project Orion. It is investigating the feasibility of releasing small fission bombs from a space vehicle and then exploding them to give successive propulsion impulses to the craft.

The report described a proposal for using underground nuclear blasts to release large oil deposits in Alberta, Canada. It is believed the underground field may contain as much as 600 billion barrels of oil.

The use of nuclear explosions for earth-moving purposes seems to offer unusual promise, the subcommittee stated. In this connection it suggested huge earthen dams could be created simply by using nuclear blasts to collapse entire canyon walls.

It placed emphasis on Project Sherwood, a research program in how to produce fully controlled power and heat from nuclear fusion of heavy hydrogen isotopes. The report noted such a system should be less hazardous than atomic reactors because it lacks any fission products.

Also mentioned was current research seeking ways for directly converting heat energy from nuclear and solar sources into electrical energy.

Despite Shift to Hard Line, Feeling Persists in Moscow Nothing Basic Has Changed

After Summit Blowup, Spy Expose, Khrushchev's Belligerent Posturing, People Act as If They'd Been Through It All Before.

This is the first of four articles by Max Frankel, a correspondent of the New York Times, who has just returned from three years in Moscow.

By MAX FRANKEL

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.

DESPITE THE RAGE in Pravda and the rasp of the radio, Moscow is calm and stoic in this season of disintegrating Soviet-United States relations.

People seem concerned but not alarmed. They seem to be sorry, not angry. They give no sign that they feel they are being pushed on a new and perilous course—they give the impression that they have been through it all before.

"People" is a big word. There are many Russians to whom foreign affairs mean nothing so long as they are sure, as they still are, that war is not close. There are many who regard all politics as they regard the weather, as something to be enjoyed or bewailed and, sometimes, something to be talked about.

But the thoughtful Russians who talk and the Westerners in their midst see a familiar pattern in the storms that are erupting from the Kremlin. They still hope that in time the clouds will pass again.

THEIR THOUGHTS were best expressed perhaps by an experienced Western diplomat in Moscow early this summer. His desk was littered with piles of papers representing the wreckage of months of patient negotiation. The attacks on President Eisenhower were becoming more vicious each day and the world was searching for an explanation of the Soviet turnabout. There were theories about Kremlin intrigues, about sinister forces in Communist China and belligerent ones in the Soviet armed forces.

"Oh, for the moment I fear the worst," the diplomat said, "When these things get going, there's no guarantee that even Nikita Khrushchev can always control them as he would like.

"But this is nothing new. We're back where we were two years ago."

What Moscow was unfolding, he thought, was not a new policy, but an old, unhappily familiar tactic. Other foreigners in the Soviet Union and a good number of Mussovites agreed.

The familiar pattern that they sensed is still being embellished each day by the news from Moscow. It is the pattern of angry notes and ugly incidents, of protests and expulsions, of spy scares and of rocket threats, well-orchestrated and well amplified. It is the "hard" line again, the "tough" stage, the "position of strength."

WHEN PEOPLE in Moscow talked of a two-year setback they really had two things in mind.

They recalled that only two years had passed since they had read the same threats of rockets — not over the island of Cuba but over the islands of Quemoy, Matsu and Formosa. They had heard the same warnings of intervention and "volunteers" — not in The Congo but in Lebanon.

They had witnessed the same expulsions of diplomats, attaches and tourists. They had received the same long and cold letters intended not for the presidents and prime ministers to whom they were addressed but for the newspapers, the radios and the propagandists.

And when they talked of a setback of two years, or one year, or three, they were expressing their fears that the name-calling and tough posturing would quickly destroy the atmosphere of reasonableness and respect that it had taken so long to create.

It was an atmosphere that representatives in Moscow of the East and West had come to value, the kind of atmosphere the officials needed to entertain each other in their homes, to call each other by their first names and to negotiate, stubbornly but hopefully, to contain the struggle between them.

Now all was turning sour. Propagandists had displaced the diplomats again; noise had displaced communication.

THE TOTAL COLLAPSE of meaningful contact was what diplomats and Russians alike meant when they said they feared the "worst." At no time this summer did they fear war, precisely because they recognized the old tactics and because many of them felt that they understood why the Soviet leaders had found it necessary to switch so suddenly from "soft" to "hard."

Sooner or later they expected them to switch back again.

"No dinner date now," a highly-placed Russian told an American official in those first days after the U-2 was downed.

"Aren't we supposed to talk any more?" the American asked.

"There is no alternative to talk—some day," was the reply.

That was the feeling that dominatd Moscow as the Kremlin began to play out the U-2 drama toward its courtroom climax, as the summit conference and many other negotiations collapsed. It was a feeling that, despite all the changes between soft and hard tactics, nothing basic had changd at all.

Demonstrably, the basic objectives of the Soviet leaders had not changed. The question was why they chose to be gentle one moment and tough the next, and why they switch when they do.

AFTER LOOKING OVER some of the rash explanations coming from the West, a Russian intellectual, who is by no means committed to the Communist cause, sought out a departing American with a special message.

"Ask them, in your country," he said, "how long it will be before they realize that our government is a government of humans, pragmatic humans, who devise tactics from month to month for fairly constant objectives, and, in fact, often just muddle through the way all governments do?"

He was suggesting, and most observers in Moscow tend to agree, that the world's image of the Kremlin seemed to fluctuate much more erratically than the policies of the Soviet leaders in pursuing their objectives.

For example, the extension of Communist influence beyond the Soviet bloc has always been a central purpose of Soviet foreign policy. It has been energetically pursued since Stalin's death whether the tactics were soft or hard. It is a policy that seeks popular support and official indebtedness in weak nations like Cuba and the Congo. And it strives to undermine the stability of more resistant nations like Japan.

NO MATTER WHAT its posture, soft or hard—with or without rocket threats — Moscow would have moved rapidly into what it sensed to be a vacuum

The house in Yorba Linda, Calif., where the Republican nominee was born, Jan. 9, 1913.

IN THE STORIED format of poor but honest folk, Nixon's parents gave each a name, a religion, a political identification, and the basis for a way of life. "Allowances" and "spending money" were unheard of. The honorableness of hard work was emphasized as a matter of necessity.

Richard began to earn his way as soon as he was big enough to hire himself out as a part-time farm laborer. He was 10 or 11, and picking beans was his first specialty. ("It was awfully hard work, I can tell you.")

Over the years the boy's main work was in the general store his father opened. He pumped gasoline, culled rotten potatoes and apples, delivered groceries, and on entering college he became manager of the vegetable department and bookkeeper. There were many outside jobs to supplement the income.

What with jobs, school and studies, 16-hour workdays were commonplace for Nixon before he was 16 years old. They still are. "I can't do anything about it," he told me. "I still have to learn to pace myself."

ON HIS FATHER'S SIDE, Nixon's forebears were tough, straitlaced, Bible-pounding Methodists. His mother's family were devout and gentle Quakers. They tolerated violence only to save bodies and souls—mainly those of runaway slaves.

Grant Smith, an aged resident of Columbus, Indiana, says the countryside where he lives is filled with descendants of slaves rescued by one of the most effective underground railroad operations in the nation. It was run, at their peril, by the Milhouses and fellow Quakers in Southern Indiana.

Whittier, California, was first among the places that markedly affected Nixon. He grew up there. Washington, D.C. — the Washington he knew for months in 1942 as a minor bureaucrat in an entangled war agency—was second. It set and hardened much of his political philosophy.

NIXON'S MOTHER, Hannah Milhous, came in an early wave of emigrants from Butlerville, Indiana. His father happened upon Whittier much later. It was after the turn of the century, in fact.

Much of Richard Nixon's early life centered at the East Whittier Friends Meeting House—the Quaker church — where he and his family attended one form of service or another four times on Sunday and several times during the week. Richard

Rival Tickets Nearly Even In Dixie Poll

Kennedy Is Given 47 Pct., Nixon 45, With Remainder Undecided.

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N.J., Sept. 12.

THE RIVAL 1960 tickets are running neck-and-neck today in the traditionally Democratic South.

In a special Gallup Poll analysis of Southern voting preferences in the initial stages of this year's campaign, Kennedy and Johnson poll 47 per cent, Nixon and Lodge poll 45 per cent, while 8 per cent are undecided.

These results are based on all interviews made in the South during the last four weeks. Voters were interviewed in two successive waves in 82 sampling areas throughout the 13 Southern states.

A total of 805 Southerners were interviewed in their homes by Gallup Poll reporters. Each person was asked a total of 41 questions—covering not only his political attitudes and behavior, but also questions concerning his age, occupation, education, religion and other aspects of his socio-economic background. These questions are asked in order to make certain that the sample is representative.

EACH SOUTHERNER was asked about his voting preference as follows:

"If the election were being held today, which ticket would you vote for—Nixon and Lodge or Kennedy and Johnson?"

As they were asked the question, voters were shown a card listing the two tickets under the headings of their respective political parties.

The results:

Kennedy-Johnson and Lean Kennedy-Johnson,	47%
Nixon-Lodge and Lean Nixon-Lodge	45
Undecided	8

If the 8 per cent who said they were undecided are divided in the same ratio as the "de-

Religion a Factor in Campaign In as Many as 15 to 18 States

WITH THE KENNEDY CAMPAIGN IN TEXAS, Sept. 12.

WHAT HAS BECOME evident is that in perhaps as many as 15 to 18 states in the South and the Midwest Senator John F. Kennedy's religion has become a factor in the campaign. There are those who believe it can be the factor determining whether he wins or loses in November.

One of these states is Texas with its 24 electoral votes. Kennedy is campaigning hard from one side of the state to the other in the belief that his personal appeal and a discussion of the paramount issues of war, peace, national security, the growth of the economy will override the question of his religion.

But it is difficult or impossible to gauge its effect. It is like a fire in a coal mine, as one Kennedy strategist put it, which can be suppressed at one point only to go on smoldering far underground and out of reach. That is one reason why the polls are likely to be more wrong this time than ever before. The average American is reluctant to say that this is why he will not vote for the Democratic candidate.

DESPITE SEVERAL efforts to make his own viewpoint clear, there is still confusion over Senator Kennedy's position.

It is very simple. For those who oppose him simply because he is a Catholic he says that he can make no response. This attitude of prospective voters violates the provision in the Constitution that there shall be no religious test for office.

Moreover it is like saying that you oppose a man because of the color of his eyes or the cut of his hair, as Kennedy sees it. He was born a Catholic, he lives a Catholic and that is that.

When it comes to the relationship between th Catholic Church and the state and the question of religious freedom, Senator Kennedy is prepared to answer any and all questions.

He believed that he had long since made his position on the separation of church and state unmistakably clear. And he and those helping him map his campaign thought the question had been laid to rest in the West Virginia primary where he won handsomely, despite an attack on his religion, in a state in which the Catholic population is put at 5 per cent or less.

THE QUESTION of the separation of church and state is a broad field covered by a massive literature. One of the latest contributors to that literature is Bishop James Pike, the Episcopal bishop of Northern California, who spoke at the Michigan fair on the day before Kennedy's appearance there.

Both in his speech and in his recently published book, "A Roman Catholic in the White House," Bishop Pike takes the view that to oppose Kennedy merely because he is a Catholic is bigotry.

That is what Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and the other Protestant ministers joining to form the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom seem to be doing. In his Los Angeles press conference Kennedy interpreted their statements as impugning his loyalty.

What Bishop Pike goes on to do in his book is to discuss the position of the Catholic Church in America in detail. He raises the question of the priority of a long series of papal encyclicals affirming the church's authority over every area of life and its inherent supremacy in the religious field as against the "American interpretation" as put forward by some Catholic theologians in this country. Under this interpretation the separation of church and state is accepted as a fact of American life.

THAT IS THE AREA in which Kennedy is prepared to discuss the whole question. His statements of the past year have been in line with this interpretation. As one result, he has come under attack from some of the publications of his own church.

Whatever the moral, theological and philosophical arguments, this has become also a matter of practical politics. In the Pa-

Letters from the People

To Motivate Self-Help

You are right when you say that there is a need for greater community understanding and concern outside the Pruitt project.

Where were the people who should have been concerned when these ugly apartments crowding over 10,000 humans in less than a 10-block area were first planned?

St. Louis is a residential city, not an apartment city; people prefer to live in buildings of two to four stories. This is true of the poor as well as the more economically secure. There is an aversion to high rise living in St. Louis.

The Carr Square Village project which is adjacent to the Pruitt and Vaughn apartments has been there for years and has received little or no publicity. It is composed of two-story dwellings where people can live decently and take responsibility for the property on which they live.

Who can be responsible for the property or the behavior of others in a building where over a thousand persons live? Such apartments were built as a cheap, easy way of removing people like cattle from one part of the city to another without any regard for them and their individual needs as human beings.

Where are the people who should be concerned when news stories and radio broadcasts about incidents in the projects tend to be exaggerated?

Think for a moment: In your block if there is some excitement and people are curious, they come out to see what's going on. Suppose in your block several hundred people lived and they gathered to see what was going on, would you call this a "mob"?

Let's use some common sense in reporting the news and stop overdramatizing the facts.

Finally, where are the people who should be concerned when a family desires to move from public housing?

If a man is to move his family, he must be able to earn a decent living; someone must be willing to hire him and give him on-the-job training if he needs it; he must be accepted for union membership if he is eligible; he must be able to find a decent home at a decent price in a decent neighborhood, not another decaying one.

He must be able to get a loan without bargaining his life away in order to purchase a home; he must be able to encourage his children to do better than he; he must be able to tell them that in St. Louis a man is held in regard for striving and being a good citizen—for a good citizen of a community is eligible for the good things of life inherent in a democratic society.

But the sad truth of the matter is that a Negro father and mother in St. Louis have the overwhelming job of motivating their children in spite of community unconcern and negativism. No matter how much one respects authority; no matter how well one is skilled in a vocation; no matter how much education one attains, we must face the same rigid patterns of racial discrimination.

This must be changed, or there is no motivation for improvement.

Anita Lyons Bond

Our Polluted Streams

I have just returned from visiting my father in St. Louis, my home until 1942.

The city has shown wonderful progress since my last visit in 1954. This is over-shadowed by corruption of the streams such as Gravois creek and the Meramec river. I used to swim and fish in places where now I would not drop a hook or stick a toe.

In California, as you know, we are very water-conscious and this condition of your streams would be considered criminal.

I know most people out here will not believe the mistreatment of the streams until I show them the pictures I took. J. A. Wethmeller

As A Union Sees It

Let us not be too quick to condemn Mike Quill of the TWU.

I am sure his union went through the long, drawn-out procedures of the Railway Labor Act before being free to strike, and further that he had the vote of the majority of the members in calling the strike.

As the union representative for 500 members of Local 44 of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, I can make the statement that 90 per cent of our members would have voted to strike before accepting the paltry 5 cents per hour that our national leaders accepted after 15 months' negotiations.

Indecision in the South

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina says the national Democratic ticket has not aroused vast enthusiasm in his state. Democratic campaign managers have expressed concern for the ticket in Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee, North Carolina, Florida and Texas, while there have been some signs of rebellion in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas.

The National States Rights party has come out with a strange ticket of Gov. Faubus of Arkansas and retired Adm. John G. Crommelin of Alabama, a racist and anti-Semite. In Virginia the Committee for Constitutional Government is petitioning for a third party ticket of Senator Byrd and Senator Goldwater of Arizona. But neither Gov. Faubus nor Senators Byrd and Goldwater have encouraged these moves. The third party movement seems to have been left at the post.

This year Southern extremists were relying, instead, on the "free elector" plan. Five states permit placing unpledged electors on the ballot. The notion behind this plan was that if all five withheld their electoral votes from the national ticket and the election was close, the decision might be thrown into the House of Representatives. There the Southerners would have some leverage on the national parties by holding a balance of power.

History was against this plan, since presidential elections have been put to the House only twice, the last time in 1824. Now current events are running against it.

Mississippi Democrats voted for unpledged electors, but also voted to put the national ticket on the ballot. Louisiana's State Democratic Committee turned down the free electors plan. Alabama's electors, already chosen, include six independent and five pledged to the ticket. South Carolina will stick to that ticket. Georgians will vote Sept. 14 in a purely advisory referendum on whether they want independent electors. But even if they do, the law permitting such a scheme faces a constitutional test, and Gov. Vandiver has said he would vote for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

If the free elector scheme is collapsing, as seems likely, in what other way can the South reject the Democratic national ticket? Simply by voting Republican, as five states did in 1956. These were Texas, Tennessee and Florida, on the fringes of the Solid South, and Louisiana and Virginia.

In 1956, however, Southerners, like many other Americans, were attracted by the strong personal pull of President Eisenhower, and the civil rights issue between the parties was fairly sharp. At least, Adlai Stevenson sharpened it. In 1960, both parties have strong rights platforms, and the candidates of both must pay more heed to populous Northern states than to the South.

Yet on civil rights as on so many other issues, the two major candidates still have to spell out their precise differences. Their campaigns have yet to catch fire, and the South is no different from the rest of the nation in lack of generous enthusiasm. Only a sharpening of positions can help Southern voters and voters everywhere to make up their minds.

Private Redevelopment

To inspire financial, realty and development groups, the Milwaukee Gas Light Co. has announced an architectural competition for the design of a block of new row houses and an inner garden. An actual block in an older section of the city has been chosen for hypothetical rebuilding.

The competition is to show "the great benefits to the community and the opportunity for profitable investment that can result from intelligent re-use of land." The announcement would be even more interesting if it carried the word that the winning plan would be carried out. But that is not the regular business of a gas company, although a utility in Savannah, Ga., did pull down and handsomely rebuild a slum area.

St. Louisans by now are familiar with what can be done when land is made available for redevelopment by a governmental subsidy. There must be opportunities also for profitable rebuilding on private initiative. Such projects would be more modest than the Mill Creek Valley job. But in the aggregate they could add much to the transformation of the city. Old houses in the West End are being replaced by apartments. Why not a whole block? Or even several blocks?

Ups and Downs of Saturn

President Eisenhower, in dedicating the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., gave evidence of being impressed with a test model of the eight-engined Saturn super rocket which is designed to boost huge satellites into orbit. If everything goes as planned, Saturn is expected to put the United States ahead of Soivet Russia in weight-lifting capacity by 1965.

It is unfortunate that Mr. Eisenhower did not become interested in Saturn in 1958 when Saturn was starving for funds and Wernher von Braun, the nation's leading missileman, was crying for money to develop it. Then there was the move to cancel Saturn and concentrate on a huge single-engined rocket. This would have delayed the big booster program for another three years. It was only last January that enough money was promised to successfully push the project.

Now that Saturn has been integrated with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration program, the Pentagon, which once spurned it, is knocking at NASA's door with inquiries about the rocket with the 1,500,000 pounds of thrust. Saturn has had its share of ups and downs.

$30,000 for the Women

The seven Leagues of Women Voters of St. Louis and St. Louis county are seeking the modest sum of $30,000 to support their programs over the next 12 months. We are most happy to indorse this fund drive. Judging by the record, the women of the Leagues will provide service to their communities that will be worth several times that sum.

While the Leagues are nonpartisan and do not support individual candidates for public office, they do present candidates to the voters at public forums and distribute factual information on the candidates and their voting records. Politics being what it is, the Leagues' fact sheets are probably the most objective material that the voter can obtain. The Leagues do take positions on issues, but only after careful study and evaluation, and in this connection they have worked hard for improved educational opportunities and for better charters for local governments, among other things. In short, the women are performing an educational function that is essential to the proper working of democratic government.

Mr. Dyer Should Go

The St. Louis School Board as a rule ought to accept the advice of the professionals the members employ to advise them. An exception to that policy is reasonable only when there are clear indications to the contrary, as in our judgment there are in the case of Board Member Charles J. Dyer. The public interest certainly calls for an ouster suit to be brought by the Board against Mr. Dyer.

Emmet T. Carter, the Board's attorney, distinguishes the case of Mr. Dyer from that of Mrs. Irma H. Friede on the ground that Mr. Dyer personally paid the school mechanics who worked on their own time on his home, while Mrs. Friede used school employes on school time.

Given the precedent of the McCaffery case, in which the St. Louis Court of Appeals held that Dr. James J. McCaffery's use of school employes on school time constituted "gross misconduct" and cause for his ouster, Mr. Carter had no alternative but to recommend that the Board proceed against Mrs. Friede. Her case is a precise parallel to Dr. McCaffery's. But Mr. Carter recommended no action against Mr. Dyer, who has refused to take the grand jury's advice and resign for the good of the school system and its employes.

School Board members are not subject to recall, but instead are subject to the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court, which can exercise its authority only when a complaint has been made to it. An ouster suit against Mr. Dyer would constitute such an action and permit the courts to decide the many questions raised by the Dyer case. Among them are these:

Is it proper for a School Board member to employ school workers to advance his own private causes even if he pays them? Is it proper to pay these employes flat rates (instead of overtime) even though they work nights, Saturdays, Sundays and on holidays? Is it proper for a School Board member like Mr. Dyer to accept for election purposes a $2000 contribution from the very Board employes for whom he must determine wage rates and working conditions?

In our judgment the court should be asked to decide these questions. Failure of the Board to act against Mr. Dyer will have the practical effect of a judgment by the Board that this kind of activity is proper. Is that what Board President H. Lee Bruns and his colleagues want to say to the people of St. Louis?

Esq.

Gov. Blair says he will soon name ten Missourians "Missouri Squires" for outstanding services, in hope that this will become a self-perpetuating group of 100 members, carrying gold-headed canes along with their titles. Esquire is a good old title, says the Governor, reminiscent of a rural past without taint of royalty.

Well, Kentucky has its colonels (Missouri has those, too), Nebraska has its prairie admirals, and on such compelling logic this state may as well have its squires. But it ought to know what it is getting. The original esquires were shield-bearers, not cane-carriers. The word came into English via Latin and Old French, to describe the man who carried a knight's armor for him. The squire was ranked a gentleman, but below the knight. Nothing royal about him, obviously.

Later on, squires were usually landed gentry, and that is what they were in rural America, though later the title was often assumed by justices of the peace. Today, there are as few squires left around as there are shield-bearers. This is the gaping hole in American titledom which the Governor thinks must be filled forthwith, and from Missouri, Esq.

Success at Bogota

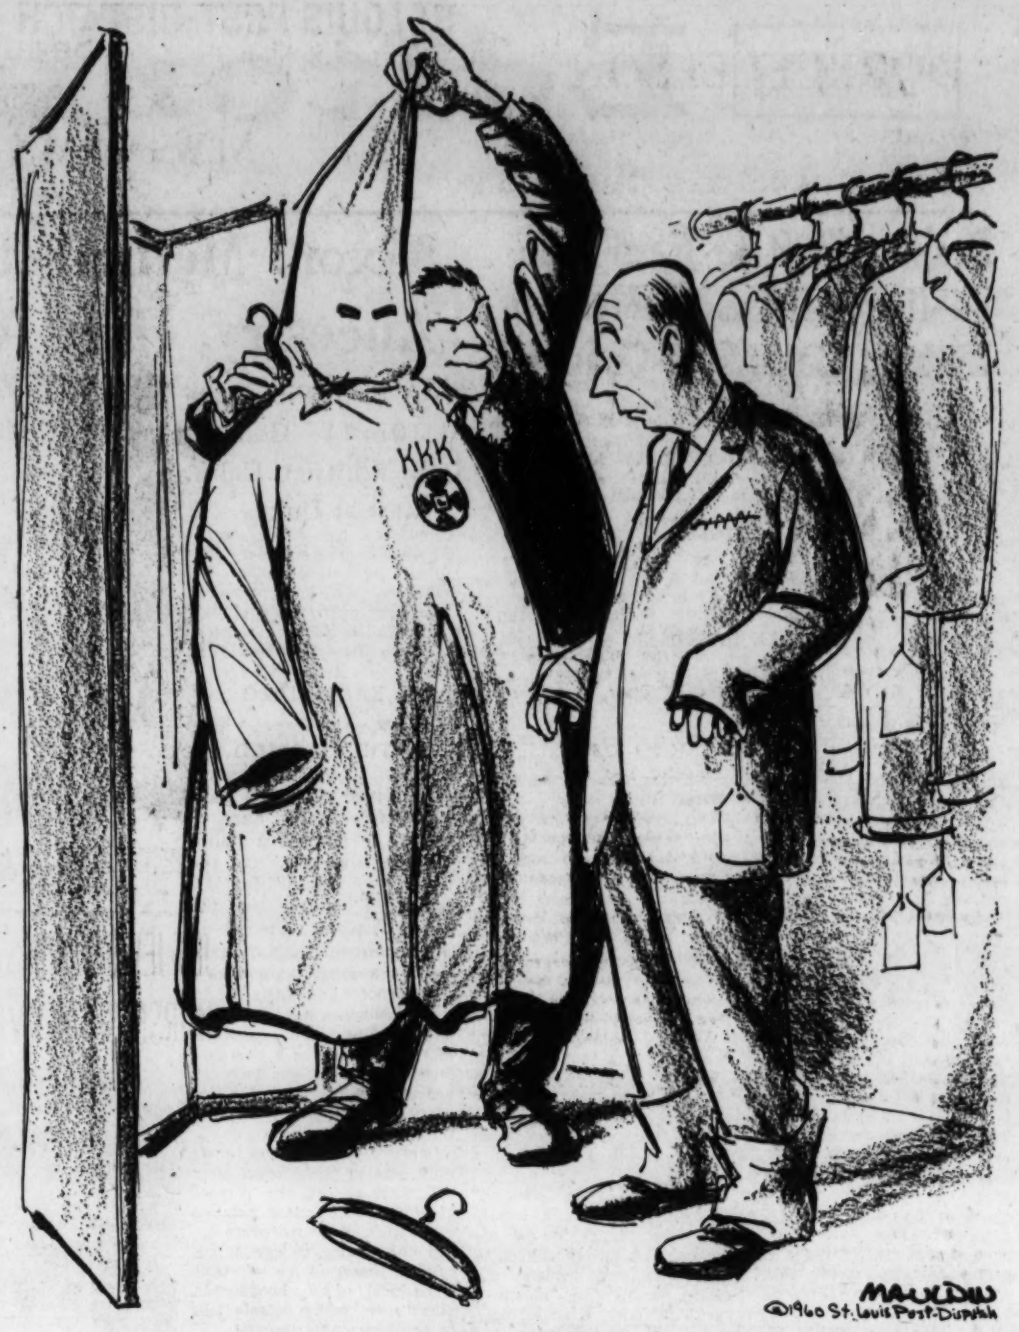
The Bogota conference of American economic ministers was a belated success, but a success for all of that. It marks the first time that the United States has heeded Latin American requests for aid for social purpose projects, and it won high praise from Ecuador and other republics for that reason.

Washington's contribution to the conference was a $500,000,000 inter-American fund. This falls short of Brazilian President Kubitschek's 1958 proposal for an "Operation Pan America," which prompted the United States offer. But it is still the first proposal for massive North American assistance to its nearest neighbors. Its impact can be judged by the fact that, from 1946 to 1958, United States loans and grants to Latin America totaled not much more than two billions.

Ironically enough, Cuba's Fidel Castro played a part in this proposal. It might not have been made to our friends had he not behaved like an enemy. In any case, Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon indicated in his Bogota address that social aid to Latin democracies should retard Communist infiltration. Once again Communism has helped initiate a United States action which should have been taken had Communism never existed. This is a point which Senator Fulbright and others have long tried to impress upon the Eisenhower Administration.

As spelled out by Mr. Dillon, the half-billion dollars will be administered by the new Inter-American Development Bank, which means that the sister republics will help to administer it. Moreover, the money will be used primarily to help peoples as yet untouched by industrial expansion. It will go largely to improve rural life, its housing, diversified land ownership and education. Mr. Dillon had to add a hasty reassurance that this was only a first installment, and that the United States would not forget basic economic development projects in aiding social progress.

In sum, the Bogota conference helped the United States shape a wiser, more helpful Latin American policy as well as raise Latin hopes. Both results are beneficial and Congress, which so far has only authorized the funds, can confirm the fact by providing the money early next year.



"HERE'S ANOTHER STYLE THAT SEEMS TO BE COMING BACK."

As Our Readers View the Campaign

Excerpts from Letters to the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

As one Democrat and one Republican unable to summon up enthusiasm for the candidates in possession of either machine, we are heartily in accord with the call that has been issued to form a third party.

Neither technical impediments in the way of its organization and placement on the ballot, nor its slim chance of winning the election, should be allowed to delay the founding of the American—or People's Choice—Party. The convention should be held this month; it need not be an expensive circus, and it need not produce a third verbose collection of platitudes with a promissory sop for every special group. Let the candidates and what their records stand for be the platform.

The Mirror of Public Opinion

But who will be our candidates? Our complaint is that America should be using its best brains, and we are not convinced that they are on the tickets before us. We need men who have had a rich experience in public life, but who are not weighed down with political debts; men who are qualified not by their inordinate ambition but by mind and character.

We wish to put forward for the consideration of this convention the name of James Bryant Conant. His experience as administrator, educator, scientist and ambassador establishes him as a man of true presidential stature.

We are proposing him, of course, quite without his knowledge.

If we can persuade, say, someone like William Orville Douglas to be his running mate, we will revitalize the "Great Debate."

Up to now, commentators have noticed that the public is exhibiting a degree of apathy unusual for an election year; perhaps all it is waiting for is a chance to vote for a President about whom it will not have to feel apologetic.

Anyone who advocates the rejection of a candidate because of religion, whether that candidate be Protestant, Catholic, Jew or athiest, is advocating the overthrow of the Constitution of the United States and should be tried as a traitor. Rose Schwindt

A recent item in the press seeks to convey the impression that all our Presidents were men of deep religious faith, all regular church-goers and nearly all church members.

Only 20 Presidents are definitely known to have been church members at some time in their lives. Seven were churchless and six more were very probably so.

And here is an important fact regarding the 20 of known church affiliation. Only 13 President were church members when they took office, namely, the two Adamses, Benjamin Harrison, Fillmore, McKinley, Garfield, Wilson, Harding, Taft, Hoover, Truman and the two Roosevelts.

Three more joined a church while in office, Cleveland, Coolidge and Eisenhower. The remaining four, Jackson, Pierce, Buchanan and Polk, did not finally join a church until after they left the presidency and retired to private life. Jackson finally joined at the age of 71 and Polk was baptized on his deathbed.

Seven Presidents were never members of any church or denomination:

—Post-Dispatch, April 19, 1951.

Which Voice Is America?

Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Johnson, Grant, William Henry Harrison and Hayes.

Six Presidents were of unknown church status: Madison, Monroe, Van Buren, Tyler, Taylor and Arthur. There is no record that any of these ever joined a church.

I wonder if other right-thinking Protestants are as sickened as the undersigned by the religious bigotry gaining momentum in the campaign?

Yes, one of our candidates is Catholic, but why all the excitement? The two religious groups have lived at peace in our country for hundreds of years. Many Catholic and Protestant churches are within a few hundred feet of each other and neither group disturbs the other during worship.

The Communists must be gloating as they read these items on religious bigotry in our country.

Don't place the weapon of religious bigotry in their hands to be used against us. Virginia H. Conrey

If we had known you would not receive any letters in favor of Nixon (the next President, thanks to you) we would have sent one.

Mrs. T. Schudde

We read so much about this short session of Congress being a victory for the Republicans — victory for the party maybe — but it has definitely convinced me and my family (of four votes) that Kennedy is the man we need to work for the benefit of our country and the majority of people.

Florissant The Hellmann Family

Is not the appearance of the religious issue in this presidential campaign an occasion for one to pause and take thought of this threat to our American way of life and sense of fair play? Every true American upholds the Constitution of the United States of America.

How then can any fair-minded citizen apply a religious test to a candidate for public office and thereby violate Article VI of the Constitution?

There are those at the present time in Missouri and elsewhere circulating literature and preaching from the pulpit asking whether we want the Pope for the next President of the United States.

Is there even the slightest evidence that the Vatican in any way attempted to interfere in the government of Canada while a Catholic Prime Minister was in power? And today in France under Catholic De Gaulle and in West Germany under Catholic Adenauer is Rome in any way influencing directly or indirectly the policies of these two eminent leaders?

If the Pope has not moved to Ottawa, Paris or Bonn why should we expect him to move to Washington?

Tucson, Ariz. Helen Busch

About a month ago in these columns I said I would not vote for Senator Kennedy unless he gave us a firm pledge to appoint Adlai Stevenson his Secretary of State. On the basis of a letter Kennedy has written me (dated Aug. 30) and his recent activities I can now, in good conscience, give him my wholehearted support.

Senator Kennedy writes that he could not at present name Stevenson as his Secretary of State because "that would open up pressures to make other appointments"—a reasonable assumption. But he states clearly that "Mr. Stevenson will have a significant role in our future affairs." Added together, this makes a firm enough pledge for me.

Surrounded by men such as Stevenson, Bowles, Humphrey, etc., Kennedy could re-establish United States initiative and world leadership and, acting from strength, we could move forwards towards an end to the nuclear arms race and peace.

I hope other holdouts among Stevensonians will join me in working and voting for Jack Kennedy for President. Allen Klein

Mount Vernon, N.Y.

If Senator Kennedy is elected, he can give some of his thanks to certain religious groups that are actively campaigning against him. Spite is a poor reason to vote for or against a man, but if they keep running him down because he is a Catholic, then I,—who usually base my vote on the candidate's record—feel pressured into voting for him because he is a Catholic.

Squeezed Voter

The next President must possess the ability to develop a more fruitful foreign policy than our present Administration has. Senator Kennedy has been intimately acquainted with international affairs since his youth; while a Harvard student, he visited Europe and the Middle East, and from his personal observations and further reading, wrote his senior thesis, an analysis of how Hitler was able to catch England unprepared for World War II. It was called "Why England Slept."

Following his combat service in the South Pacific, Kennedy became a newspaper correspondent in Europe. After election to Congress in 1946, he traveled widely, especially in Southeast Asia, the Middle East and Europe. Since 1957, he has been a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and now heads the subcommittee on African affairs.

He has given much attention to the problems arising from Afro-Asian nationalism; the best evidence for his reputation is the fact that he was asked to write the introduction to a significant new book on Africa by Lorna Hahn; "North Africa: Nationalism to Nationhood" (published by Public Affairs Press). In his own new book on foreign policy, "Strategy of Peace" (published by Harper), Kennedy demonstrates his knowledge of international affairs and indicates the general directions in which he would guide or foreign relations.

Republicans Eye Senate Seats

WASHINGTON.

IT DOES NOT APPEAR THAT REPUBLICANS can make inroads on the big Senate Democratic majority this fall, but the states have a way of confounding the Washington laws of probability in such matters. Hence Republican claims of brighter prospects from Rhode Island to Wyoming.

True, their reasons are mainly negative, being based on various situation and personality problems of Democrats. But the voters are only sometimes swayed by negatives, a fact which accounts for most of the surprise winners—the sleepers—in Senate elections. Republicans are, for example, high on Rhode Island because of a David-Goliath primary battle being waged there for the Democratic nomination between Claiborne Pell, a young Kennedy type, and former Gov. Dennis J. Roberts, a controversial old pro.

Fleeson

To make them even more cheerful, former Senator, Governor and Truman Attorney General Howard McGrath has begun to campaign aggressively against Pell and Roberts after considerable initial hesitancy.

New Against Old.

Pell has set the pace of the campaign by helicopter, yacht, and shanks' mare. His major plea is for the state to look forward to the Kennedy new frontiers with him instead of backward with Roberts and McGrath.

Raoul Archambault has no opposition for the Republican nomination. A former state chairman and Assistant Director of the Federal Budget, he is in his early 40s and is a vigorous campaigner.

Roberts has managed to hold on to the Democratic party organization despite his defeat for Governor in 1958 by Republican Christopher Del Sesto. Republicans regard that victory as vindication for Del Sesto, who lost to Roberts in a still hotly disputed governorship race two years before.

Experienced Republican Senate operatives are even more optimistic about Wyoming, where Representative Keith Thomson will oppose Raymond B. Whitaker of Casper for the seat being vacated by Joseph C. O'Mahoney. Thomson defeated Whitaker in a House race and insists he can take him again.

In Michigan, incumbent Democrat Pat McNamara is having health problems, which encourage Representative Alvin Bentley. Here Republicans make considerably fewer claims for the popularity and campaign abilities of their candidate than they do in Rhode Island and Wyoming.

After Primary Fight.

Some cautious Republican hopes are voiced about Oregon and Montana. It is believed that the high tide of sympathy for Mrs. Maurine Neuberger has somewhat receded in Oregon and that Gov. Mark Hatfield's labors for former Republican Gov. Elmo Smith are having an effect.

Montana Democrats waged a snappy fight for the seat being vacated by Senator James Murray, and before it ended most of the party's leading spokesmen got into the act.

This has diminished certainty that Representative Lee Metcalf, the final winner, will be an easy victor in November, but the odds are still on him.

These Senate races, and many others, are independent of the fortunes of the presidential slates. Few are willing yet to name Kennedy or Nixon the clear favorite in any state so far in advance of their campaigns and television debates.

NEW MISS AMERICA PUTS SCHOOL FIRST

Michigan Girl Vows to Return to Classes When Year Is Over.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 12 (UPI)—Nancy Anne Fleming began her reign as the 1961 Miss America yesterday by vowing to go back to school when her year is over.

She was judged the winner over 53 other contestants in the annual Miss America pageant Saturday night. She succeeded Miss America of 1960, Lynda Lee Mead of Mississippi. The title carries a $10,000 scholarship and can be worth $50,000 in modeling and appearance fees.

The new Miss America is 5 feet, 6 inches tall and weighs 116 pounds. Her measurements are 35-22-35.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Fleming, were among the 18,000 person who saw the new Miss America crowned. The father is Michigan representative for a Pennsylvania manufacturing concern.

At a press conference in New York today, Miss Fleming said she planned to enter Michigan State University after her Miss America reign is over next year. She will study home economics and journalism.

She said that she has no current steady boy friend, and has never received a marriage proposal.

STANDING OVATION FOR PHILHARMONIC

Bernstein Conducts New York Orchestra Before Capacity St. Louis Audience.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

A capacity audience gave Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra a standing ovation at the conclusion of yesterday afternoon's concert in Kiel Auditorium Opera House.

One must assume that this tribute was directed primarily at Bernstein, who has built up a personal following throughout the nation by reason of his television appearances and his fame as a Broadway playwright. The music and the performance would have rated an enthusiastic reception in any case. Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe Suite No. 2" which brought the concert to a close, is one of the most brilliantly scored works of modern times, and the New York orchestra's tone quality, precision and responsiveness assured a maximum effectiveness.

The Philharmonic, by now, has become Bernstein's orchestra, just as it was Toscanini's orchestra 25 years ago. The players are conditioned to make the most of a rousing climax, to give passion its full voice, to produce fine distinctions in volume, to keep a performance volatile. This was particularly evident in the Ravel suite and the Symphony No. 3 by Roy Harris.

Ravel's music started with a shimmering of color in the daybreak scene and ended in a pagan rout. Bernstein exacted the greatest finesse in shading; and in fortissimo passages the depth and force of the orchestral sound seemed to shake the doors.

The Roy Harris Symphony, one of the best of contemporary orchestral works, needed and was given a spacious and earthy sound. Without using direct quotations it suggested in its general character an association with hymnal tunes and folk songs. The performance was notable for its boldness, vigor and at times a great solemnity.

In addition to conducting the Ravel and Harris works, Bernstein was both conductor and piano soloist in the performance of Beethoven's C Major Piano Concerto. The conductor was better than the soloist so far as technical control was concerned, though Bernstein's conception of the music was as evident in his piano playing as in his conducting. He was as sensitive to its lyrical charm as to its youthful vitality. But many passages in both the first and final movements were poorly articulated and the finale, as a whole, was lacking in finish.

Shortly before the concert began an unidentified voice informed the audience that Bernstein was suffering from a sore throat and would turn over the first number on the program to his assistant, Russell Stanger. Stanger took the orchestra through a spirited statement of the "Roman Carnival" overture by Hector Berlioz.

When Bernstein took the stage in preparation for the Beethoven Concerto he was walking slowly as if the task before him was hardly one to stir the pulse or gladden the eye. No invalidism was evident in any subsequent part of the program, however, and by the time he reached the "Daphnis and Chloe" suite his choreography was also up to form.

The capacity audience was the first in many years for an orchestral concert. One disappointed music lover carried a sign which said: "I need one or two seats." It was a gala occasion.

SALT LAKE CITY PUBLISHER JOHN F. FITZPATRICK DIES

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 12 (AP)—John F. Fitzpatrick, publisher of the Salt Lake Tribune for 36 years, died at his home last night. He was 71 years old. An attending physician said a heart attack was a contributing cause of death.

Mr. Fitzpatrick was born in Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 18, 1889. He came to Utah in 1910 as a railroad worker. In 1913 he became secretary to the late United States Senator Thomas Kearns. Five years later he became secretary and general manager of the Kearns Corp., which published the Tribune, and publisher of the Tribune in 1924.

Not a widely-known public figure, Mr. Fitzpatrick was awarded an honorary degree one time which said: "So carefully has he pursued anonymity, so effectively has he merged himself into groups with which he has served, that his great achievements have gone largely unheralded and unpublicized."

DR. ARTHUR WILLARD DIES; U. OF ILLINOIS EX-PRESIDENT

URBANA, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard, president-emeritus of the University of Illinois, died today. He was 82 years old. His death followed a heart attack in his Urbana home last night.

Dr. Willard served 12 years as chief administrator—from 1934 to 1946. He joined the Illinois faculty in 1913 as an assistant professor of engineering. A specialist in ventilation and air conditioning, he was credited with perfecting the system for ventilating New York's Holland tunnel.

He is survived by his wife, Sarah.

$17,500 PLEDGED TO DISMAS HOUSE

350 Civic, Political, Labor Leaders Attend Event for 'Hoodlum Priest' Cast.

More than $17,500 was pledged to Dismas House yesterday by 350 civic, labor and political leaders at a breakfast at the Chase Hotel for the cast of "The Hoodlum Priest."

The event was to honor the cast making the motion picture portraying the efforts of the Rev. Charles Dismas Clark S.J. to establish the institution which provides food, clothes and shelter and finds jobs for convicts on their release from prison.

Morris A. Shenker, attorney and one of the founders of Dismas House, 903 Cole street, made the appeal for funds which resulted in the contributions. He said 350 former convicts have been helped to establish themselves so they were not forced by economic circumstances to return to crime.

"This represents for Missouri taxpayers a saving of $250,000 it would have cost them if these men had been sent back to prison," Shenker said.

Warden E. V. Nash of the Missouri State Penitentiary told the audience that only three men in one year had failed to respond to Dismas House rehabilitation efforts and had been returned to prison.

"If this is the answer to the rehabilitation problem, then I wish we had an institution like Father Clarks' in every state in the Union," Nash said.

Speakers included Father Clark and Don Murray, actor who is portraying the priest in the picture now being filmed in St. Louis.

Others attending the breakfest included Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, St. Louis County Supervisor James H. J. McNary, Warden Ross Randolph of the Menard branch of the Illinois prison; George N. Elder, chairman of the Missouri State Board of Probation and Parole, several circuit judges from the city and county and other public officials.

U.S. BALLET TROUPE ARRIVES IN MOSCOW TO PERFORM

MOSCOW, Sept. 12 (AP) — The American Ballet Theater of New York City arrived in this center of classic ballet yesterday with 53 dancers headed by Maria Tallchief.

The troupe will tour the Soviet Union until Oct. 24, giving Russian audiences their first real life sampling of American ballet technique.

the man in the middle is a realtor!

There's far more than "selling"... to this business of selling real estate. Of course, to find a buyer for a home, a lot, a building or a farm ... is often in itself a major task.

But the services of a Realtor go far beyond this basic work. He is obligated by the code of ethics in his profession ... to know current property values and laws relating to his field ... financing, taxes, contracts, titles. In a hundred different ways, he's "the man in the middle"... linking buyer to seller... standing between his client and entanglement in a forest of unfamiliar matters.

For hundreds of St. Louis Realtors—and for financial firms, builders and homeowners ...T-I-C provides many services that are essential to their security:

Springfield, Mo. Golfer Ousts Aussie Champ in Amateur

Bill Stewart Wins Over Bruce Devlin, 2 and 1; Loser Blames His Putter

By Robert Morrison

Jack Donohue, 38-year-old veteran of amateur golf from Des Moines, today was all square with title defending Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, (O.), after 14 holes of their first-round match in the National Amateur golf tournament at St. Louis Country Club. Three down after nine, Donohue won the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth holes to pull even.

Nicklaus went 1-down when Donohue won No. 15.

Bill Stewart, a two-time Missouri state champion from Springfield, pulled one of the early surprises in the United States Amateur golf tournament today when he defeated Australian Open Champion Bruce Devlin, 2 and 1.

Thirty-nine-year-old Stewart won despite the fact that he was two over par on both the front and back nines in the action at St. Louis Country Club. The Missourian was two holes up at the turn, but Devlin evened the match by winning Nos. 10 and 12 with a birdie and a par, respectively.

Both players went into the rough on No. 15, but Devlin also hit a sand trap and Stewart was able to take the hole with a bogey six to Devlin's seven. The 22-year-old Australian bogeyed No. 16 and Stewart ended the match with a par.

"I just putted terrible," said Devlin, who missed five putts of five feet or less.

Stewart, who is a mattress unit salesman, won the Missouri State title in 1953 and 1957. He played in the U.S. Amateur once before, losing in the second round.

Harvie Ward, the 1955 and 1956 champion from San Francisco, was given a tussle by 22-year-old John W. Owens, son of the pro at St. Joseph Country Club, St. Joseph, Mo., but the 34-year-old Ward took a 1 up decision from his young challenger.

After eight holes of play Ward and Owens were even, Ward having recovered from a two-down after-three-holes start. They stayed even then until the fifteenth hole where Harvie knocked a spoon shot on the green and took two putts for a birdie four.

"My first putt there was from about 40 feet away and my second one was about 10 feet," Harvie wryly remarked.

That was all the edge he needed, however. Owens missed a 10-foot birdie chance at the seventeenth and when he hooked into the rough at the left of No. 18 green, he colld do no better than halve the hole and concede the match.

Ward was one over par for the match. His showing was good considering the fact htat he has played relatively little this year.

"My game isn't what it was a few years ago," said Ward. "It used to be automatic. Iget it only in stretches now. When I'm hitting it good I play as well as I vere did but it doesn't always go that well."

H. Ward Wettlaufer, 24, a member of the United States Walker Cup team, defeated George P. Swift Jr., of Columbus, Ga., 3 and 2.

Wysong Swan Song.

Dudley Wysong, 21-year-old McKinney, Tex., golfer who reached the semifinals last year at Colorado Springs, didn't last long this time. Delane Thompson, a 20-year-old from Wichita Falls, Tex., took his measure, 5 and 4, by winning four of the last five holes. Thompson was one over par for the match.

Tommy Aaron, 23-year-old Walker Cupper from Gainesville, Ga., who won the Western Amateur championship this summer in a final that saw St. Louis's Bob Cochran default because of a bad back, advanced to tomorrow's second round despite trouble with one of his contact lenses. Aaron defeated the old Kansas U. quarterback, Red Hogan from Kansas City Millburn, 3 and 1.

"I got a smudge on the contact lense of my right eye and I had to line up putts with one eye," said Aaron, Florida U. graduate who swept Georgia golf honors this season.

"I was even afraid to hit the ball. I just sort of patty-caked it around. Of course, I can't say I would have done any better."

Aaron One-Under.

Aaron was one under par for the match. He was one down as late as the tenth hole. But he sank a 10-footer to win No. 12 and got a conceded birdie to take No. 14. When he holed out a field goal putt of about 50 feet at No. 16 he went one up and then he closed out the match by winning the seventeenth. He recovered from a trap for his par there.

Hugh Burchfiel of St. Louis Old Warson will be Aaron's second round opponent tomorrow at 9:12 a.m.

Clarence Norsworthy Jr., of Norwood Hills, one of the St. Louis qualifiers, was ousted, 3 and 1, by Chris Blocker, a 20-year-old from Jal, N.M., who holds the 1959 New Mexico Open title. Norsworthy, who had three putts go in and out of the cup along the way, was five down after 12 holes. He fired a couple of birdies in a recovery attempt but was too late.

The cream of American amateur golf will be in action during the week. There are few who didn't make it for one reason or another, and one of the most notable absentees is Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor Jr. from California, a member of the last Walker Cup team and of this year's American Cup team.

"Taylor didn't try to qualify," Ward reported. "He was tired and had spent a lot of money playing other places and he didn't particularly look forward to playing in the probable heat. You know, he gave out in the intense heat at Boston two years ago when he went to the final and lost to Hillman Robbins."

Walker Cup Stars.

But all other members of the Walker Cup team are here. Ward Wettlaufer of Buffalo, N.Y., began first round action against George Swift Jr., Columbus, Ga., Tommy Aaron of Gainsville, Ga., a big winner this year in Georgia, Southeastern and Western tournaments opposed Red Hogan of Kansas City in another first rounder, and Billy Joe Patton, North Carolina's colorful belter, was to go to the post at 1:30 against former St. Louisan, Truman Connell, Tequesta, Fla.

Two other Walker Cuppers in action today are Deane Beman, the 1959 British Amateur champion from Bethesda, Md., who plays Claude Wright of Denver at 2:12 p.m., and Bill Hyndman III of Philadelphia, who has a 2:36 starting time against former Big Ten champion from Purdue, Don Albert.

56 Drew Byes.

The 56 players who drew byes and won't have to play until tomorrow include the 1958 champion and Walker Cupper Charlie Coe, who has an 11:48 starting time Tuesday against a still-to-be-determined second-round foe.

Also waiting until tomorrow is a player who could take it all—the 22-year-old Marine private Phil Rogers. This is the young man who was a standout in the 1957 Western Amateur at Old Warson. He again flashed at Duluth, Minn., this summer where he was medalist in the 72-hole Western trial. He lost to Aaron in the semifinals.

"But," said Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., a two-time Western champion himself, "Aaron was seven under par when he beat Rodgers. Keep an eye on Phil. He's hitting the ball better than anybody here."

Course on Which Amateur Golfers Will Play for National Title

This sketch of the St. Louis Country Club course by Post-Dispatch artist Amadee indicates by dotted circle one of the more popular vantage points for spectators at a tournament. That is the point at which the fourteenth and eleventh greens and the twelfth and fifteenth tees may be reached by a few steps. Automobile entrances during the National Amateur championship are on Price road at Sunningdale drive, and on Clayton road at Cella road (at bottom, just to right of center of map.

U.S. Tennis Finals Are Off Again

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—The finals matches of the United States championships were postponed today for the second straight day because of heavy rain.

Weather permitting, defending champion Neale Fraser will face Rod Laver in an all-Australian men's singles final tomorrow and Maria Bueno of Brazil will defend against Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., for the women's title.

It was the sober-faced Laver who won the Australian national championship from Fraser in January. For the two Aussies, this was the big one, bigger than Wimbledon or the United States National.

Fraser came back to win at Wimbledon after Butch Buchholz' leg gave way in a quarter-final. Buchholz was forced to default after leading Fraser, 2 sets to 1.

After that, Fraser went on his way and toured Europe, winning some and losing some. But none of the tournaments were particularly important to him. In fact, they were on clay.

Laver, meanwhile, headed for the United States and the grass court circuit. He still hasn't been beaten this summer. He won the Pennsylvania tournament at Merion, the Southampton (N. Y.) invitation, the Eastern grass court championship at South Orange, N. J., and the Casino invitation at Newport, R. I.

Sports Comment

By Bob Broeg, Post-Dispatch Sports Editor

G-Day at the C.C.

Take the word of Dave Douglas, St. Louis Country Club professional, and Crunden Cole, the host club's tournament chairman, the best place from which to watch the National Amateur golf tournament is a circle in an artist's drawing of the course in today's sports pages.

The six-column layout shows that an area near the eleventh and fourteenth greens at the Country Club permits spectators to use little shoe leather and still see considerable of the action.

From the vicinity shown just off Glen Eagles drive, it's possible to watch approaches and putts at Nos. 11 and 14 and tee shots from Nos. 12 and 15.

"When I have the time, that's where I head," said Cole, who probably won't have the time. Although the pressure isn't as great as when the Country Club played host to the National Open in 1947, Cole can be glad he learned how to take it playing varsity football under the late Charley Caldwell at Williams College and, to prove he really liked it rough, hockey and lacrosse too.

The Country Club course doesn't play as long as some or not as tough either, but it'll offer a championship test for the young man or old—sufficiently skilled, strong and fortunate to survive the match-play crucible that carries through Saturday.

Shots They Heard

The way they talked on the eve of this most distinguished tournament, no one expected anyone to have the audacity to play No. 8 the way Jim Tom Blair did a couple of years ago. Probably not even the governor's son himself, with the blue chips down, will ignore haughtily the fairway, dog-legging to the right, and instead, challenge towering trees to take the direct aerial route for a spectacular 347-yard hole-in-one.

They talk about Jim Tom's ace almost the way they do Jesse Guilford's legendary Babe Ruth belt, approaching No. 13, that landed on the tennis courts behind the green of the clubhouse hole.

Funny, the things for which they remember a man here or elsewhere. Guilford, of course, won the Amateur at the Country Club in 1921, but Sam Snead lost the Open there in '47 and the Slammer is remembered more for blowing a 30-inch putt and the championship to Lew Worsham on No. 18 than he is for canning a putt from about 30 feet out on the same hole the day before—to get into the playoffs.

That's Snead, though, financially independent because of his ability to put the little white ball down in fewer strokes more consistently than anyone, but haunted by his failure in the Open ever since he blew at Philadelphia's Spring Mill in 1939 when he could afford to take 10 strokes the last two holes—and needed 13!

To men who have found the Amateur elusive, too, though hardly as frustratingly, one or two bad holes probably won't be so critical. In match-play golf—and this is the last big one of its kind in the States—one hot opponent or one cold round can be more damaging than in medal play, but one hole figures to be worth no more than another.

Pitfalls of Par

If you haven't had the pleasure of seeing the Country Club course previously, you'll not see the facilities at their best, merely because a strong sun and little rain have burned up the rough. The rough was thicker and higher for the Open 13 years ago when Snead and Worsham, tying at 282, were two under par—and the only contestants to break it.

Relatively short at 6600 yards, but narrow, the Country Club course still demands a degree of competence of which any golfer could be proud. And it has holes that provide pitfalls.

A measure of a hole is its rating against par for a scratch player. No. 4, for instance, a par-four called St. Andrews is 429 yards long, out of bounds to the right and woods to the left in a valley. The rating is 4.3, meaning that a golfer who plays with no handicap would be expected to bogey the hole three out of 10 times.

Similarly, No. 2, long for par-three at 233 yards, offers a challenge with double greens divided by a dip. The rating is 3.4.

Other holes in which rating exceeds par are Nos. 11, 12, 13, 16, and 18. The last has a teasing misnomer, Oasis. It's a 430-yard par-four with a blind green guarded by a big trap.

Between now and Saturday evening, more than one young golf amateur who has played with professional skill will lose his thirst and appetitie just short of the St. Louis Country Club's real oasis—No. 19.

Cardinals Face Braves Tonight in Battle for Second Place

Simmons Conquers Phils 4th Time, 7-3

By Neal Russo

Curt Simmons hated to say goodbye to the Phillies four months ago when they released him. The lefty again hated to say goodbye to the Phils yesterday—but for a different reason.

Since Solly Hemus talked Simmons into joining the Redbirds, Curt has turned in a 7-3 record and a neat 2.03 earned-run average as a starter. He has beaten his ex-teammates four out of four, including a five-hitter, 7-3, in the farewell at Philadelphia.

The victory, the Cardinals' fourth against one defeat and one tie on their latest trip, lifted them within six and one-half games of the first-place Pirates, rained out Sunday.

Last Home Stand.

On the nine-game home stand starting tonight at 8 o'clock, the Cardinals will take first things first. The second-place Birds meet the third-place Braves, who are seven and one-half games from the lead, for the last two times. They have beaten each other 10 times.

Ernie (18-7) Broglio was to have faced Milwaukee's Warren (18-9) Spahn tonight at Busch Stadium, but the Cardinal ace is sidelined because of a severe muscle spasm in his neck. So Bob (3-5) Gibson, who hasn't pitched in 11 days, will replace Broglio.

Extra rest didn't hurt Simmons, who hadn't pitched in a full week before leading the Redbirds to their sixth victory in their last seven decisions. In his four victories over the Phils, he allowed just four earned runs.

"I've pitched just as well against other clubs," Simmons said, "but our team has scored plenty of runs for me against the Phillies. So I won 9-2, 6-0 and 7-3 as well as 1-0."

Abrupt Release.

Simmons, rehashing his abrupt release by Philadelphia in May, said, "I was throwing well this spring and the Phillies knew it. I don't think I'd have been released if Eddie Sawyer hadn't quit. When he quit, my stock went to zero, too."

In Pittsburgh the other day, Don Hoak was talking about Simmons's one-inning kayo by the Pirates early this season.

"Curt had darn good stuff, even though he walked me with the bases loaded," Hoak recalled. "I walked on a good fast ball that was just a bit too high. When the Phillies let him go, I recommended that we sign him."

Simmons remembered a call from Joe Brown, the Pirates' general manager. Brown wanted to send Curt to a doctor in Illinois who took care of Pirate Gene Baker's injury.

"There's nothing wrong with my arm," Simmons told Brown.

Then Brown proposed that Simmons sign and go to the Pirates' Salt Lake City farm.

Simmons replied then, "I can still pitch in the big leagues."

The Phillies gave Simmons a going-away present by donating four runs in a game featuring Julian Javier's speed. The rookie delivered four straight singles for his top hit production in the majors. He beat out two grounders to the shortstop and stole third (his seventeenth steal) when catcher Cal Neeman tried to pick off Bill White at first base.

"I used to race to school with three or four boys every day back home (Dominican Republic)," Javier said. "If you were . . . what you say . . . tardy, you had to stay one extra hour after school. I never had to stay."

Javier, up to .245 after hitting safely in 12 straight games, shook his quiet way when asked what his margin of victory was in a 100-meter race with speedy Felipe Alou of the Giants.

"I beat him from here to blackboard," Javier said in the visitors' clubhouse at Philadelphia.

"But that's 10 yards!" someone said.

"Si, si," said Javier, who sounded positive.

No. 15 for Stan.

Stan Musial, lacking young Javier's speed, took the easy way around in the first inning with his fifteenth home run. The drive on a 2-2 pitch went over the rightfield wall.

"He (John Buzhardt) was trying to sneak a fast ball by me, inside," The Man said, licking his chops.

Four of the next five Cardinal runs were unearned. Three runs in the fourth inning resulted from singles by Musial, Ken Boyer and Daryl Spencer, a wild pitch, Bob Malkmus's error and an infield out.

In the fifth, Ruben Amaro dropped a throw at second base to open the gate for two runs. Javier, Walt Moryn and Spencer singled that inning, Daryl getting his second run-batted in.

All of the Phils' runs came on home runs, Bob Smith connecting in the second and Cal Neeman with one in the eighth. Simmons, relying heavily on his screwball, had a two-hitter for seven innings. He walked only one and struck out none.

Professionals Break 46-Year-Old Tradition

For the first time in the 46-year history of the Yale Bowl at New Haven, professional football teams trod the turf, Sunday afternoon. New York Giants' JOE MORRISON is shown on a 15-yard romp after taking a pass from Charley Conerly. The exhibition game with the Detroit Lions ended in a 15-15 draw. A crowd of 50,120 watched the game played for the Albie Booth Memorial Fund for a Boys Club.

Two Pacific Coast League Players to Join Redbirds

Pitcher Mel Nelson and Third Baseman Bob Sadowski, both recently recalled by the Cardinals, have been ordered to join the Redbirds, it was announced today. Both had been out on option with Pacific Coast League clubs, Nelson with Spokane, and Sadowski with San Diego.

According to latest averages, southpaw Nelson had a 13-7 record with a 3.91 earned-run average. He is a former outfielder.

Sadowski, who lives in Webster Groves, was hitting .328 at San Diego with seven home runs, five triples, 12 doubles and 28 runs batted in in 56 games. He bats righthanded.

The Cardinals hadn't scored more than four runs in one game since Aug. 28 and hadn't made more than five since they won by 9-2 at Pittsburgh Aug. 12.

John Buzhardt, who has lost 10 straight since he beat the Redbirds June 26, had better learn to pitch shutouts. The Phils have scored just seven runs for him in those 10 losses.

Bill White made a brilliant backhand stop of Tony Taylor's hot shot near first base in the fourth inning. On the next play Curt Simmons alertly picked up Ken Walters's slow tap on the third base line and his throw nipped Walters at first.

The Cardinals beat the Phillies 15 times to seven. . . . Frank Herrera batted .397 against the Birds with 27 hits in 68 at-bats, but 23 were singles.

Simmons was lifted with two out and a man on first in the ninth. Manager Solly Hemus explained, "I would have let Curt pitch to the last man, but I overlooked the score. I thought we were ahead by only three." Lindy McDaniel got his man, Herrera, on a swinging strike.

Larry Jackson probably will face the Braves' Bob Buhl tomorrow night.—N.R.

Vigus Gains Victory in Playoff Series

Vigus won the opener of the County League final baseball playoff series yesterday, defeating Manchester, 7-0, behind Len Klaus's four-hit pitching at Vigus.

If Vigus wins next Sunday at Manchester it would be champion, but a Manchester victory would force a third contest between them.

Klaus, who struck out six and walked three, got off to a fast start when Vigus leadoff man Carl Kramer homered in the first. Bert Beckman doubled and John Orlando tripled for a second run in the same inning.

Ray Abernathy doubled and Klaus singled for a run in the seventh, and Pete Orlando sewed up the victory with a grand slam off loser Bill Sims in the eighth.

Two of Manchester's four hits were of the infield variety.

U.S. Basket Team Had 102-Point Average at Rome

ROME, Sept. 12 (AP)—"The most expolsive team I have ever seen. It was a grand way to bow out."

Coach Pete Newell thus summed up for his mighty collection of American all-stars who trounced Brazil, 90-63, Saturday night to complete an eight-game sweep of the Olympic basketball championships.

The United States has won five titles with a perfect record ever since the American-originated sport was put on the Olympic program in 1936.

In five of their eight games the Yanks went over the 100-point mark in the Rome games. The team totaled 815 points and held the opposition to 476. This breaks down to 102 points a game to 60 points against.

Close Games Feature In A.L. Grid League

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (UPI)—National Football League castoffs provided most of the thrills in the American Football League's first weekend of operation, but the fans hardly knocked down the doors to watch the new pro loop's debut.

Still, the turnout in Boston was encouraging; three of the four games were exciting, and the well-heeled and optimistic backers of the infant league were banking on the closeness of competition to help make their venture a financial as well as an artistic success.

The New York Titans were victims of bad weather yesterday as only 9607 (5727 paid) turned out in a heavy downpour to see the team's impressive nationally-televised, 27-3, victory over the Buffalo Bills. A crowd of 12,703 watched the Houston Oilers spoil the Oakland Raiders' first home appearance, 37-22.

At Los Angeles, Saturday night, 17,724 paid to watch the hometown chargers edge the Dallas Texans, 21-20, in a battle of two of the AFL's best teams. Boston drew the biggest house of the weekend Friday night when a crowd of 21,597 attended the Denver Broncos' 13-10 upset victory over the Patriots.

That added up to about 60,000 paid admissions for a whole week's schedule.

George Blanda, Al Dorow, Jack Kemp and Ben Agajanian, all former NFL stars, played important roles weekend victories.

Blanda In Limelight.

Blanda, a 12-year handyman with the Chicago Bears, passed for four touchdowns, kicked four conversions and an 18-yard field goal in Houston's victory over Oakland.

The outweighed Raiders gained a 7-7 halftime tie and went ahead in the third period when Ed Macon ran back a pass interception 42 yards for a TD. Blanda then passed 32 yards to Bill Groman and three yards to Johnny Carson, putting the Oilers ahead. Blanda's field goal and an eight-yard touchdown run by Dave Smith put the game out of Oakland's reach.

Billy Cannon, highly-publicized L.S.U. All-America halfback, gained 59 rushing yards in 12 carries for Houston.

Dorow, a seven-year man with the Washington Redskins, Philadelphia Eagles and the Canadian League, came off the bench in the second period and scored two touchdowns which he set up with his own passes in sparking New York to victory over Buffalo.

Don Maynard, a former New York Giant, caught the key passes in the two Titans scoring drives. Dorow ran over from the two and the 15 yard line. Bill Shockley kicked 15 and 29-yard field goals for the Titans.

Injuries hurt the Bills badly. Both quarterback Tommy O'Connell and halfback Richie Lucas left the game in the first period. O'Connell, who hurt his neck, returned in the final period; Lucas, who jammed his left instep, did not return and will be out for at least a week.

Extra Point Decides Game.

In Saturday night's game at Los Angeles, the Chargers came from behind with two last-period touchdowns and edged Dallas by the margin of Agajnian's third extra point. Kemp, Los Angeles quarterback, passed for two touchdowns and ran seven yards for another. The clinching TD was a four-yard pass to fullback Howie Ferguson, another former National Leaguer.

In Sunday's National League exhibition games:

Earl Morrall's passes enabled the Detroit Lions to overcome an early 10-point deficit and tie the New York Giants, 16-16, before 50,120 in the Albie Booth memorial game at Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn.

The Green Bay Packers made it five straight exhibition victories by beating the Dallas Cowboys, 28-23, before 20,151 at Minneapolis, Minn. Quarterback Bart Starr of Green Bay, completed 10 of 23 passes for three touchdowns. Starr passed 12 yards to Paul Hornung for the winning TD.

A game between the Washington Redskins and Baltimore Colts was rained out and rescheduled for tonight.

At Akron, O., Saturday night, halfback Bobby Mitchell scored on touchdown runs of 11 and 64 yards as the Cleveland Browns beat the Chicago Bears, 16-10.

Gary Reiser and Carol Johnson Win Junior Net Title

Gary Reiser and Carol Johnson yesterday defeated Larry Kast and Mary Ann Eisel, 6-2, 6-3, for the St. Louis district mixed doubles tennis championship for players 18 years and under.

Leo Estopare Jr. and Andrea Western won the 13-and-under crown, defeating Howard Stephens III and Jan Shapleigh, 6-4, 6-3. In the same division the 11-year-old couple of Larry Parker and Tina Shapleigh took consolation honors, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5, over Earl Millard and Lynn James.

In consolation semifinals Parker and Tina Shapleigh defeated Bob and Pamela Crow, 6-4, 9-7, and Millard and James beat Steve Crawford and Susie Woolsey, 8-6, 6-0.

Carol Hanks Wins Denver Tennis Meet

DENVER, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Raphael Osuna, who startled the tennis world with an upset over Barry Mackay in the United States-Mexico Davis Cup matches early this season, did it again yesterday with a 10-8, 9-7 triumph in the finals of the Denver Country Club invitational.

The Mexico City star, a student at the University of Southern California, was outstanding in his court coverage and returns as he downed Mackay, the top-seeded entry from Dayton, O.

Mackay, who planned to leave immediately to join the United States Davis Cup team for interzone play against Venezuela, staved off six straight match points before falling to Osuna on the seventh.

It was a rubber match for the two, as Mackay evened their rivalry with a victory in the National championships at Forest Hills, N.Y., a week ago.

Carol Hanks of St. Louis, the southern women's champion, downed Justina Bricka, also of St. Louis, 7-5, 6-2, in the final of the women's singles here.

St. Louisan Wins Indiana Golf Meet

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 12 (AP)—Phil Hewitt, St. Louis pro, fired a four-under-par 66 yesterday to win the Fendrich open golf tourney. Hewitt walked away with $500 for his 32-34—66 performance. The event originally was scheduled for two rounds, but was rained out Saturday.

Ivan Gantz, Indianapolis pro, won second place and $250 with his 35-33—68, and Bob Togikawa, Peoria, Ill., pro, was third with 34-35—69.

Ed Wolf, Evansville city champion, was low amateur with 32-35—67.

Earl Widman Wins Motorcycle Crown

Earl Widman, Billy Osbern and Vernon Kary, all of St. Louis, finished 1-2-3 yesterday in the Missouri State Motorcycle tourist trophy championship at Riverdale speedway on Telegraph road.

Widman, to win his fifth title in the last eight games, topped a field of eight that had been selected from eliminations throughout the state. The race covered five miles on a half-mile track.

Luther Wins

DECORAH, Iowa, Sept. 12 (AP)—Gerald Anderson accounted for three touchdowns in leading Luther College to a 33-14 victory over La Crosse State of Wisconsin in their football opener here Saturday.

Yankees Maintain Indian Sign on Cleveland, Lead by Game

Orioles, White Sox Also Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP) — Lo, the poor Indians. If the New York Yankees win the American League pennant they can thank the Cleveland Tribe for their unwilling co-operation.

By sweeping a doubleheader from Cleveland, 5-0 and 3-2, in 11 innings yesterday, the front-running Yanks made it nine in a row over the Indians, 16 out of 22 for the year and 11 of their last 12 meetings. No other club in the league, including the Kansas City A's, has been such a patsy.

The Yanks lengthened their lead to one full game over Baltimore despite the Orioles' 4-0 conquest of Kansas City with the help of 40-year-old Dave Philley. The veteran who was acquired from San Francisco about 10 days ago, collected three hits, including a homer, and drove in three runs.

White Sox Win Two.

Chicago stuck in there, winning a pair from Boston, 5-3 and 1-0, with Coach Tony Cuccinello doing the managing instead of ailing Al Lopez who was suffering from a virus infection. Billy Pierce needed help to hold the opener safe but Early Wynn went all the way with a six-hit shutout in the second game.

Harmon Killebrew hit three home runs for Washington but Detroit grabbed both ends from the Senators, 8-3 and 8-5. Killebrew had one homer, and a single and double in the first game and drove in all of Washington's runs in the second game.

Pittsburgh was rained out of a doubleheader with Chicago but kept most of its National League lead intact. The Cardinals crept up a half game by beating Philadelphia, 7-3, but still trailed by 6½ games. Los Angeles tamed Milwaukee, 2-0, dropping the Braves 7½ behind the Pirates. Cincinnati edged out San Francisco in the first, 2-1, but the Giants took the second, 3-2.

Five-Hitter for Terry.

Ralph Terry pitched the first game for the Yanks at Cleveland, turning in a neat five-hitter while Hector Lopez and Roger Maris slammed home runs off Jim Perry.

Mickey Mantle's thirty-fourth home run won the second game in the eleventh after each club scored once in the tenth. In the last of the eleventh, an error by Jim Pisoni and a single by Joe Morgan prompted Manager Casey Stengel to replace Eli Grba with Ryne Duren. The fireballer struck out Woody Held, ending the game.

Philley was the big man for the Orioles while Steve Barber, with ninth inning help from Chuck Estrada, blanked the A's with five hits. Estrada took over with the bases full and two out in the ninth and retired pinch-hitter Marv Throneberry on an infield bouncer. Philley hit a homer with Jackie Brandt on base in the third and drove home a third run with a double in the ninth.

Baumann Lends Hand.

Fine relief pitching by Mike Garcia and Frank Baumann helped Pierce in the opener against Boston after Chicago jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first two innings.

Wynn struck out eight and walked four enroute to his twelfth victory in the second game. He walked the bases full in the seventh before getting Carroll Hardy to fly out for the third out. The only White Sox run came in the fifth when Nellie Fox, who had four hits in the opener singled and scored on Al Smith's double.

Frank Lary struggled out of a pitching slump and ended a six-game Detroit losing streak in the opener with Washington. Dick Gernert, newly acquired first baseman drove in two runs that brought the Tigers from behind while Lary scattered 11 hits. Al Kaline hit a grand slam homer in the second game in which Killebrew hit the facing of the left field roof with one of his home runs.

May Cancel Games.

Pittsburgh's doubleheader with Chicago was not rescheduled immediately. It might not be necessary to play the games if the Pirates should finish better than two games ahead of the nearest rival.

Drysdale allowed only singles by Wes Covington and Eddie Mathews in the Dodgers' victory over the Braves. Lew Burdette suffered a setback to his chances of winning 20 for a third straight year. He lost his tenth against 16 victories.

Bell and O'Toole won the opener for Cincinnati but the Giants eased Stu Miller's way in the second by blasting Cal McLish and Jim Brosnan for 11 hits.

Reno Grabs Pennant

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Reno Silver Sox, a farm club of the Los Angeles Dodgers, are the champions of the Class C California baseball league. Reno won both halves of the Cal League's split season. The second half ended last night with the Silver Sox seven games ahead of Stockton.

Yankees Back in Their Old Bombing Mood

These three Yankees (MICKEY MANTLE, ROGER MARIS and HECTOR LOPEZ) hit home runs in New York's sweep of the Sunday doubleheader at Cleveland, 5-0, and 3-2. Mantle's homer won the second game in the eleventh inning; it was his thirty-fourth of the season. Lopez's eleventh and Maris's thirty-eighth were hit in the opening game off Jim Perry. Jim has given up 15 homers to the Yanks this season, a record for home runs off one pitcher by one club.

Shopettes Win Western Softball Title

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 12 (AP) — A&A Shopette defeated Bond Store, 7-1, last night to win the Western regional softball tournament in an all-Springfield finale.

In the final game, Shopette made 14 hits, while Gene Barr held Bonds to three and struck out 10 batters without yielding a walk.

It was the fourth game of the day for Bonds, which gained the final by defeating Wichita, 3-0, and Omaha, 1-0, in 10 innings in the afternoon.

XVII Olympics End; 5 World Track Marks Broken, 4 Others Tied

ROME, Sept. 12 (AP)—Olympic athletes streamed out of Rome today leaving the world's sports fans wondering just how fabulous the records will be when they reassemble in Tokyo for the 1964 games.

Track and field stars smashed five world records and tied another four in the XVII Olympics. Twenty-nine Olympic records went into the books.

How much better can the records get? How much faster can the boys and girls run?

Livio Berutti, Italian winner of the 200-meter sprint, thinks it's impossible to put a peak on athletic endeavors. He said: "It's a question of the development of the human race. Men get bigger, fitter and medical research helps to improve the times and distances that men jump. Who can say where it will end?"

3:50 Mile a Possibility.

Larry Snyder, chief coach of the American track and field team, said: "People are in better health, they get better food. . . . It would be a brave man who would say it's going to end at a certain point. We just don't know how much farther we're going to go."

Experts wondered if world times like Herb Elliott's 3:35.6 for the 1500 meters will still be on the books when the Tokyo games are held. Elliott himself is doubtful. He thinks that in time a 3:50 mile is possible. And a 3:50.0 mile would drop the 1500-meter record several digits lower.

About 8000 athletes from 87 countries came to Rome for the Olympics Aug. 25. Some started trickling out of the Eternal City even before yesterday's closing ceremony, one that ended with half the 100,000 spectators waving lighted paper torches in the Italian dusk.

A few minutes earlier the final event, the equestrian jumping grand prix, was concluded, and the crowd roared as the Olympic flag was lowered and carried from the stadium for the last time.

U.S. Riders Second.

Hans Winkler, Alwin Schockemohle and Fritz Thiedemann successfully defended the equestrian team title won by Germany in 1956. The scarlet-coated Germans won the gold medal with a team score of 47½ penalty points.

The American squad of George Morris, New Caanan, Conn. Frank Chapot, Wallpack, N.J., and Bill Stenkraus of Westport, Conn., was second with a score of 66 penalty points. Italy finished third with 80½ points.

The 18-day Olympic program ended with Russia the dominant sports nation. The Russians won 43 gold medals, 31 silver and 31 bronze for an unofficial points score of 810½.

The United States took 34 gold medals, 21 silver and 14 bronze for a second place points score of 564½.

Italy won 13 gold medals, 10 silver and 11 bronze and Germany picked up 12 gold, 19 silver and 11 bronze. Germany had 318½ points and Italy 271.

The points were based on 10 for first place, five for second, four for third, three for fourth, two for fifth and one for sixth.

A United States Marine captain, William McMillan of Turtle Creek, Pa., a gold medal winner in the rapid-fire pistol competition, carried the American flag in the closing parade.

The Olympic flame which had burned in a tripod throughout the Games began to fade, then died amidst a fanfare of trumpets. A choir sang the Olympic anthem, and fireworks brightened the sky over the hills of Rome.

The 1960 Games officially were closed.

Waterloo Manager Honored by Rivals

Matt Sczesny of Waterloo, Ia., has been elected manager of the year by fellow managers of the Midwest Baseball League, President Clarence (Dutch) Hoffman of Belleville announced today.

The managers also chose right-handed pitcher Tom Haake of Dubuque, Ia., as player of the year and lefthanded pitcher Bob Sprout of Decatur, Ill., as rookie of the year.

Sczesny piloted Waterloo, a Boston Red Sox farm club, to its third straight championship.

Haake led the league in earned run average with 2.52, a 19-3 record and pitched 18 complete games.

Sprout set league records in strikeouts — 264 for the season and 22 in one game. He also pitched a no-hit game.

Toronto Defeats Hamilton, 16-12, Before Record 30,863

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Unbeaten Toronto, striking for 15 points in the second quarter, squeezed out a 16-12 victory over the Hamilton Tiger-Cats yesterday for their fifth Big Four football league triumph before a record crowd of 30,863.

The Tiger-Cats, league champions the last three seasons, went down to their fifth straight defeat, in a game they blew away in the dying minutes by muffing a great scoring opportunity. They smashed to Toronto's two-yard line but the Argos stopped them there to save their surprising unbeaten streak.

The crowd in the Canadian National Exhibition Stadium surpassed the previous league record attendance of 27,554 set by the same two teams here last season.

In other matches Seebold won three from Mason, Valencias and Carlings tied as did the Reliables and Antons.

Three Errors Enable Hoffmeisters to Defeat Kutis North

Printers Eliminated In Muny Title Play

By Bob Posen

A change-up changed the course of the feature Muny senior baseball game at Fairground Park yesterday, and started Hoffmeister toward becoming the last team undefeated in the playoffs.

The change-up gave Hoffmeister a life in what turned into a nightmarish sixth inning for Kutis North, the other unbeaten team until yesterday. The Hoffmeisters scored three unearned runs with the aid of four straight fumbles and won, 3-1.

The Red Villas, runners-up to Hoffmeister in the Heine Meine League, eliminated the Union Printers, second to Kutis in the North Side division of the Traveling League, 12-2, with eight runs in the first two innings.

Next week the Kimacks, who drew a bye, will meet the Hoffmeisters, and the Villas and Kutis North, each with one loss, will play. Defeat will eliminate the loser.

Kestler Beats Out Hit.

For 5 innings, a schoolteacher and a preacher were models of pitching prowess in the Kutis-Hoffmeister game. Lefty Don Mumm of Kutis, the teacher, and the Rev. Jack Faszholz, the Hoffmeister righthander, pitched shutout ball. They gave up a few hits but were helped by some sharp fielding.

With two out in the last of the sixth Mumm threw a change-up, a slow ball to catch big Ed Kestler off stride. Kestler, who had hit into a doubleplay in his previous at-bat, bounced a slow chopper this time, and lumbered across first base ahead of shortstop Pete Vitale's throw. That opened the door. Gene Moore lashed a single to right where the ball went through Harley Beavers, Kestler scoring and Moore reaching third. John Ramsey pinch-batted and grounded to Vitale, who fumbled, allowing Moore to score.

When Mumm juggled Joe Gummersbach's high bouncer down the first base line, the official scorer generously ruled a hit, saying that in his judgment the batter would have beaten the throw anyway. Then third baseman Al Hedrick fumbled Dan Schuchardt's grounder, loading the bases. Faszholz singled to right for one run, Beaver's throw to third nailing Schuchardt before Gummersbach crossed the plate.

Hoffmeister threatened again in the seventh and Dick Loeser relieved Mumm. Kutis, which outhit the winners, 10-8, scored a run with two out in the ninth against Faszholz, who struck out four and walked none.

The Villas, making 17 hits, knocked out Bob Loddeke in the second inning. Jim Helein had four hits, Tom Brady, Jim Scowcroft and Bob Hantak each three to support the pitching of Jim O'Reilly, who gave up nine hits, including three by Stan Mann.

Laboure Forfeit Winner.

When Priory was unable to field a team, Laboure won its opening football game by a 1-0 forfeit score, yesterday. No date has been set for a replay.

Sunday's Stars

By the Associated Press.

BATTING—Dave Philley, Orioles, veteran, recently acquired from San Francisco Giants, drove in three runs and collected three hits, including homer, in 4-0 victory over Kansas City.

PITCHING — Don Drysdale, Dodgers, held Milwaukee Braves to two singles while pitching fifth shutout of season, 2-0.

Two One-Hit Games In Khoury Playoffs

One-hit pitching victories by Bob Kehoe of Waterson and Charles Miller of Fould put their teams among the remaining three in the Khoury senior Class A baseball playoffs yesterday.

The Ceresias, previously undefeated in 15 previous games, lost to Kehoe and Waterson, 10-0, but stay in the running in the double-elimination tourney. Miller and the Foulds eliminated Pacific, 6-1.

Fould, undefeated in 15 games, held a 6-0 lead before Pacific scored its run in the sixth inning of the seven-inning contest. The Waterson-Ceresia game was halted after five frames.

Miller struck out 13 and walked six; Kehoe fanned five and walked none. A last inning single spoiled Kehoe's no-hit bid.

Garrison won the junior championship, 13-2 over Southwest Kiwanis, who also lost to Garrison, 10-1, Saturday night.

Jack Lane pitched a two-hitter Saturday and Roger Wattler hit a three-run homer. In the Sunday game, called after five innings by the 10-run rule, Wattler was the winning pitcher and Bob Norris hit a two-run homer.

St. Anthony Wins, Ties Title Series

The return of Joe Gaterman has sparked St. Anthony to the final game of the Catholic Youth Council senior baseball playoffs. St. Anthony and its 9-0 victim yesterday, St. Mitchael, will play again for the title at Fairground Park, probably on Thursday night.

The victory yesterday at Busch Stadium came as St. Anthony stood on the brink of elimination. A St. Anthony loss would have given St. Michael the championship, but now both are on equal footing for the crown worn last year by St. Anthony.

For three innings Gaterman and Dave Hughes, the pitcher who had defeated St. Anthony, 4-2, with the help of three ninth-inning runs in a previous playoff game, hooked up in a scoreless duel. But after St. Anthony scored twice in the fourth and three times in the sixth, Hughes was replaced by lefty Ed Wehner. St. Anthony scored four more against Wehner.

Gaterman, meanwhile, struck out six and allowed seven hits, two by Hughes, to achieve his second straight shutout since rejoining St. Anthony's team. He had starred for last year's champions and played the first part of this season, but then quit because he found baseball conflicting with his working hours.

The team asked him to return during the playoffs, and his first performance was a 7-0 shutout of All Souls last Thursday. That qualified St. Anthony for yesterday's game, in which Gaterman himself had two of St. Anthony's 13 hits. Bob Baer had three,, including a double, and Charlie Bockskopf had two. Ed Conboy had two for St. Michael.

In bantam division semifinals St. Gabriel defeated Our Lady of Fatima, 25-0, on Jim O'Reilly's one-hitter, and St. Ann defeated Holy Cross, 3-2, although Tony Nieberling held St. Ann to two hits. B.P.

St. Louis U. High Defeats DuBourg

St. Louis U. High featured outstanding speed and unveiled a multiple offense Saturday night as the Junior Billikens, undefeated but once-tied last season, downed DuBourg, 13-7, at Public Schools Stadium.

St. Louis's Bill Lembeck scored the only touchdown of the first half with a six-yard run in the opening period. Paul Martel's team tallied again in the fourth quarter on a five-yard dash by Joe Gegg. DuBourg went across in the fourth quarter on a one-yard plunge by quarterback Tom Bradburn on fourth down after the Cavaliers had a first-and-ten situation on the Junior Bills' four.

Bradburn completed four of seven passes for 43 yards. The Junior Bills piled up 234 yards rushing and 59 passing. DuBourg had 116 yards rushing.

Two Muny Tennis Titles for Parker

Ward Parker won the singles and shared the doubles championship in the Muny Esquire tennis tourney at Forest Park. Parker defeated Art Faulstitch, 6-4, 9-7, in the singles and then paired with Frank Keany to beat George Parnell and Carl Lammwersiek, 6-2, 6-1 in doubles.

Two St. Louis Pairs Qualify in Pin Meet

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

CHICAGO, Sept. 12—The kings are dead. Long live the new kings.

New champions are sure to be crowned in the men's national doubles bowling tournament which opens match play this afternoon after 1958 and 1959 champions Don Carter and Tom Hennessey of St. Louis failed to make the finals for the first time since the tournament was switched to a match game basis in 1958.

The failure of Carter and Hennessey, who finished thirty-third among the record 178 teams, was softened by the fact that two St. Louis teams seat qualifying records in moving into the finals.

On top of the eight teams who threated their way into the match game phase of the $19,000 tournament were 1956 doubles champions Dick Weber and Ray Bluth of St. Louis, who rolled a 48-game total of 10,234 to shatter the old mark of 10,029, set in 1958 by Carl Richard and Steve Nagy.

Also breaking the old record were Billy Welu and Harry Smith, who had 10,149 for the second place in the qualifying.

Joining the two St. Louis teams in the finals were three Chicago teams—Carmen Salvino and Bill Bunetta, who had 10,083 to break the old mark; Andy Rogoznica and Earl Johnson, and Johnny King and Jack Biondelillo; two Detroit teams, Bob Hitt and Therman Gibson iwth Ed Lubanski and Ed Kwolek, plus Loy Countryman and Norm Meyers, ex-Falstaff bowler from Los Angeles.

Weber and Bluth gave the crowd a real thrill in the final block. Virtually assured of a place in the finals, the Budweiser duo set out to beat the record set a few hours earlier by Welu and Smith. Dick and Ray were equal to the task as they unfolded a 2599 series to move ahead of their Falstaff rivals.

The Buds were immediately installed as favorites in the match game phase of the event off their showing in hte qualifying.

The Monday afternoon schedule will find Bluth and Weber meeting Countryman and Meyers in the first round and Rogoznica and Johnson in the first match and Countryman and Meyers in the second.

The all-St. Louis match between Bluth-Weber and Welu-Smith is slated for Tuesday afternoon.

10% Savings On Round-Trip Greyhound Tickets

Savings of 10% or more are offered by Greyhound Lines with the purchase of round-trip tickets. This plus the already low Greyhound fares means a very substantial savings for travelers going Greyhound . . . savings up to 50% over driving yourself, based on out-of-pocket expenses and not including the costs of tolls, parking, etc.

Greyhound fares average 2.77 cents a mile while, according to various sources the cost of operating a typical low-cost automobile averaged 10 cents a mile during the past year. Putting this into dollars and cents: it would cost an average of $13.85 to travel 500 miles by Greyhound while the cost of operating a typical low-cost car over this same distance would average about $50.00

The 10% savings offered by Greyhound on round-trip tickets actually means a 20% savings on the return portion of these tickets. The return portion can be used anytime within one year. Or, if not used, it will be refunded.

Many men use Greyhound for business travel. One reason is the lower cost. Another reason is that a person driving himself often cannot make as good time by car as by Greyhound. After driving many hours a motorist must stop and rest or spend the night. On a Greyhound bus a traveler can relax in a deep cushioned reclining seat and work or read or sleep as he rides smoothly along to his destination.

Guess low ... that's where Greyhound fares are! LOW! Chances are you'll find Greyhound costs even less than your guess. And much, much less than driving yourself. Next time you're planning a trip, remember: no other transportation gives you as much for your money as Greyhound. Convince yourself. Check the low, low fares below.

Driver Training Important Factor In Amazing Greyhound Safety Record

Comparing National Safety Council reports and Greyhound records proves Greyhound the safest form of transportation . . . many times safer than driving. This amazing safety record was achieved by a well planned and organized program of safe driver training. All Greyhound drivers are tested physically and psychologically and then put through a rigid training course before they are assigned. Even after assignment this training continues, keeping each driver up to date on the most modern methods of safe driving.

Regular Scheduled Greyhounds Carry Package Express

Manufacturers and distributors have discovered the answer to many of their shipping problems in Greyhound Package Express. Offering 24-hour-a-day . . . 7-day-a-week service with no delays by weekends or holidays . . . Greyhound Package Express shipments go wherever Greyhound buses go . . .to every major city and more than 25,000 towns and villages throughout the country. Same-day delivery is usual up to 300 miles and next morning arrivals are almost a certainty to distances from 600 to 750 miles.

Rented Greyhound Buses Available For Group Travel

The same Greyhound buses that are seen on the highways and byways of the nation are available for chartering by clubs, student groups, teams and other organizations. With a chartered Greyhound, groups can pick their own routes, make special stops, be picked up anywhere selected, and delivered right to the door of their destination. Greyhound also helps with hotel reservations.

Of special importance and interest to parents and school officials is Greyhound's amazing safety record.

Most people know Greyhound costs less. What they often don't realize is how much less. Take a guess...better still take a Greyhound...and leave the driving to us!

Nixon Story

played the organ at the meeting house and taught Sunday school.

Nixon was 17 when he entered Whittier College, a small Quaker institution with exacting standards.

In his senior year Nixon was elected president of the student body. But the students remember him best for two accomplishments: one dealing with dancing and the other with the annual bonfire.

It was Richard Nixon who junked the blue-nose regulation that forbade dances at Whittier by convincing the hierarchy—the trustees, preachers, faculty and rich alumni—that students would either dance under honorable auspices on the campus or go to "dens of iniquity in Los Angeles."

HE SECURED a place for himself high in the annals of Whittier bonfires when he was a junior. He was a chairman that year of the traditional undergraduate escapade—the annual bonfire on a mound of earth called Fire Hill. The custom was for everyone in the student body to pile things for burning on the allotted site, for days, with the chairman tossing on the last item. The chairman provided the crown for the heap, and his status as a leader of men was judged over the years by the style and size of the country privy he could purloin for that purpose.

Normally the bonfire was topped by a one-holer. Occasionally a really superior chairman would drag in a two-holer. In 1933 Richard Nixon established a record that still stands. He produced a four-holer.

Nixon graduated from Whittier in 1934. The New Deal had already generated some cautious hope—but no jobs. Nixon was among the fortunate few who didn't need one. All he wanted was a law school where you could get by without money. By happy coincidence Duke University, a school across the continent, in Durham, North Carolina, was looking for bright students on whom to spend its newly acquired abundance.

Nixon applied for one of the law scholarships available to high-honor college men throughout the country. In a letter of recommendation, Dr. Walter F. Dexter, then the Whittier College president, wrote: "I believe Nixon will become one of America's important, if not great, leaders."

The depression had not eased up much by 1937. As graduation drew near, Nixon decided to apply for a job with the FBI. "The FBI looked very good to a young lawyer wanting work that year," he recalls.

In June, when the FBI job had not materialized, Nixon decided to try his luck in his home town. He had to cram five months of detailed California law into two months of study. He did it successfully.

TOMORROW: Nixon as a young lawyer and a young husband.

cific Northwest, for example, it has been assumed that the liberal tradition of the past still prevailed. But in the state of Washington there is, as Kennedy discovered when he passed through, an undercurrent of disquiet.

Gov. Albert D. Rosellini, running for re-election, and five of the other state-wide candidates are Catholics. This seems to raise the question in an acute form. A somewhat similar situation exists in Iowa.

Some reports of Kennedy's reaction when questions on his religion are put to him have him angry and outraged. Rather he is puzzled and profoundly disturbed. When he says that the issues in this campaign are as significant as those of 1860 he believes just that. He sees the question of religion as a kind of smoke screen obscuring any realistic discussion of the issues and the far-reaching problems of America in the world today.

Robert Kennedy Debates Issue with Methodist Pastor.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy, trouble-shooting for his presidential candidate brother, debated the religious issue with a Methodist minister yesterday in a lively, impromptu exchange at University of Illinois Airport.

Kennedy had just flown in from Libertyville, Ill., where he said he discussed with Adlai Stevenson the role that religion is playing in the Democratic campaign of Senator John F. Kennedy. They agreed, he said, that the Senator's Roman Catholicism "seems to be the No. 1 issue."

After relaying this information to an airport press conference, Robert Kennedy asserted: "My brother will take directions and orders from no one."

At that point, the Rev. Richard Brownfield inquired: "What repercussions can Senator Kennedy expect from his church (for taking such a stand)?"

"The Catholic Church has never stated that it would bring pressure on anyone," Kennedy replied. "The oath of office he would take (as President) would have precedent."

Then he told the questioner, who identified himself as a member of the Board of Christian Social Relations of the Illinois Conference of the Methodist Church: "I say you are questioning his (Kennedy's) loyalty if you question whether he would take orders from a third party. I say he's proved his loyalty in the Navy and in Congress."

The minister, pastor of a Methodist church at nearby Villa Grove, told a reporter after the airport exchange: "I did not mean to imply disloyalty on Kennedy's part, but Protestants as a whole distrust the Catholic Church and the whammy it holds over its members."

Gallup Poll

cideds," the above figures become:

Kennedy-Johnson — — — 51%
Nixon-Lodge — — — — 49

If the Southern presidential voting in November should split near the 50-50 line, it would mark the third successive presidential election in which the Republicans have picked up electoral votes in the Solid South.

IN BOTH 1952 and 1956, President Eisenhower's popular vote in the South was near the 50 per cent line. He carried five Southern states in 1952, seven in 1956.

The only other time in this century that a G.O.P. presidential candidate has carried any Southern states was in the 1928 race between the Republican, Herbert Hoover, and the Democrat, Alfred E. Smith.

Mr. Hoover carried seven Southern states that year. Governor Smith carried six.

This has been the voting in presidential elections in the South since 1928:

SOUTHERN VOTING

	Dem.	Rep.
1928	48%	52%
1932	76	24
1936	76	24
1940	73	27
1944	69	31
*1948	70	30
1952	51	49
1956	49	51

Combined States' Rights and Democratic popular votes.*

It should be emphasized that voters were asked which ticket they would vote for if the election were being held at the time of the interview, and not how they would vote in November.

Opinion constantly changes under the impact of events. In 1956, for example, about 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 voters swung to Mr. Eisenhower in the closing days of the campaign following the Hungarian and Suez crises.

OBVIOUSLY, NO ONE knows the impact that the forthcoming TV debates may have on the state of opinion or the effect that Khrushchev's proposed visit to the U.N. will have. The Gallup Poll will be sampling the public during the coming months to see what, if any, impact these events may have on the race this fall.

Those voters who indicated they were undecided were asked how they "lean" as of today. Their leanings are credited to the ticket named. The 8 per cent undecided represents those voters who were still undecided after the second question.

The current figures are based upon those who are registered or plan to register and plan to vote.

As stated on many previous occasions, there is no monopoly in polling. The field interviewing organization (numbering approximately 1000 part-time workers) that the Gallup Poll uses can be employed by any qualified research man or research organization to survey opinion on issues, candidates, and business problems.

During the last year, about 50 organizations and foundations, including researchers interested in both the Republican and Democratic parties, have made use of these facilities on a standard fee basis.

Moscow

left in Cuba by the United States.

In soft days as well as hard ones, Moscow has prepared its officials, agents and technicians for diplomatic and economic advance into Africa.

Nor have the Soviet leaders ever made a secret of their fundamental ambition to isolate the United States, to force its retreat from the world-wide battleground, to split it from its allies, to erode its political and economic involvement abroad wherever possible and to undermine its military bases around Soviet territory.

Khrushchev still speaks of coexistence and defends the concept against attacks by some of his more belligerent allies in Peiping and no doubt against the views of some of his Soviet colleagues. Whatever the tone of his voice, he has not changed the meaning of coexistence: ideological, political and economic war on the West—short of violent military conflict.

EVEN IN DEFENDING the concept, in imploring his fellow Communists to accept occasional tactical compromise with the "enemy," the Soviet leader has been explicit about the ground rules for coexistence. The West, he believes, must keep hands off the areas already under Communist domination—while the Communist nations are free to extend their influence in the Western and neutral parts of the world.

What to the West may seem to be contradictory hard and soft policy potions have almost always been kept brewing concurrently by all Soviet rulers. A mere adjustment of the flame under this or that kettle has usually been sufficient to create the effect of a "sharp reversal" that is intended to inspire either fear or relaxation abroad.

Why the Soviet leaders turn from gentle to tough line and back again precisely when they do is not always obvious. But the change this year was sudden enough to permit specialists on Soviet affairs to search for clues from before and after the U-2 incident.

A good number of Russians as well as foreigners in Moscow concluded that the Kremlin's view of the world this spring had made the tactical switch understandable—perhaps even necessary.

WHEN KHRUSHCHEV finally struck his posture of rage in Paris in May and on subsequent occasions he betrayed a feeling that Soviet political and military might was not properly feared or respected in the West. Such respect, he feels, must be obvious if he is to enter serious negotiations.

Long before the fateful May Day flight of the U-2, there had been a suspicion in Moscow that the Soviet leaders were less than satisfied with the consequences of their big-stick-but-soft-words approach.

Despite great efforts to charm United States business circles, the Soviet leaders had failed to obtain valuable trade and credits.

Despite great efforts to woo such neutral nations as Iraq and Egypt, the Soviet leaders appeared distressed by these countries' repeated shows of independence. However, as long as Moscow itself proclaimed President Eisenhower to be a "man of peace," it was difficult to maintain the traditionally strict lines between "imperialists" and friends, good guys and bad guys.

Despite great indoctrination efforts at home, some of the Soviet leaders were plainly worried that the easing of world tensions would erode the patriotic fervor and loyalty of the Soviet people.

Finally, in the weeks before the scheduled summit meeting, Khrushchev voiced suspicion that the West would not, after all, negotiate a new status for West Berlin—an objective to which he had strongly committed himself.

Over and over again, he tried to reassert the tough stance that had originally proved successful in prodding the West toward negotiations.

ON MAY 1, therefore, the United States U-2 reconnaissance plane sailed over the heads of men already uneasily prepared to believe that kind words did not pay.

"You have pulled the rug out from under Khrushchev and from under many of us," one Russian writer remarked the night the U-2 story became known.

The "us" in his comment referred not to professional Communists but to the younger Soviet diplomats, journalists and artists who had rejoiced at the new opportunities for limited concacts with Westerners.

These Russians, and many Westerners in Moscow, claimed that they understood why Khrushchev had rushed to the head of the anti-American line. They said that he could not afford to allow opposition to coalesce around charges that his "soft" tactics had invited insult from the skies. They thought that he would have to prove strength and respect in the West before he could again steer his nation toward the bargaining table.

THE SOVIET LEADER'S concept of strength is strikingly similar to that of the Eisenhower Administration. He believes in negotiation only from a position of real—and respected—strength. And he believes that the capability of "massive retaliation" is the best type of strength.

At the same time, his concept of strength embraces economic might. He professes confidence in the Soviet bloc's eventual economic superiority over the West and he has demonstrated in Cuba and Africa how he proposes to use such strength.

From the point of view of Moscow, the hard use of diplomacy, threat, economic advance and propaganda gives promise of gains at the present. But the hard line is not always easily controlled. It gives new strength to Stalinists within the Soviet Union and might encourage Communists and irresponsible forces outside to take actions that would embroil Moscow in a conflict it does not want.

THIS FEAR IS THOUGHT to be shared by responsible Soviet leaders. Some diplomats believe it to be one reason for Moscow's obvious reluctance even now to sign an East German peace treaty that would give Germans physical command of a dangerous frontier with the West.

Russians and Westerners in Moscow still believe that Khrushchev—a cautious man despite all his verbal bombast—would prefer the soft approach and the chance to pursue his ambitious economic goals at home at full speed. They expect him to abandon the hard line as soon as he feels the dangers of the present course to be greater than the rewards.

But one Russian, who could not often be accused of sharing the Kremlin's point of view, offered a good reason not long ago why that time was not near.

"You know," he remarked almost apologetically, "after I saw how cleverly they forced Eisenhower to retreat from Japan and I saw how well things were going for them in the Kremlin. I found that even I was cheering for the Communist side. You must admit, they are playing pretty good chess."

Shattered by Storm

Almost every building in the village of Matacumbe, near Tavernier, in the Florida Keys, lies in wreckage following destructive passage of Hurricane Donna. Wind, rain and tides reduced the village to ruins before the storm cut a curving path to the mainland, where it was pounding the eastern seaboard today.

Unidentified woman rests on an overturned bed after returning to the ruins of her home at Marathon, another of the ravaged settlements in the Florida Keys. Air Force and Army emergency units were moving in today in an effort to restore communications and water supplies disrupted when the hurricane wiped out sections of the highway linking the islands.

Healthy Trend in Mystery Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.

"DIAGNOSIS UNKNOWN" has its heart in the right place. It's a mystery series with the violence mercifully kept out of sight. The interest is on the mystery, an old-fashioned way of approaching these things which I happen to like, and the story is seen through the eyes of the law, rather than those of the hoodlum. Also, it is taped in the East, a very healthy trend.

CHESTER MORRIS

The hero of "Diagnosis Unknown" is Dr. Coffee, very well played by Patrick O'Neal, a pathologist who solves crimes — or helps to solve them — by analyzing the blood and that sort of thing, for the Police Department. It runs heavily to dialogue like: "Yes, we've cultured the parthogenesis of the spinal fluid. I have the report here from the blood scrapings—RH negative." Well, this is a scientific age.

Dr. Coffee's sidekick in all this is a cop played by that old pro Chester Morris, looking hardly a day older than he did years ago in "moom pitchers." The stories are unusual, with striking settings. One, for example, opened with a scene from "Hamlet" in which the actor playing Hamlet literally kills the man playing Polonius. Another went in strongly for Gypsy incantations.

There's a sturdy effort made toward characterization; much of the dialogue has intelligence and flashes of humor. But still "Diagnosis Unknown" leaves an unsatisfied taste. I suspect those stories aren't right. Some of them are awfully talky and occasionally whole scenes are pretty awkward.

Just the same, I like the idea of the sophisticated mystery series shot in New York and I hope we have some more of them. "Diagnosis Unknown" has been a summer replacement for Garry Moore and is due to go off the air on Sept. 20. Its producer, Bob Banner, feels strongly that tape is the only way the East will wrest control of some television dramatic production from the West Coast, which clearly holds all the trump cards in film production. Some of the show was even taped on location. (Tape makes a better picture than film.) The movement needs encouragement, if only to take some of the deadening sameness out of TV drama of this nature.

SPEAKING OF DIAGNOSIS, I generally take the pulse of the country by listening to its songs. The mood in that department is grim, grim. Every time I turn on the radio, someone is mowing someone else down, and getting sentenced to 99 years. In "Delia's Gone," an old folk song, a lover chops down his inamorata and wishes that he hadn't. He gets 99 years and, as he says, the joke's on the judge because he has a cousin who has been sentenced to 999 years.

You must all have heard "Badman's Blunder" about a guy who was "feeling kind of mean" and who shoots a deputy down. He, too, got 99 years, "and all I did was shoot a deputy down." The airwaves are alive with death, and what with Billy Graham predicting the end of the world and the lovers singing of death, it's been a morbid summer.

The deaths in the song field aren't always homicide. On the way up the best seller list is a young lady—"Dig My Grave and Dig It Deep"—who killed herself over a faithless lover. There's "Tell Laura I Love Her," a tremendously long morbid saga about a guy who killed himself in a stock car race. This one has a sequel, "Tell Tommy I Miss Him," which contains the immortal line: "Why did he do such a reckless thing?"

The most ghoulish song of all is the revival of an old 1890s number called, "Lady in Crepe." It's about a lady out fishing whose "line grew heavy as lead. When up came a creature whose every feature resembled her husband dead." The creature pulled the lady right down to her watery grave with him.

What does it all mean? Jack Gold, who publishes some of these songs, has an interesting theory: "Do you remember in 'Tom Sawyer' when Tom and Huck went to their own funeral? They had all the fun of dying without dying. It's a childish feeling—'You'll be sorry when I'm gone.' Everyone gets stabbed, but nobody bleeds."

Ann Landers

Has Clammy Hands

Dear Ann Landers:

I AM 16 and have a terrible problem—clammy hands. When I am out with a fellow my palms are always moist with perspiration. I try to wear gloves but during the summer it's not convenient.

ANN LANDERS

When I'm in a movie with a fellow and he wants to hold hands I am very embarrassed. Can you suggest a solution?

DAMPENED SPIRITS.

Dear Damp: The more you think about your clammy hands the clammier they will be. Moist palms are usually a manifestation of nervousness.

Keep several handkerchiefs in your purse and carry one when you feel ill at ease. If a fellow wants to hold your hand, don't be concerned. His hands are probably clammier than yours.

Dear Ann.

MY FATHER owns a large business which was started by my grandfather. I entered the firm when I graduated from college last year. I like the business and could do well at it, but my old man drives me nuts. He's an aggressive, high-powered guy and thinks I ought to be just like him.

I've thought of just walking out but it would be foolish. There's a beautiful living here, and I'm sole heir. I feel that the older employees resent me because my dad is pushing me too fast.

I'm engaged to a lovely girl who is urging me to leave. She says it's not worth it. She has great confidence in my ability and says I can be a success any place. What's your advice?

THIRD GENERATION.

Dear Third: If you like the business stay in it—but separate from your father for the time being.

Go to another city and get a job in the same type of business. You'll learn things your dad could not teach you, and you will bring to the new job much that you learned at papa's knee.

After a few years of experience away from your father, re-evaluate the home situation. By then your dad should have more confidence in you and—even more important—you'll have more confidence in yourself.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

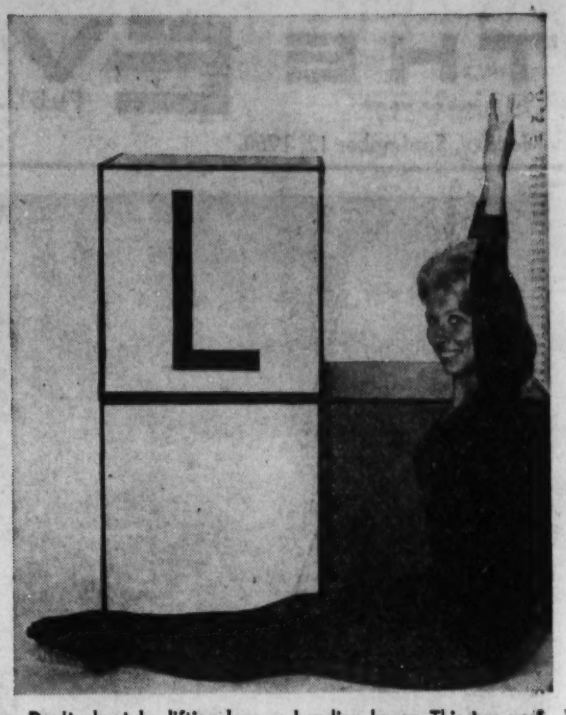
Keep Figure Letter Perfect



By Reba and Bonnie Churchill

1. IT'S GREAT TO FEEL ALIVE and vital! So, stop putting off that pin-up rating and start pushing off the pounds. In answer to your hundreds of inquiries for exercises and diet aid, here are some suggestions (also see P.S.). As Cindy Robbins illustrates, making alphabet shapes is great for shaping the figure. Sit on floor, hands balanced at sides, and slowly raise legs in a "V" position. For added pull on waist and thighs, gradually return limbs to floor. Do five times.

2. HERE'S AN 'X-CELLENT" suggestion for the upper torso, especially the chest and shoulders. Sit on floor with arms and legs crossed, then fling arms in a wide eagle-spread until they reach shoulder height. Cindy, seen on CBS-TV's "The Tom Ewell Show," inhales as she expands arms, exhales as she returns to position. Try figure fling eight times.

3. ANOTHER WAY to "block" bulges is to "L-evate" arms overhead, stretching torso and finger tips toward the ceiling. Then, bend forward trying to touch head to limbs. Don't cheat by lifting legs or bending knees. This two-part workout streamlines as you stretch. Try seven times to start.

P.S. IN ANSWER to your many requests, we're repeating the magic Hollywood diet which melts off four pounds in four days, the star measurement chart (compare your figure measurements) and easy-do exercises. This reprint of the famous Terry Hunt diet plus the above beauty bonuses are yours by sending 10c and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Youth Parade," in care of Post-Dispatch, P.O. Retirement Retreat in Log Cabin

By Robert Peterson

MOST MEN harbor a primitive longing to wrest a home from the wilderness. Not many of us get around to satisfying this yen but increasing numbers of folks past 40 are discovering the fun of erecting a rustic retirement retreat.

"About ten years ago it occurred to my wife and me to build a log cabin for our retirement," says Raymond F. Feller, 70, a retired banker in Medina, N.Y. "We owned a piece of forest not far from town so we began spending weekends clearing a site.

"I didn't feel up to chopping down the trees and cutting the logs myself. So I inquired around and heard about a firm that sells do-it-yourself log cabins. We looked over the different types of cabins available, picked one we liked, and ordered a freight car full of pre-cut, numbered, white cedar logs—ready to put together like a huge toy.

"Then we hired a couple of handymen to help and in a few weeks had put together a two-bedroom log cabin."

He went on to say that the raw materials for the house cost around $6000 delivered to his door, but that extras were involved in building the foundation and in heating, wiring, and plumbing.

ROBERT PETERSON

"It was one of the most satisfying accomplishments of my life," continued Feller. "At first my wife and I thought we'd just use the cabin on weekends. But it was so cozy and appealing, and we got such personal pride from the fact that we'd had a big hand in putting it up, that we sold our home in town and moved to the cabin. We've lived there for eight years now.

"Log cabins may sound backwoodsy but they make wonderful homes," continued Feller who with his wife spends winters from December through April in Florida. "The exterior weathers and looks more rustic every year. Once every three years we spray it with an oil-varnish concoction and that's all the treating it needs. The logs come with the inner surface planed down smooth so that we have a flat-wall surface in the house with a beautiful, paneled effect.

I asked how he spends his time. "I haven't been bored five minutes since I retired. I read a lot—Dickens, Lincoln, and Civil War history. And we've got nine grandchildren within drop-in distance. We're grateful for every minute we spend just contemplating the peace which comes from quiet, relaxed living in a snug cabin surrounded by evergreens and close to nature itself."

Those interested in tapping the joys of maturity should pamper that hankering to build a rural retreat far from the chrome and clatter of contemporary life. Such a hideaway may prove richly satisfying and a sound investment for years to come.

If you would like a free booklet "Preparing Finances for Retirement" write to this column in care the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead — eight of spades.

ONE IMPORTANT PART of the game is to keep a cool head when you run into unexpectedly bad luck. The mark of a good player is that he can often overcome adversity when he encounters, and does not let a turn of fortune swerve him from his course.

Look at this hand played by Boris Schapiro (South) in the match between Great Britain and Italy in the European championships of 1958. He was partnered with Terence Rees against the redoubtable Italian pair of Belladonna and Avarelli.

The two club bid by Belladonna was in conformance with the Italian method of responding with the shortest suit to a take-out double.

West led a spade against four hearts. Schapiro won in dummy and played a diamond. Avarelli went up with the ace and returned the queen of spades, on which declarer discarded a club.

The deuce of hearts lead then revealed the bad trump division. Apparently, Schapiro was doomed to go down since there were two trumps and a club to be lost in addition to the diamond.

But Schapiro, unperturbed, proceeded to make the contract. After taking the ace of hearts, he cashed the K-Q of diamonds. Had he ruffed a diamond at this point, Schapiro would have been beaten because Belladonna would have discarded the king of clubs.

Instead, Schapiro led a club to the ace, ruffed a spade, and then played a diamond. Belladonna, now down to a spade and the Q-9-8-6 of hearts, saw that it was futile either to discard a spade or trump with the queen. He therefore ruffed with the six, overruffed with the jack.

But the endplay caught up with him nevertheless. Dummy led a club and Avarelli won with the ten as Belladonna discarded his last spade.

The next club lead was trumped by Schapiro with the seven. Belladonna overtrumped, but then had to lead from the Q-9 into declarer's K-10.

Son's Sad Words: 'Do I Have to Go?'

THERE IS A WONDROUS QUALITY for me in September and October days, a combination of summer's remembered warmth and fall's promised coolness and an ancient misery cured. I greet each of these days with the same fervent line: "Praise be, I don't have to spend it in school."

JACK RICE

I can do the same for an early-summer morning, or at dawn on a clean fresh snow in winter, or on a spring day when nature is just starting to wake up and brag about herself. I can greet any day with pleasure at the thought I don't have to spend it in a schoolroom. Other men tell me they outgrew the feeling. Some say they outgrew it the first week they worked in an office.

These men outgrew me, that's obvious, for they've laid aside old grudges against the first day of school. For the past 15 years or so I have been able to tolerate the first day of school only because it gives me a vastly superior feeling, diluted only slightly by a feeling of sympathy, when I drive to the office and see that certain sign of fall, the first school bus prowling the road to catch the first school child.

The children line up, waiting to be caught. They look clean and pressed, and trapped. None tries to escape and their disciplined resignation to their fate impresses me. I believe children now are braver than I was. I went to school before the children's busses replaced children's legs as transportation but I do not believe I could have stood and waited to be gobbled up by a school bus. I would have broken and run for it.

I broke and ran the first day of school scheduled in my life. The school was a private kindergarten run by a kindly woman. The town did not have a kindergarten of its own, either because the school system was too poor for it, or too smart. Whatever the official reason was, the kindly woman ran a private kindergarten so the town's children could enter first grade and fight as friends, not strangers.

The kindergarten was three blocks from our house, one block up and two down, a simple route any 5-year-old orangutan with a thirst for knowledge could travel in five minutes. I think it took me a week to get there. If I couldn't find the kindergarten for a marble game, I lost the route in somebody's porch swing. Finally I found it with tears in my eyes and a promise of more where that came from if I didn't locate the kindergarten and keep right on locating it at 9 o'clock sharp.

Thereafter on opening days I lost the first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades, two years of junior high school and four years of high school. Some years I could mislay the school for a day or two, sometimes for a week, depending upon how good a summer I'd had thinking up a new technique.

When I reached college age I was told I was a man and on my own. The effect was inspiring. I mislaid St. Louis University so many days I'm still not certain whether the dean's office is in the administration building, wherever that is, or in a pool hall at Grand and Olive. By that time I wasn't playing hooky, of course. I was told I was cutting classes and that sounded more like it. Nothing in this world deserves to be cut dead as an 8 o'clock class does.

The other day I was sitting under a tree, alone, near our house. A small boy came up to me. He has a habit of putting his hand on my knee and asking questions. On his unlucky days I have an answer for him. Other days, he answers his own questions after a polite wait and I like his answers better than mine.

He said, "Do I have to, this year?"

Somewhere I heard a voice roaring, "Certainly, you do. When the bell rings I want you there, boy, bright-eyed and bushy-tailed."

I'd like to know where that voice came from. I never thought I'd talk that way to my own son, about going to school.

Marilyn's Problem

HOLLYWOOD.

THEIR INTIMATES believe that Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller will make an announcement after, if not before, completion of "The Misfits," starring Marilyn from an original screenplay by her husband. The exhaustion that sent Marilyn to the hospital was aggravated by her personal problems.

Joan Crawford arrives in Hollywood Sept. 12 to plan her wardrobe for "Return to Peyton Place." Joan plays Roberta Carter, who tries to murder daughter-in-law Carol Lynley who murders Joan instead, to the great distress of Dean Stockwell who really didn't want to marry her at all. . . . Diane Varsi, by the way, has been living with her grandfather in Carmel and soothing the time away, painting.

It will be all Noel Coward music hits for the background of Cary Grant's "Grass Is Greener," starting off with "The Stately Homes of England." Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger are trying to work out a plan of custody for daughter Tracy, "that will be the least upsetting for her." Most parents who divorce seem to forget this important point.

Statuesque Julie Newmar is unhappy in Hollywood, she says, because her heart is in New York. She will be returning there this week after completing her role with James Mason in the movie version of "The Marriage-Go-Round." Before she can act, Julie has "to agitate her essence"—Method style. Don't ask me what it is, but it seems to work.

During Arlene Francis's recent visit to Hollywood, she flew back to New York every week end to appear as panelist on the "What's My Line" TV show. It was a strenuous schedule, and Arlene's Hollywood pals wondered why she didn't take a leave of absence. "I could have," she told them, "but they pay me well, and they've been very good to me." Some of our rather ungrateful, rather unpunctual stars should take note.

Mrs. Nixon, at Home and in the Public Eye

She Likes to Be With Daughters, Has Made Good Impression on Trips With Husband, Writer Says

VICE PRESIDENT and Mrs. RICHARD NIXON with their daughters PATRICIA, at top, and JULIE. Picture was taken when the two girls arrived in Chicago before their father's nomination as Republican presidential candidate.

MRS. NIXON and EMPEROR HAILE SELASSIE of Ethiopia as they entered a state banquet in Addis Ababa. This was during a Nixon good-will tour of Africa in 1957.

The Nixons cut a cake to celebrate their twentieth wedding anniversary during their visit to St. Louis in June.

This is the second of two articles on Mrs. Richard Nixon by Gordon Langley Hall, author of books and articles on international celebrities.

By Gordon Langley Hall

"EARLY TO BED; early to rise." This is one of Patricia Nixon's mottoes and she carries it out to the letter. Up every morning at 7:15, she is always dressed and properly groomed for the day before going down to have breakfast with her daughters who, in common with most other young girls all over America, like to see Mother looking her best—and are quick to tell her if she isn't.

Pat enjoys breakfast with the girls and whenever possible in her crowded schedule is on hand when they come home from school in the afternoon. She would hate to break these intimate family interludes even should she become First Lady and go to live at the White House.

She stays on to finish breakfast with her husband and always sees him off at the door for his office. Favorite time of the week—and, due to all the extra work in connection with Richard Nixon's role as Republican standard-bearer in the forthcoming presidential election, such occasions are getting harder to fit in—is the evening when Pat cooks supper in her special kitchenette on the top floor of their home. Then her husband, a great sports fan, can really relax and watch a football game on TV or play a symphony on his beloved (and quite old) record player.

On Sundays, Tricia and Julie regularly attend church with their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Nixon are still members of East Whittier Friends Church in California, although they now attend the Metropolitan Methodist Church, Wesley Heights, in the capital.

Like their mother, the girls have learned to take the hard knocks when they have heard and read criticisms of their father. At such times they try to remember what he once said at a political gathering: "I'm controversial, but here's Pat. Everybody loves her."

Their family rooms have been furnished with taste in Pat's favorite aquatints, with walls to match. Tricia and Julie Nixon were both consulted on materials for draperies and upholstery when the family moved from their much smaller house on Tilden street, Washington. The girls often dress in identical dresses. Checkers, a very determined female cocker spaniel, completes the Nixon household. Checkers is rather fat but can generally beg an extra tid-bit from Tricia or Julie.

In the last few months Tricia, the Nixons' elder daughter, has taken a great interest in personal deportment and in learning to walk correctly. Noticing the way that one of their friends, 13-year-old Donna Lundquist, daughter of Wage and Hour Administrator Clarence Theodore Lundquist walked, Nixon complimented her. Donna explained that she attended modeling school. The Nixons were interested and shortly afterward Tricia and Julie were also taking part in the same 40-hour course. The lessons are aimed at helping the girls through that awkward "in-between" period when they are neither children nor adults. Tricia has put in much time practicing at home in front of a big mirror.

Dick and Pat took time off recently to chaperone a cotillion held at the Wesley Hills Community Club where their girls attended dancing classes. The Nixons, along with all the other parents, were proud of their own children's carriage and appearance.

The girls have thoroughly enjoyed learning the proper way to groom hair and care for their skin. Like their mother, neither of them is inclined to plumpness.

Whatever the future may hold for Tricia and Julie, they are quite prepared to cope with it. Even the continued photograph-taking fails to ruffle them any more. Tricia has already learned at her modeling school just how to pose for the camera. She knows that to get the best photograph she must present her most flattering profile. This is one beauty secret she has already passed on to young Julie.

The Nixon girls are generally on hand to meet important callers at their parents' home. Their favorite guest is J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI.

Pat Nixon has had plenty of experience in meeting the public, both in this country and abroad.

During the times that she has accompanied her husband abroad she has played her part with much success. Throughout the unfortunate stone-throwing riots in Caracas she remained calm and unruffled, whereas many women would have been reduced to a state of sheer hysteria. Again in Venezuela, even though she might secretly have felt terror-stricken, she certainly did not show it. At the airport, although the life of her husband as well as her own seemed in imminent danger, she did not panic. While surrounded by an organized spitting and garbage-throwing mob, Pat boldly held out her hand to grasp that of a teen-ager who had spat on her. The embarrassed youngster started to cry with shame.

In Britain the people loved her as she walked quite at ease beside Prince Philip while her husband accompanied Queen Elizabeth. Although the British often accuse many American women of over-dressing, they found little fault with Pat's well-chosen ensembles. "She dresses with taste and obvious care," wrote one woman columnist. They admired the Vice President's clothes also, noting that his suits "were not too loose-hanging or too Ivy League but just in-between."

In Russia, Pat went all out in her one-woman campaign to make friends with the women she met. They had to admire her great energy. Even a long tour of the Soviet Agricultural and Industrial Exposition which she made wearing pencil-thin high-heeled shoes failed to slow her down.

Her hosts failed to tell her what her schedule would be from day to day but she did not let such omissions of courtesy dampen her enthusiasm.

In Moscow she was allowed to visit the City Hospital for Children, where she spent half an hour going from ward to ward chatting to many of the young patients.

Wearing a specially provided white surgical coat, the pockets of which were bulging with American lollipops, she was given a big welcome in the 22-bed surgical ward. Handing out the candy, she did not forget to leave some for those unfortunate children who for various reasons were not on hand to receive it.

Her trip to the hospital had been arranged at such short notice, following an extremely busy morning spent shopping in a department store and food market that, upon arriving at the hospital, Pat found she had left the precious lollipops at the home of the United States Ambassador. A special messenger was sent to retrieve them.

Told that 160 out of the 176 doctors on the hospital staff were women, the Vice President's wife through interpreters commented: "Congratulations. You are doing such wonderful work." Then she waved at a young baby, who promptly began to cry, much to the amusement of the nursing staff.

Speaking without a trace of nervousness to her hosts she said:

"I feel at home because I worked in an X-ray laboratory to earn my way through college. I visit hospitals and orphanages in all the countries I visit. It's the only way to get to know the people and let them know that you are interested in them."

MRS. NIXON makes friends with a Russian youngster during a visit to a hospital during the Nixons' trip to Moscow in 1959.

In a recent Gallup public opinion poll, Pat Nixon took seventh place in the listing of the World's Most Admired Women. She had come a long way from her student days in California, where from necessity she had been obliged to work her way through college. Nixon himself undoubtedly realizes the important part she will play in capturing votes for him in the current presidential election. In his best batch of campaign photographs her likeness is shown a little in front of his own.

She really believes in her husband and the Republican views that he stands for. At times when Nixon has been the object of severe attacks from his enemies she has stood stalwartly at his side as any other loyal wife would have done. In the beginning she found such criticism hard to take but now she has completely mastered the difficult task of living with it.

The only time she is really hurt is when the privacy of her home and family is invaded. Even Checkers has not been immune to such invasion. Many Americans will remember the night that Pat and Dick Nixon, their young daughters and even Checkers appeared on television as a united family successfully to fight the charges that at one time a number of California business men had contributed $18,000 for Nixon's personal use.

When times are blackest, Pat finds much solace in the unshakeable strength of her religious upbringing just as she did when her parents died and she was forced to go out into the world and fend for herself. Her husband's Quaker faith has given her further moral strength. She has never let the darker days of living in the political spotlight really get her down. It is no secret that after traveling abroad in the service of her country she is always happy to arrive back home.

She is of the opinion that if more ordinary Americans traveled abroad they would appreciate their own land more. "Americans often take too much for granted, their wonderful freedom of worship and speech," she once said upon her return after an absence from her native country.

Important dignitaries from other lands appear to enjoy meeting Pat very much. The British royal family gave her a genuine welcome. Queen Elizabeth has always considered President Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower to be personal friends. This she showed by paying the President the great compliment of walking down to the gates of Balmoral Castle to be the first to greet him when he visited her, although she was expecting a child at the time. Their friends, too, are hers.

The Queen's introduction to the pretty wife of the Vice President made a lasting impression on her. The Queen most admires efficient, hard-working women who can successfully combine the rigors of a busy public existence without neglecting family life in the home. Queen Elizabeth decided that Patricia Nixon, the efficient former schoolteacher, was somebody that she would like to know better.

Even Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev gave Pat a friendly welcome. A woman who had picked vegetables to earn her keep and waited at tables to help pay for her college tuition could hardly, in Mrs. Khrushchev's estimation, be called a "capitalist."

Debut Party Today For Miss Ann DePew

By Fay Profilet

YELLOW FLOWERS predominate in decorations for the debut tea of Miss Ann Elizabeth DePew late this afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Delane DePew Jr., 10 South Price road. The debutante will be introduced to her mother's friends and those of her grandmother, Mrs. Charles D. DePew.

MISS BROKAW
To Serve at Party.

A tall pedestal holding a great bouquet of yellow stock is arranged before the living room windows as a background for Mrs. DePew, her daughter and Mrs. DePew Sr., to receive their guests.

The yellow tone is repeated in tea table decorations which feature a silver and crystal epergne filled with Goldilocks roses. Ivory tapers in silver candelabra will be lighted for the tea hours. The punch table, covered with yellow satin, is set beneath a small canopy on the terrace and other tables, also covered with yellow cloths, are shaded with yellow umbrellas.

Miss DePew will wear a short emerald green chiffon dress, the bodice draped to narrow straps and the full skirt held to a shirred cummerbund. Her bouquet is to be green and white Lady Slipper orchids. Her mother has chosen a cocoa chiffon sheath dress and green cymbidium orchids, while her grandmother is to wear a black silk organza dress over green taffeta and a corsage of small white orchids.

Assisting the hostess will be her sister, Mrs. William T. Moore (Carol Mansfield), Richmond, Va., and her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Edward S. Jones and Mrs. Thomas N. DePew.

The following will serve at the tea table: Miss Harriett Bascom, Miss Elizabeth Rogers, Miss Clare Shepley, Miss Mary Swarts, Miss Josephine Christian, Miss Sally Curby, Miss Sophia Shepley, Miss Elizabeth Brokaw, Miss Janet Beeler, Miss Dorothy Jane Atwood, Miss Sue Hanser, Miss Elizabeth Starkloff, Miss Jacqueline Miller and Miss Harriet Hampton.

Miss DePew, a John Burroughs School graduate, will be a sophomore at Briarcliff College this fall.

Miss Wenthe Presented at Tea

MISS CAROL JANE WENTHE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert William Wenthe, was presented to society Saturday afternoon at a tea at the home of her parents, at 21 Briarcliff, Ladue. This was the first of two debut parties for Miss Wenthe, who, with Miss Nichola Mitchell, Miss Betty Noland and Miss Lucy Smith, will bow at a Dec. 22 dance at Bellerive Country Club. Next month she will return briefly from Randolph-Macon Woman's College to serve as a maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet Ball.

MRS. DAVID H. WENTHE
Assisted at Tea.

Guests were received by Mrs. Wenthe, the debutante, and her college roommate, Miss Rebecca Chriswell Humbert of Stewartsville, N.J., in the dining room. A rhododendron tree, studded with pompons in autumn shades, and podocarpus trees provided a background. Miss Wenthe chose for her party a lavender organza gown with white iris embroidered in a widely spaced design. The dress, worn over taffeta, was designed with a square neckline, cap sleeves and a full skirt. The debutante carried white roses combined with a spray of pink cymbidium orchids. Miss Humbert wore a dusty pink organza gown fashioned with a collar, short sleeves and full skirt. She carried white roses. Mrs. Wenthe's slate blue chantilly lace gown was simply fashioned with a scalloped neckline and hem. Her flowers were lavender orchids.

The tea table in the living room was centered with an epergne, holding Fuji chrysanthemums and roses in fall tones, flanked with silver candelabra. Punchbowls were arranged in the library and outdoors where umbrella tables stood on the lawn.

Assisting at the tea table were Miss Dorothy Jane Atwood, Miss Janet Beeler, Miss Susan Forney, Miss Marian Foster, Mrs. Walter Hanses, Miss Louise Latzer, Miss Molly Macon, Miss Marianne McDonald, Miss Nichola Mitchell, Miss Sheila Morrin, Miss Betty Noland, Miss Lucie Palmer, Miss Karen Petersen, Miss Carla Pommer, Miss Roxie Pool, Miss Virginia Reynolds, Miss Anne Scherck, Miss Amy Upthegrove, Miss Cynthia Wattenberg and Miss Signe Whitelaw.

Friends of Mrs. Wenthe who assisted were Mrs. Robert E. Abbott, Mrs. Samuel J. Bland, Mrs. Howard Elliott, Mrs. Ernest Kretschmar, Mrs. Nelson Lawnin, Mrs. Charles Nagmer, Mrs. Virgil Rohan, Mrs. Harold Simon, Mrs. Joseph Trigg, Mrs. James Wengert, and Mrs. David H. Wenthe of Peoria, Ill., the debutante's sister-in-law.

Kerckhoff Twins Make Bow

THE ONLY TWINS on the debutante list, Miss Karon Lee and Miss Sharon Ann Kerckhoff, were introduced to society Saturday night at a reception given by their mother, Mrs. Louis S. Goltermann, and Mr. Goltermann at their home, 15 Brentmoor, Clayton.

Pink and red roses were arranged throughout the house and the girls' dresses, identically designed, were pink peau de soie. Fashioned with simple bodices held by tiny straps, the dresses had gored skirts. The twins held baskets filled with pink roses. Mrs. Goltermann's sheath gown, in a plum shade, was printed with large pink roses and featured a peplum and side drapery.

The buffet table was arranged in the dining room and centered with pink and red roses while under a green and white striped marquee small tables, covered in pink, held hurricane globes and pink and red carnations.

Strolling musicians entertained the guests early in the evening; a Dixieland band played later and from 9:30 o'clock Dick Renna's Orchestra provided music for dancing.

Here for the party was a classmate of the twins at Duchesne Residence School, Miss Kitty Morse of South Bend, Ind.

MRS. NEWELL J. LAW was hostess last week at a luncheon at the Women's Exchange. Guests of honor were Miss Nancy Neilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford Neilson, 6249 Pershing avenue, and Miss Jacqueline Lee Miller, daughter of H. Lawrence Miller, 27 Pointer lane, Ladue. Miss Neilson is a Wellesley College student; Miss Miller attends Wheaton College, Norton, Mass.

NOTE: The Associated Newspapers, originator of this puzzle, have mailed the correct answers directly to the Mercantile Trust Company, St. Louis, where they will be kept sealed in the vault until after 9 a.m. Thursday. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch did not prepare this puzzle and does not have the answers in advance. The Official Rules of the contest are as follows:

1. Solve this puzzle as you would work any crossword puzzle, printing in the blank spaces the missing letters to form the word which you believe BEST fits the definition.
2. Fill in your name and complete address on the entry form, and print the first letter of your last name in the square indicated. Then cut along the dotted lines and paste the complete entry on a 3-cent postcard. Address the postcard to CASH-CROSSWORDS, Box 648, Central Station, St. Louis 88, Missouri.
3. All entries for Puzzle No. 1 must be received not later than 9 A.M., Thursday, September 15. Entries may be mailed or may be delivered in person to the Cash-Crosswords box in the Post-Dispatch lobby, 12th and OLIVE Streets.
4. $5,000.00 in cash will be paid for the correct solution to Puzzle No. 1. If more than one contestant submits the correct solution, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the cash award for Puzzle No. 2 will be $6,000.00.
5. Only correctness of solution will count, not decorations. There is only ONE answer that, in the judges' opinion, is the BEST word to fit the definition of each clue. Decisions of the judges are final, and all contestants agree to accept those decisions as a condition of entry.
6. There is no limit to the number of entries a contestant may submit, except that no more than five facsimile copies of each puzzle will be accepted from any contestant. All facsimilies must be accurately hand-drawn directly on the backs of 3-cent postcards. No carbon copies or reproductions made by mechanical processes will be accepted. It is not necessary to buy the Post-Dispatch to compete in this contest.
7. Any resident of Missouri, Arkansas or Illinois (excluding Cook County) may enter the contest except (1) employes of The Pulitzer Publishing Company, its advertising agency and members of their households; (2) any person who has won $1,000 or more in any previous newspaper contest. No more than one prize will be awarded to the residents of any one household.
8. Names of winners, if any, and the correct solution to Puzzle No. 1 will be published in the Post-Dispatch Sunday, September 18. A new puzzle will appear on Sunday and Monday, September 18 and 19.
9. Each contestant who submits the correct solution to a Cash-Crosswords Puzzle agrees to certify (1) that the answers were not obtained from any source outside of the contestant's household, and (2) that the contestant has not acted for or in collaboration with any person who is not eligible to compete in this contest.
10. The Post-Dispatch is not responsible for entries that are lost, that arrive too late, that are incorrectly filled out or illegible. It also reserves the right to correct typographical errors and to discontinue the contest at its discretion.
11. A $100.00 BONUS WILL BE PAID FOR THE CORRECT SOLUTION IF IT IS SUBMITTED ON A POSTCARD AND NOT INCLOSED IN AN ENVELOPE. If there is more than one winner, the $100.00 bonus will be equally divided.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Dad Supporting a Shiftless Son

Dear Martha:

AFTER I MARRIED my husband I discovered that his farm was heavily mortgaged and in addition he was and is heavily in debt. We work hard but have little to show for our efforts. Any income whatsoever is immediately pocketed by him. His farm and everything else are in his name alone. Furthermore, his son, who is now in his late twenties, continues to live with us and has never contributed a cent and very little in the way of help. This young man draws every cent of unemployment compensation possible, meanwhile turning down jobs until the compensation runs out. He drinks, stays out all night and sleeps all day Sunday and upsets the whole household. Shouldn't a man's first duty be to his wife rather than his grown son? I even had to pay my own doctor bills out of a little cash I had saved up before my marriage. Yet he even pays his son's insurance premiums. HELPLESS.

Your husband is doing his son a grave injustice by supporting him and making him irresponsible. This young man should be out earning a living of his own unless he is needed for work on the farm. Tell your husband you mean business. If he can support an overgrown baby of a son, he can surely pay your doctor bills.

Dear Martha Carr:

I HAVE A QUESTION that I'm sure has confronted many other men at one time or another. Why must some women pretend to be what they are not and by so doing cause trouble to boot? To be specific, there is a certain female in our group of friends who through various suggestive remarks and actions definitely gives the impression of desiring the attention and even affection of any man she chooses, whether he is married or not. As a result of her carrying-on some of the husbands in our group have had arguments with their wives due to the fact that they have succumbed to her allure and become over-friendly on occasions. Now to top it off, this young vamp would no more do some of the things she suggests than the man in the moon and therefore a lot of friction is caused by false pretenses. The point I am trying to make is how can men get the idea across to this type of flirt or teaser that we have even less respect for her kind than we have for a common woman?

DISGUSTED.

Sounds like you got too near the fire and got a bit blistered. All you have to do with the type of woman who goes in for the vampire act is laugh squarely in her face. By why blame the woman because the men succumbed to her allure and became "over-friendly"? This is another case where it takes two to tango.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

SHOULD A MAN pay income tax on a business he runs from his home? This man pays income tax on the money he earns working for a big corporation but nothing on the extra money he earns. He says there is no record of this business, so he does not have to pay. I say he should pay tax on this money. Who is right? UNDECIDED.

You are right, but why not try minding your own business. Just be sure you're paying every cent of income tax you owe and not cheating the teeniest little bit.

Send a self-addressed stamped envelope for Martha's leaflets: "Clubs for Young Adults," "Clubs for the 30-50 Years" and "Clubs for Senior Citizens."

Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

Correcting Thyroid

Dr. Molner:

I HAVE BEEN TOLD by my doctor that I have thyroid trouble. What causes it? Will it turn to cancer? I have a lump swollen up by my tonsils. What can be done for it besides surgery?—L.M.E.

The thyroid, located in the neck, is a mighty useful gland. It affects the whole body. It's a sort of regulating gland, controlling to a large extent the metabolism of the body, the rate at which we turn our food into energy.

Now what kind of trouble do you have? Is the thyroid gland too active, or not active enough? If it isn't active enough, sometimes the doctor can give you pills which contain thyroid substance to help the gland in its work. Or if the thyroid gland is too active, steps may have to be taken to slow it down. In a good many cases, this means surgery. The surgeon removes part of the gland. The remaining part is sufficient for your needs without providing too much activity.

Let's put it this way: If you had a furnace and you opened the draft, the fire would get hotter; if you closed the draft, the fire would slow down.

That's the sort of job the thyroid gland performs. It's a sort of automatic check for the draft. If the thyroid gets a little out of whack, it has to be corrected, either by medicine or by surgery.

All by itself, a defect in the thyroid gland doesn't turn to cancer. In some cases, it is true, cancer my start in the gland.

I hope that this gives you a fair notion of what thyroid troube may be. When the thyroid is too active, or isn't active enough, different treatments are required. You can't say that any one problem causes thyroid trouble. But after tests and observation show what the troubles are there are ways of correcting the great majority of them.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Dispatch for a copy of the leaflet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," inclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5c in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great number received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Ideal Living – Q. & A.

Q.—WE HAVE JUST DECORATED our dining room but the window treatment is a problem. The house is Eighteenth Century Cape Cod and furnishings are Early American maple. We have white paper with gold medallions, white trim, oak floors and a tweed rug in aqua and white. Should I use white ruffled tie-back curtains, or colored curtains at the three windows? Two of the windows are separated by a 20-inch space. Should I treat them as one with one pair of curtains?

A.—I think that the white curtains would be a better choice here. They will have a fresher and more authentic look. Use color instead on accessories and on cushions for chair seats. Treating each window separately would be the better effect; otherwise you will have a bare look with the 20-inch space between.

Recalling 'Live-Forever Days'

By Adele Starbird

ADELE STARBIRD

MRS. THOMAS R. BEVERIDGE of Rolla, Mo., wrote to me in response to my description of a perfect day that she had had many such days, and that she and her little daughter call them "live-forever days." Their term is more descriptive than mine—I called mine azure days—because on a live-forever day you do feel as if you were already in eternity, with this earth a part of heaven.

Such days must be a common experience, for many people wrote to me that they knew what I meant. And I have found in an old notebook some lines I had copied from a poem by W. H. Auden:

Oh, but it happens every day
To someone. Suddenly the way
Leads straight into their native lands.
The temenos' small wicket stands
Wide open, shining at the center
The well of life, and they may enter.

Mrs. Beveridge agrees with me that these live-forever days might look very mundane to an observer. "The last one I experienced was when my cleaning woman was scrubbing and waxing floors and I was out in the front yard on my hands and knees scrubbing every rug in the house. But when we were through every color in the rugs was so much richer than before and I had such a good feeling of accomplishment, and all the time the lovely air had been playing around me, affording the most wonderful sense of well-being."

I recalled a vacation I spent at Pendle Hill, outside of Philadelphia, a Quaker community where the guests do all the work. One after noon I was alone in the kitchen washing blueberries for the evening meal. There was a soothing monotony in the task, and I realized that I had perhaps never been more content than at that moment.

Some people would maintain that a live-forever day is merely the result of a good digestion, and others would insist that it comes from a heart at peace. It is quite possible that both are contributing causes, for there is a constant interaction between body and spirit. It is a mistake, I think, to try to separate the physical from the spiritual, the secular from the religious, for they were meant to form a living whole.

On such a day, as Auden says, the gate of the temenos stands open for you. (The temenos was a sacred inclosure.) You are back in your native land, no longer an exile or a stranger. You can say as they used to sing in Jerusalem, "This is the day that the Lord has made. Let us rejoice and be glad in it."

Frosting for Rolls

If you want to frost a batch of cinnamon rolls that have been baked in a 9-inch pan, you'll find ¾ cup sifted confectioners sugar (moistened with a little milk) is just the amount to use to spread over the top of the rolls.

Cleaning Clay Tile

The best method of cleaning clay or ceramic tile is a detergent and warm water. If the tile is very badly soiled it may require two applications of the cleaner to remove all the dirt and grime. Never use steel wool, acid or similar strong cleaners on tile.

Sandpaper Tip

Before using medium and fine grades of sandpaper, rub two sheets of sandpaper together face to face. This will remove any high points in the paper that might otherwise leave scratches in the wood.

NEW RCA Whirlpool MARK XII WASHER

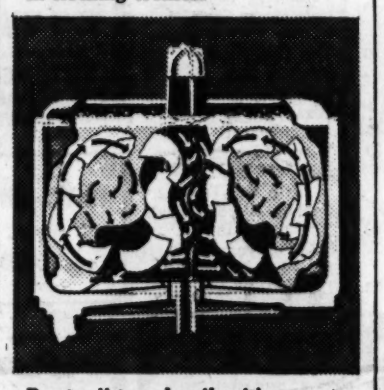
IS THIS WASHER DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHER WASHERS?

Because only the all-new RCA WHIRLPOOL has all these features to wash your clothes clean...with far less work for you!

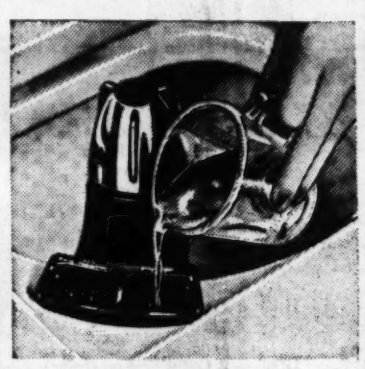
One touch . . . it sets itself to suit your wash!
Simply select correct cycle to fit your wash from fabric guide on control panel, push the corresponding button and start the washer. Automatically the RCA WHIRLPOOL sets the correct washing time and speed, proper wash and rinse temperature, and safe spin speed and time.

Automatically filters out lint and blends in detergent!
In an RCA WHIRLPOOL, wash and rinse water are constantly circulated through the exclusive Magic-Mix† dispenser filter where hundreds of Nylon "fingers" capture and hold objectionable lint and fuzz. And, this filter dispenses and blends in soap or detergent to avoid gummy, undissolved deposits in clothing creases.

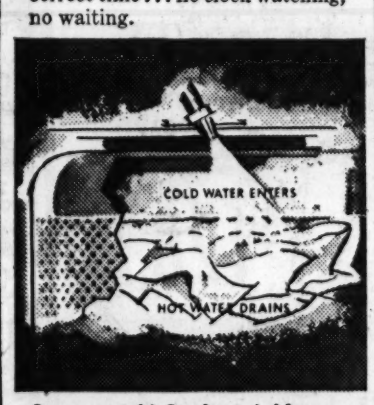


Routs dirt and soil with "million-current" water action!
No soil can "hide" from the powerful, surging washing action of the patented Surgilator† agitator. "Millions" of swishing currents are created throughout the tub . . . top to bottom, side to side . . . flexing clothes gently as sudsy water penetrates every fiber . . . even stubborn soil is loosened and removed.

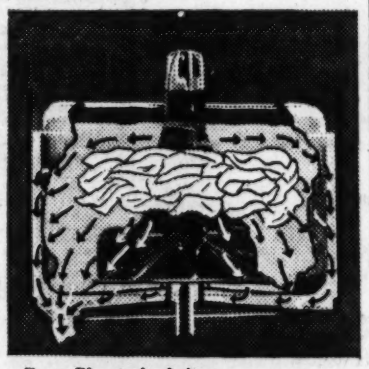
2-speed action ends tedious hand washing of delicates!
Now, sheers and delicates can be safely washed automatically. Special delicate fabric cycles have a slower wash and spin speed that treat clothes with "hand gentleness". Then, there's a faster wash and spin speed for the regular fabrics.



Stores and adds bleach and rinse conditioner!
Simply pour liquid bleach and rinse conditioner into dispenser when you start the wash. Then, each will be added automatically and evenly blended into the water at the correct time . . . no clock watching, no waiting.



Saves work! Cools wrinkles out of wash 'n wears!
Original "set" of fibers in wash 'n wears can be restored only if they are cooled before damp-dry spin. An RCA WHIRLPOOL does this automatically with "suspension cooling". As wash water is drained intermittently, it is replaced with cold water. Thus, clothes cool while in suspension to restore wrinkle resistance.



Free-Flow draining assures cleaner clothes!
Free-Flow† draining is another exclusive to help wash clothes really clean in an RCA WHIRLPOOL. Scum and soil in wash and rinse water are drained away from the clothes, not through them.

Very "stingy" with soap or detergent and hot water!
After the first load is washed, the Suds-Miser® built-in suds return system pumps hot sudsy water into storage tub. At the touch of a button, the filtered sudsy water is returned to the washer, ready for the next load. It saves money every washday.

PLUS . . . many other worthwhile features such as most-thorough rinsing action; automatic pre-wash soaking cycle; 10-lb. capacity; and small-load water saver.

South American Llama

By Ramon Coffman

Indians in Argentina using bolos to pursue llamas.

AMONG THE NATIVE animals of South America, the most important is the llama (LAH-muh). It was domesticated before the Spaniards settled in the New World.

The Inca Indians used llamas as beasts of burden during ancient times. The exact time the animals were tamed is unknown, but the event is believed to have taken place more than 2000 years ago.

Llamas belong to the camel family, but they are much smaller than camels of the Old World, and never have humps on their backs. The usual height of a llama is three and a half feet at the shoulders.

Llamas are sure-footed, and were of special value to the Incas in carrying packs along trails and roads in the Andes Mountains. To this day they carry packs in several countries of South America, especially in Peru, Chile and Bolivia. A small llama will carry a load of 65 or 75 pounds. A large one may transport from 150 to 200 pounds for a distance of 15 miles in one day.

The Incas turned the hair, or wool, of llamas into cloth. The flesh was eaten, but somewhat rarely. The hides were turned into coverings for the feet.

From time to time, the Incas offered a male llama as a sacrifice. Only white llamas were offered to the sun-god. A llama with a mixed coat (often brown and white) was sacrificed for the god of thunder.

Some llamas still run wild. These are of the vicuna and guanaco types. Sometimes (especially in Argentina) they are brought down by gauchos who use bolas.
